Twenty-Four Twisters Touch Down In Seven States; Three Killed

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A total of 24 tornadoes touched down in seven states Friday and early today, killing three persons, injuring more than 80 and leaving parts of several towns in scattered rubble.

The U.S. Weather Service reported that severe thunderstorms and tornadoes moved through the mid and lower Mississippi Valley on Friday and shifted into Alabama and Mississippi early today.

Tornadoes were reported in Illinois, Alabama, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Florida and Mississippi.

Two of the dead were in Oklahoma and the third in Missouri.

A tornado slammed into the mobile home of Jack Deck near the southwest Missouri town of Sarcosie about 5 p.m. Friday. The body of Deck, in his late 70s, was found in the wreckage. His wife, Kitty, was critically injured.

In Spiro, Okla., National Guardsmen and local authorities patrolled the community of 2,500 after a tornado dipped down and killed two persons, injured about 50 others and knocked out electrical power.

The tornado first hit Tallihina, Okla., where five persons were seriously injured and at least 10 homes were destroyed.

Bill Golden, a county Civil Defense director, said his workers would survey the damage in Spiro today and work to restore power to the town.

"There's just a line of rubble down through there now," he said. "We don't know how many homes have been destroyed

You can get used to 70 degree weather in a hurry. After two days of temperatures in the 70s, it hurt when snow showed up amidst the rain in at least some portions of southwestern Michigan at mid-morning today. The mercury touched a high of 72 degrees in Benton Harbor Friday, then did a long slide overnight to the freezing point of 32 this morning. The weather forecast calls for readings in the 20s tonight, followed by temperatures in the 50s Sunday.

exactly — there's no way of telling ... He estimated as many as 30 residences were completely destroyed.

The force of the tornado was such that a train passing through Spiro was derailed and 40 cars were off the tracks. The path of destruction was 1½ blocks wide and up to three miles long.

The dead were identified as Marvin Trout, 30, of Spiro and Ray Dean Phillips, about 35, of Mooreland, Okla.

Another tornado dipped down in parts of Arkansas on Friday night, injuring six persons and demolishing several buildings. Four persons were injured at Centerville in Yell County by a twister that destroyed 10 houses and damaged nine others, State Police said.

The tornado also destroyed four houses, two churches and several barns in surrounding areas, according to State Police. Power lines also were down many parts of the state.

In Alabama, tornadoes and heavy thunderstorms skipped around the state Friday night and early today, causing some minor damage in the Birmingham area.

The Weather Service reported three tornadoes touched ground but there were no reported injuries.

Damage occurred in scattered areas of Birmingham. Trees and utility lines were downed and windows blown from a building on the city's southside, and a service station was unroofed in the eastern section of town.

Self-Described Black Panther Guilty Of Niles Gun Robbery

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A Chicagoan who is allegedly a member of the Black Panthers was convicted Friday in Berrien Circuit court of armed robbery in connection with a December holdup at a Niles township gun shop.

Jurors in Judge Julian E. Hughes' court deliberated about 2½ hours before returning a guilty verdict against Blair James Anderson, 24, of Chicago. Hughes remanded him to the county jail without bond privilege to await sentencing of up to life in prison.

Anderson was charged with robbing James Kehrer of about $13,000 worth of shotguns, rifles, and handguns and about $1,000 cash with a sawed-off shotgun Dec. 4. Kehrer is the owner of Kehrer Gun Shop, at 3405 North Fifth street, Niles township.

Anderson's defense counsel, Atty. James Jesse, of Buchanan, told a reporter for this newspaper that Anderson had told him he (Anderson) is a member of the Black Panther Party and is a plaintiff in a civil suit against former Illinois State Atty. Edward Hanrahan. The suit was filed by survivors of a 1969 raid on Panther headquarters in Chicago by state's attorney's police who allegedly were searching for a cache of weapons. The suit seeks $27 million damages and alleges two Panthers were intentionally shot and murdered by law enforcement authorities.

Two co-defendants in the Niles township case, Ackley King, Jr., 22, of Niles, and James Flint, 21, of Chicago, are currently awaiting trial in Berrien Circuit court on armed robbery charges.

Taken during the hold-up of the gun shop were about 22 rifles and shotguns and some 80 handguns. Police reported no one was injured in the robbery, but three men took about 25 minutes to haul the weapons from the store to a waiting car. The defense during the four-day trial maintained Anderson was not one of the men who committed the robbery, but Berrien Assistant Prosecutor Jeff Long contended Anderson was a member of the trial.

Senate Panel Plans Probe Of Teamsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has decided to investigate the Teamsters union and its alleged connections with organized crime, according to Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., who urged a comprehensive probe "to delve into many troubling and unanswered questions." The investigation would be the first close congressional look at Teamsters affairs since the McClellan hearings which pitted union boss Jimmy Hoffa against Robert Kennedy, a Senate counsel, in the 1950s. The decision to conduct the investigation comes on the heels of a series of stories by NBC News in which the network reported a meeting between underworld figures and Hoffa's successor, Teamsters president Frank Fitzsimmons, allegedly to discuss several kickback schemes. The network also reported Friday night that federal law enforcement officials have seemed reluctant to pursue investigations involving Teamsters officials in recent years.

FARMERS' WEEK HONOR: David Friday, left, Hartford grower and inventor and manufacturer of specialized fruit production machines, receives Michigan State university's 1976 Distinguished Service Award. Friday was one of three persons recognized during Farmers' Week on MSU campus this week for outstanding contributions to Michigan's agriculture. Dr. J.A. Hofer, acting dean of the college of agriculture and natural resources, makes the presentation. Other recipients were Herbert W. Corey, Stephenson, and Milton J. Brown, Mt. Pleasant.

Berrien ADC Fathers Jailed

Three fathers, including one who has made only one child support payment since 1968, were sentenced to jail Friday by Berrien Circuit Judge Julian E. Hughes for arrears totaling more than $5,000. Edward Pastrick, special investigator with the Berrien friend of the court's office, reported each father was held in contempt of court and placed on two years probation. They were:

Homer Paten, of Kalamazoo, who was sentenced to 90 days in jail for $3,288 arrears for one child on ADC. He was ordered to pay $10 weekly child support plus $10 each week on the arrears. Pastrick said Paten has made one support payment since September, 1968. Cornelius Lewis, of 468 Cherry street, Benton Harbor, was also sentenced to 90 days in jail for $1,102 arrears for one child on ADC. He was told to pay $7.50 weekly support and $5 each week towards the arrearage. Pastrick said Lewis has not made a payment since the order was entered in April, 1973. Avis Fee Jr., of Union street, Benton township, got 30 days in jail for $750 arrears for two children on ADC, and was ordered to sign a wage assignment of $10 weekly support and $10 weekly on the arrears. Fee has not made a support payment since the order was entered in June, 1975, according to Pastrick.

State Appeals Order That Blocks Primary

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state asked the Michigan Court of Appeals on Friday to overturn a circuit court restraining order blocking the May 18 Michigan presidential primary.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley filed the appeal of Wednesday's order by Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Ray Hotchkiss.

An official at the Court of Appeals said the case would be presented to the judges on Tuesday. The attorney general's office may attempt to get the hearing date moved up, however.

Hotchkiss directed local clerks to stop preparing ballots and spending public money for the primary. He indicated his final decision to lift the order or impose a permanent injunction would depend largely on whether the legislature agrees to fund the election.

The court suit was filed by local officials who argued the state cannot order them to hold an election and then refuse to pay for it.

A bill to reimburse local units, as the state did in 1972, is before the House, but Gov. William Milliken says he still opposes full state reimbursement.

Kelley announced his appeal of the restraining order Friday, saying "immediate action by the appeals court is needed if the election machinery is to be ready in time for Michigan's presidential primary. Election officials must print up the ballots and prepare the voting machines for the election, and a minimum of six weeks is required for this process."

"Our view is that if it's not decided 42 days before, there will be no primary," said Asst. Atty. Gen. Stanley Steinborn.

Kelley asked the appeals court for leave to appeal, since there was no automatic right to appeal at this time. He also asked for immediate consideration, a stay of the restraining order, and the takeover of the whole case by the appeals court.

Hotchkiss said Wednesday he would decide within five days whether to issue an injunction or lift the restraining order. However, the time period depended upon both sides filing all their briefs.

Asst. Atty. Gen. John Pirich said Friday his office would probably not file any more briefs in circuit court. That might extend Hotchkiss' restraining order indefinitely.

Were it left to me to decide, whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

The Over-Regulators Are Stifling Freedom

Recently this newspaper published a series of articles on "the regulators." The articles represented an in-depth study by a special team of Associated Press investigative reporters. The activities of state and federal agencies with supervisory power over business and the professions were scrutinized at close range.

The purpose of the agencies, in all cases, was to protect some individual member or segment of the public. Consumer rights, civil rights, health care, safety, children — all these and myriads more subjects are supervised by agencies. This is supposed to keep bad things from happening.

The interesting thing is that a really serious question is rising whether the agencies, on balance, do more harm than good.

A paper-choked bureaucracy is making virtually every service or product harder and slower for the American public to come by.

Can a nation remain free which imposes upon itself a continually expanding system of regulation? The time will come when the regulators, unless stopped, will command greater authority over the citizens than any elected official.

That time may be close at hand; in the view of Edgar B. Speer, chairman of U.S. Steel, the nation's largest steel producer. In a Detroit address, Speer said the rise of regulatory agencies, commissions and bureaus has created a fourth branch of government with potentially more power than the executive, legislative or judicial.

If the private sector of this nation is to survive, the industrialist said, "an answer must be found to this fourth branch of government that is imposing controls of one sort or another on every citizen and every element of the economy."

Acknowledging that the public needs protection from hazards over which it has little or no control, Speer added, "but what is happening in America is something that is foreign to the American way of life: A government presuming to know what is best for its people, at the expense of the people's freedom to make their own decisions."

That is how dictatorships are formed, when a few men at the head of central authority decide they are the ultimate arbiters of what is good for the people. When was the last time any of the thousands of regulations, rules and other freedom-stifling actions of the regulators was put to a popular vote?

Far too long ago!

The Times Contributed To Patty's Problems

Only time will tell whether the Patricia Hearst bank robbery trial will be recorded as one of the sensational trials of this age, as it has been called. In one sense it was unique, but not for the reason that the defendant was a member of a famous family.

Patty Hearst in many respects was a product of the turbulent 1960s. Coming of age in a period in which many of her peers were demonstrating by violent actions as well as contempt an unrest rarely seen before, the picture of the defendant which emerged from her trial was one of a teenager who was apolitical but nonetheless rebellious against authority.

She was, as one of the testifying psychiatrists said, ripe for picking by the SLA. Chances are, if Miss Hearst had not been picked as a kidnap victim by the SLA, her life would not have turned in the bizarre directions it did.

If that assumption is correct, any number of the other teenagers who also were caught up in the turbulence of the age might also have reacted in much the same manner the San Francisco jury decided Patty Hearst did — had they been the specific targets of a band of terrorist revolutionaries.

That point alone was not sufficient grounds for the jury to rule in the defendant's favor, but it could be a strong point in mitigating the circumstances in which she was involved when the judge determines her penalty.

The Ghost Of Benito May Be Watching

Italy's current chaotic conditions, both economic and political, are serious enough. But they are nothing compared with what the future will bring if the ruling Christian Democrats succumb to heavy pressure to bring the communists into their government.

That is what the communists have been asking as their price for helping make the government's austerity program work. And work it must if ruinous inflation, a precipitous drop in the valuation of the lira, labor unrest and other serious economic problems are to be reduced and, finally, solved.

It is something of an anomaly that Italy's unprecedented growth in economic terms in the last three decades, while under rule of the more moderate factions, should have been accompanied by a steady growth at the local level of the communists. Now that Italy is suffering from its share of international unease, the communists are poised to claim their prize.

Rome may surrender to the bait. If it does, the United States has warned it will have no recourse but to review its relations with any coalition government which includes the far left. That may not be the greatest problem for the Italian people, however.

Once the political pendulum begins swinging in wider arcs, Italy could be heading back toward a period it emerged from a generation ago.

WE ALL OFTEN TRY BACK SEAT DRIVING

If you've ever held the wheel with a back seat driver behind you, you know what I mean. They'll let you sit in the driver's seat, but then they'll do all the thinking for you... and tell you how to drive! That isn't much fun.

Back seat driving isn't only done in cars. Sometimes you may find it at work, when the boss gives you a job to do, and then stands so close that he can tell you every move to make. Poor you!

Actually most of us want to do some back seat driving, one way or another, and quite a few of us do. We tell our kids to clean their rooms, and can't wait to tell them what to put where and which junk to throw out. Or to cook a meal, and tell them to pre-heat the oven and remind them to salt the food.

And how many of us elect a city, state or federal official to represent us, only to subject him to a steady bombardment of instructions and orders (for, after all, he IS our "hired hand") and threaten to replace him at the next election — or even to recall him.

That can't be much fun for him, and we wouldn't like it either, if we were in his shoes.

Me thinks, however, that there is a difference between the screeches of a backseat driver and the calm suggestions from a fellow passenger. And between the nagging and the helpful parent. And the constituent who threatens and screams at his representative, and the one who offers a viewpoint for consideration.

How will we treat the ones we will choose this year in school, local, and national elections? Will we ignore them, during their term in office? Will we try to order them around? Or will we offer them the best of our thoughts at frequent intervals, so they have a chance to carry out the job we selected them for?

For our Country's sake and our own, I hope we choose the latter.

SAYS SCHOOLS VICTIMS OF PERMISSIVE ERA

Cynicism and disillusionment, which have engulfed many institutions in American life, have not appreciably altered the public's faith in their public schools. The vast majority of the Americans still hold our educational system in high esteem despite the turmoil of the last two decades. It would be foolhardy, however, to assume that this trust will not change or that the educational system is without articulate and powerful critics.

For five of the last six years, the number-one criticism of the public school according to Charles F. Kettering Foundation has been their lack of discipline. The discipline that most people have in mind is a matter of obeying rules, respecting the authority of teachers and school administrators, and being considerate of fellow students who wish to learn in a peaceful atmosphere. The other kind of discipline is mental discipline—acquiring the knowledge and skills needed in today's world even though such learning is often difficult and boring.

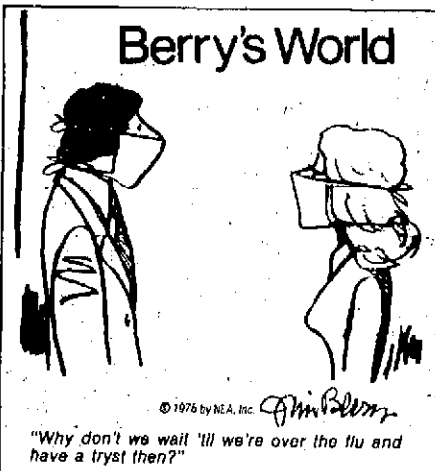

It would be unfair to deal with the problem of discipline without first pointing out that schools are victims of an era when lack of respect for rules and authority is universal. The permissive era was not ushered in by the schools, but by the public. Remember in the late '60's when it was fashionable for some adults to say of youths, "Let them do their thing — find their own identity?"

Most children today have never been taught why society has to have rules, why these rules should be obeyed, and why those in authority should have their views respected. However, regardless of whose fault it is, schools are suffering and will continue to suffer unless corrective measures are taken.

TEACH COURSE

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — John Eisenhower, retired Army colonel and son of the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will be visiting professor of political science at the University of Florida.

Roy Cromley Election Reform Easily Evaded

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — As was widely proclaimed, the election reform law of 1974 was intended to prevent special interest groups and major donors from having undue influence.

The reformers had a point. In the 1974 congressional elections, half the funds raised were given by special interest groups, individual donors in the $500 and up class and by the candidates themselves out of their own pockets.

The reform law, however, is already a bust — even before the first Senate and House races under the new pure rules have gotten into stride.

Under the 1974 law, no industrial, labor, agricultural, medical, conservative, liberal or other special interest political committee can give more than $5,000 to any one candidate.

All very well. Except that in the relatively short time since the reform law went into effect, more than 242 special political donor groups have been set up according to Common Cause.

To evade the $5,000 limit, special interest companies, unions and associations, not content with organizing dozens of new political organizations, have in essence split existing groups, so that every sub organization, made artificially independent on paper, could give up to $5,000 to each candidate of its choice.

As Common Cause notes, in the four months from August to December 1975, the Communications Workers of America registered 12 new committees. In the last three months of 1975, Dow Chemical Company set up seven. The American Dental Association established nine, the Machinists four.

Because labor unions already had groups in every state and in most major cities, business concerns with a special interest in what Congress votes have been moving rapidly to catch up. Approximately three-fourths of the new political organizations are sponsored by business concerns, directly or indirectly. Common Cause calculations indicate that 107 corporations and 22 banks have set up new political committees, more than doubling the number they had before the 1974 elections. Savings and loan groups have set up five, oil companies eight, aerospace firms four, steel companies eight, dental association seven, labor unions 38 to 39 depending on definition.

New committees were set up by pharmaceutical, real estate, utility, insurance, machinery, railroad, credit union, retail, glass, mail order, agriculture, dairy interests and others too numerous to list.

Thus, though congressional races are hardly off the starting blocks, the data to date suggest that, clean election law or no, more money will be given Senate and House candidates this year by special interest groups than ever before in history.

Even more disconcerting, however, are loopholes in the law which give certain organizations with large and widespread memberships special advantages of great value. The Over-Regulators Are Stifling Freedom

Recently this newspaper published a series of articles on "the regulators." The articles represented an in-depth study by a special team of Associated Press investigative reporters. The activities of state and federal agencies with supervisory power over business and the professions were scrutinized at close range.

The purpose of the agencies, in all cases, was to protect some individual member or segment of the public. Consumer rights, civil rights, health care, safety, children — all these and myriads more subjects are supervised by agencies. This is supposed to keep bad things from happening.

The interesting thing is that a really serious question is rising whether the agencies, on balance, do more harm than good.

A paper-choked bureaucracy is making virtually every service or product harder and slower for the American public to come by.

Can a nation remain free which imposes upon itself a continually expanding system of regulation? The time will come when the regulators, unless stopped, will command greater authority over the citizens than any elected officeholder.

That time may be close at hand; in the view of Edgar B. Speer, chairman of U.S. Steel, the nation's largest steel producer. In a Detroit address, Speer said the rise of regulatory agencies, commissions and bureaus has created a fourth branch of government with potentially more power than the executive, legislative or judicial.

If the private sector of this nation is to survive, the industrialist said, "an answer must be found to this fourth branch of government that is imposing controls of one sort or another on every citizen and every element of the economy."

Acknowledging that the public needs protection from hazards over which it has little or no control, Speer added, "but what is happening in America is something that is foreign to the American way of life: A government presuming to know what is best for its people, at the expense of the people's freedom to make their own decisions."

That is how dictatorships are formed, when a few men at the head of central authority decide they are the ultimate arbiters of what is good for the people. When was the last time any of the thousands of regulations, rules and other freedom-stifling actions of the regulators was put to a popular vote? Far too long ago!

The Times Contributed To Patty's Problems

Only time will tell whether the Patricia Hearst bank robbery trial will be recorded as one of the sensational trials of this age, as it has been called. In one sense it was unique, but not for the reason that the defendant was a member of a famous family.

Patty Hearst in many respects was a product of the turbulent 1960s. Coming of age in a period in which many of her peers were demonstrating by violent actions as well as contempt an unrest rarely seen before, the picture of the defendant which emerged from her trial was one of a teenager who was apolitical but nonetheless rebellious against authority.

She was, as one of the testifying psychiatrists said, ripe for picking by the SLA. Chances are, if Miss Hearst had not been picked as a kidnap victim by the SLA, her life would not have turned in the bizarre directions it did.

If that assumption is correct, any number of the other teenagers who also were caught up in the turbulence of the age might also have reacted in much the same manner the San Francisco jury decided Patty Hearst did — had they been the specific targets of a band of terrorist revolutionaries.

That point alone was not sufficient grounds for the jury to rule in the defendant's favor, but it could be a strong point in mitigating the circumstances in which she was involved when the judge determines her penalty.

The Ghost Of Benito May Be Watching

Italy's current chaotic conditions, both economic and political, are serious enough. But they are nothing compared with what the future will bring if the ruling Christian Democrats succumb to heavy pressure to bring the communists into their government.

That is what the communists have been asking as their price for helping make the government's austerity program work. And work it must if ruinous inflation, a precipitous drop in the valuation of the lira, labor unrest and other serious economic problems are to be reduced and, finally, solved.

It is something of an anomaly that Italy's unprecedented growth in economic terms in the last three decades, while under rule of the more moderate factions, should have been accompanied by a steady growth at the local level of the communists. Now that Italy is suffering from its share of international unease, the communists are poised to claim their prize.

Rome may surrender to the bait. If it does, the United States has warned it will have no recourse but to review its relations with any coalition government which includes the far left. That may not be the greatest problem for the Italian people, however.

Once the political pendulum begins swinging in wider arcs, Italy could be heading back toward a period it emerged from a generation ago.

Remember Benito Mussolini? Wonder if he's laughing now.

Editor,
If you've ever held the wheel with a back seat driver behind you, you know what I mean. They'll let you sit in the driver's seat, but then they'll do all the thinking for you... and tell you how to drive! That isn't much fun.

Back seat driving isn't only done in cars. Sometimes you may find it at work, when the boss gives you a job to do, and then stands so close that he can tell you every move to make. Poor you!

Actually most of us want to do some back seat driving, one way or another, and quite a few of us do. We tell our kids to clean their rooms, and can't wait to tell them what to put where and which junk to throw out. Or to cook a meal, and tell them to pre-heat the oven and remind them to salt the food.

And how many of us elect a city, state or federal official to represent us, only to subject him to a steady bombardment of instructions and orders (for, after all, he IS our "hired hand") and threaten to replace him at the next election — or even to recall him.

That can't be much fun for him, and we wouldn't like it either, if we were in his shoes.

Me thinks, however, that there is a difference between the screeches of a backseat driver and the calm suggestions from a fellow passenger. And between the nagging and the helpful parent. And the constituent who threatens and screams at his representative, and the one who offers a viewpoint for consideration.

How will we treat the ones we will choose this year in school, local, and national elections? Will we ignore them during their term in office? Will we try to order them around? Or will we offer them the best of our thoughts at frequent intervals, so they have a chance to carry out the job we selected them for?

For our Country's sake and our own, I hope we choose the latter.

SAYS SCHOOLS VICTIMS OF PERMISSIVE ERA

Editor,
Cynicism and disillusionment, which have engulfed many institutions in American life, have not appreciably altered the public's faith in their public schools. The vast majority of the Americans still hold our educational system in high esteem despite the turmoil of the last two decades. It would be foolhardy, however, to assume that this trust will not change or that the educational system is without articulate and powerful critics.

For five of the last six years, the number-one criticism of the public school according to Charles F. Kettering Foundation has been their lack of discipline. The discipline that most people have in mind is a matter of obeying rules, respecting the authority of teachers and school administrators, and being considerate of fellow students who wish to learn in a peaceful atmosphere. The other kind of discipline is mental discipline—acquiring the knowledge and skills needed in today's world even though such learning is often difficult and boring.

It would be unfair to deal with the problem of discipline without first pointing out that schools are victims of an era when lack of respect for rules and authority is universal. The permissive era was not ushered in by the schools, but by the public. Remember in the late '60's when it was fashionable for some adults to say of youths, "Let them do their thing — find their own identity?"

Most children today have never been taught why society has to have rules, why these rules should be obeyed, and why those in authority should have their views respected. However, regardless of whose fault it is, schools are suffering and will continue to suffer unless corrective measures are taken.

Earl Rush, general manager of Benton Harbor's V-M corporation, world's largest manufacturer of automatic record changers and allied electro-mechanical devices, announced today the local Walter Miller industry plans to build a $1,000,000 factory, starting in the near future. Location will be on a 105-acre site at Pipestone and Meadowbrook roads in Benton township.

St. Joseph old timers will look with a tinge of regret upon the razing of the building at the corner of Broad and State streets — the home of the St. Joseph lodge of Elks for the past several years. Progress and the ambition of the Elks to have a new temple in keeping with growing lodge and general improvements locally are the factors which have decreed that this old landmark must go. The present building has stood at the site for more than a half century. It was built in the late '60's by J.L. Stevens, a St. Joseph pioneer and early-day merchant who helped to make town history in those days. Later it became the Park hotel. Still later it was the home of the late E.A. Graham. Then the Elks took it over and now it is to be torn down and on the site is to rise a new temple and business block. Reber's history of St. Joseph, recently published, says that the "proprietors of the Park hotel were the first to exploit mineral baths for Saint Joseph. Very few of the Elks know that their fine clubhouse was once our first mineral bathhouse."

Morrill & Morley company, the owners of the new factory in Benton Harbor which will manufacture tin cans, has now all the orders that it can supply during the coming season. Yesterday they received orders for 2,000,000 cans from different parties and turned down an order for 3,000,000 cans. Their capacity is 8,000,000 for the season and they have booked that number of orders.

Yesterday afternoon the township board of Hagar granted a franchise to the Michigan west shore traction company, the road to run between Benton Harbor and South Haven, to run a spur from Riverside to Pottawatomie park.

Election Reform Easily Evaded

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — As was widely proclaimed, the election reform law of 1974 was intended to prevent special interest groups and major donors from having undue influence.

The reformers had a point. In the 1974 congressional elections, half the funds raised were given by special interest groups, individual donors in the $500 and up class and by the candidates themselves out of their own pockets.

The reform law, however, is already a bust — even before the first Senate and House races under the new pure rules have gotten into stride.

Under the 1974 law, no industrial, labor, agricultural, medical, conservative, liberal or other special interest political committee can give more than $5,000 to any one candidate.

All very well. Except that in the relatively short time since the reform law went into effect, more than 242 special political donor groups have been set up according to Common Cause.

To evade the $5,000 limit, special interest companies, unions and associations, not content with organizing dozens of new political organizations, have in essence split existing groups, so that every sub-organization, made artificially independent on paper, could give up to $5,000 to each candidate of its choice.

As Common Cause notes, in the four months from August to December 1975, the Communications Workers of America registered 12 new committees. In the last three months of 1975, Dow Chemical Company set up seven. The American Dental Association established nine, the Machinists four.

Because labor unions already had groups in every state and in most major cities, business concerns with a special interest in what Congress votes have been moving rapidly to catch up. Approximately three-fourths of the new political organizations are sponsored by business concerns, directly or indirectly. Common Cause calculations indicate that 107 corporations and 22 banks have set up new political committees, more than doubling the number they had before the 1974 elections. Savings and loan groups have set up five, oil companies eight, aerospace firms four, steel companies eight, dental association seven, labor unions 36 to 39 depending on definition.

New committees were set up by pharmaceutical, real estate, utility, insurance, machinery, railroad, credit union, retail, glass, mail order, agriculture, dairy interests and others too numerous to list.

Thus, though congressional races are hardly off the starting blocks, the data to date suggest that, clean election law or no, more money will be given Senate and House candidates this year by special interest groups than ever before in history.

Even more disconcerting, however, are loopholes in the law which give certain organizations with large and widespread memberships special advantages of great value. Organizations, in their literature for members and in their political solicitation of those on their rolls, are in practice exempt from the financial restrictions imposed on political groups generally.

Labor unions far best in this special privilege category. Unions, having large numbers of members in particular states or congressional districts may propagandize their members virtually at will, and "door-to-door" canvass these voters — without this time and these costs being charged either to the candidates of their choice or to the $5,000 limit.

But don't discount the advantage given other special groups with large membership lists — including medical, dental, farm, business and teacher associations.

Right-Turn-On-Red Legal Next Wednesday

POLITICAL ETHICS, OTHER ACTS EFFECTIVE THEN

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Beginning next Wednesday, Michigan motorists will make one of the greatest adjustments ever in their driving habits — turning right against a red light.

The right turn law is one of several statutes to take effect March 31. Another — the state's sweeping political ethics law — won't have as much direct impact, but it might be more significant in the long run.

Those and other laws go into effect Wednesday because they were not given "immediate effect" when passed by the legislature last year. Under the Constitution, such laws take effect 90 days after the legislature adjourns at the end of the calendar year.

Under the right turn law, motorists will be able to make right turns on red lights where signs do not prohibit the move. Such signs will sprout up at about one of every five intersections with a traffic signal, according to the state Department of Highways and Transportation.

"In general, turns will be prohibited at intersections where there is poor visibility for drivers, where there is a high volume of pedestrian traffic — such as around schools — and where the turns might interfere with pre-existing traffic flows," said Bill Savage, head of the electronic systems unit of the highway department.

Left turns also will be permitted onto one-way streets from turning lanes. In both cases, however, drivers must stop and yield to oncoming traffic and any pedestrians crossing the street.

Turning on red won't be required, so there's no point in leaning on your horn behind some cautious driver who chooses to wait for the green.

The new law, common in some western states, was approved in an attempt to ease traffic congestion and reduce consumption of gasoline.

A spokesman for the Automobile Club of Michigan urged drivers to "show a little patience and courtesy" while everybody gets used to the new law.

Also going into effect Wednesday — at least officially — is the state's new political ethics law. The measure is the most sweeping effort ever to alter Michigan politics, but it already has been challenged in court.

Two provisions of the law cannot be enforced until sometime in May under an Ingham County Circuit Court judge's injunction. The sections include financial disclosure by office holders and candidates and registration and disclosure by lobbyists.

The first action under the new law will be the governor's appointment of the new Ethics Commission, which is expected shortly after the law becomes official. But it will take weeks for the commission to gear up to administer the law.

The injunction is intended to delay compliance with those portions of the law until public officials and lobbyists have forms to fill out, an agency to provide guidance and somebody to accept the forms.

The other provisions of the law include restrictions on campaign expenditures and contributions and partial public financing of the gubernatorial race.

The late effective date of the new law, however, is expected to mean there will be little changes in the current election year.

A third law taking effect Wednesday is a "job development authority" measure which authorizes the state to make and guarantee loans for private business to expand or locate in Michigan.

The law authorizes the state to establish an authority to issue up to $200 million in industrial development bonds to provide money for loans. The loans are to be repaid by industries with enough interest to retire the bonds.

The interest rate on the loans should be well below commercial borrowing rates. The intent is to provide jobs, attract industry to Michigan and stimulate the economy, and is the latest step in a series of efforts to upgrade the state's industrial attractiveness.

Also taking effect Wednesday are:

—A law forbidding employers from requiring job applicants or employees to waive their rights not to take a lie detector test as a condition of gaining or holding a job.

—A law requiring motorcycle owners to carry liability insurance.

Inter-City Bank Stock Dividend, Promotion Told

The board of directors of Inter-City bank declared a 10 per cent stock dividend and announced a promotion at a recent board of directors meeting. The board's action follows a shareholders meeting at which the board of directors was re-elected.

Shareholders heard at their annual meeting that average assets were up 4.2 per cent from 1974, from $99,600,000 in 1974 to $103,801,000 in 1975. Average loans increased 6.1 per cent, from $56,600,000 to $60,100,000. Net operating income of the bank rose 10.9 per cent, from $843,942 in 1974 to $935,753 in 1975.

Promoted to director of personnel was Miss Sue Engelhardt. She joined ICB in January, 1975, to manage ICB's personnel department. Miss Engelhardt received a degree in LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Court of Appeals has affirmed the first-degree murder conviction of Richard Embree for killing a young Grand Rapids mother.

Embree, 24, was convicted in the 1973 killing of 23-year-old Dianne Sherwood. Later, Embree was convicted of murdering another young Grand Rapids woman. He was sentenced to serve life terms in both cases.

New Law Hikes Registration Fees For Financing Papers

A new law signed in early March by Gov. William Milliken increasing fees on financing statements for personal property could mean an extra $20,000 per year for the Berrien register of deeds office, according to Register of Deeds Judith L. Hecht.

Mrs. Hecht explained the new law makes certain amendments to the Uniform Commercial Code increasing fees on various kinds of financing statements.

The law is in effect now, but Mrs. Hecht said her office will not begin charging the new fees until April 1. The old fees for financing statements had been $1 for each of about 10 different types of instruments, she said, while the new rates are $2 and $3.

She noted that in 1975, the register of deeds office collected about $28,000 in fees from the financing statements, and expects the fee increase will result in another $20,000 in income for her office. The money is kept by her office or returned to the county general fund, Mrs. Hecht noted, and is not returned to the state.

She added the additional fees will provide extra services which previously had not been provided.

The New Michigan "turn-on-red" Law

Michigan's turn-on-red-light law effective March 31 permits motorists always to turn right but left only onto one-way streets, unless prohibited by signing. Before turning either direction, motorists first must make a complete stop, be sure traffic is clear and yield to pedestrians. The first two drawings demonstrate the proper procedure for right and left-hand turns at red lights. Michigan's turn-on-red-light law does not require motorists to do so unless in a designated turn lane. If stopped behind a non-turning motorist at an intersection as demonstrated in the third drawing, be courteous since horn-blowing only results in confusion. The greatest concentration of pedestrians likely to forget about the new law will be found along school routes and at bus stops. The final drawing shows that motorists must employ extra vigilance at intersections used by school children. Automobile Club of Michigan reminds that pedestrians also must be aware of the new law and remember to look in all directions before stepping from the curb.

Here Are The Fine Points Of Michigan's Turn Law

Michigan's new Right - Turn - on - Red law becomes effective Wednesday, March 31.

To help motorists understand the law, the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation has compiled the following questions and answers on what the law means.

Question: Is it now permissible to make a right turn on red at all traffic lights?

Answer: No. Turns on red lights still will be prohibited at about 15 per cent of the signalized intersections.

Q: Do I have to stop before making a right turn on a red light?

A: Yes. You must come to a complete stop and cannot make the turn until you make sure that you will not interfere with pedestrians or vehicles crossing in front of you. You must yield the right-of-way to both.

Q: Why are such turns prohibited at some intersections?

A: These are intersections where traffic turning on red would pose a potential traffic hazard. Examples are those intersections with restricted sight distance, those next to schools or major school crossings and those with signals having special turning

Q: Are left turns also permitted on red lights?

A: Yes, but only if you are turning onto a one-way street and if such turns are not prohibited, again with the notice given by a sign saying "No Turn on Red."

Q: If I am stopped in a right-hand lane at an intersection do I have to make a turn on a red light when traffic clears?

A: You should only turn when, in your opinion it is safe to do so. If you do not intend to turn right, it is perfectly okay to stop in the right-hand lane if you want to drive through the intersection when the light turns green. The driver behind you who leans on his horn because he wants to turn right is in the wrong.

Q: What is the reason for the new law?

A: It is intended to save on gasoline consumption and implement a smoother traffic flow. In conserving fuel you will of course get to your destination faster, thereby also saving time. Thirty states besides Michigan, as well as the Province Of Ontario, now have right-turn-on-red laws.

Angry Garagemen Aiming Letter Blitz At Legislature

Area auto mechanics will "bombard" Lansing with letters urging the repeal of the state's new auto repair law.

That was the plan of action formulated last night by some 300 auto mechanics from southwestern Michigan meeting at the Knights of Columbus Hall below Goldblatt's at Fairplain plaza.

The auto mechanics also received a promise from area legislators that they will put pressure on their colleagues to repeal the law. Speaking to the auto mechanics were State Sen. Charles Zollar (R-Benton Harbor) and State Reps. Harry Gast (R-St. Joseph) and Ray Mittan (R-Niles). All three legislators voted against passage of the original bill. Sen. Zollar was one of 20 state senators who co-sponsored a bill this week to repeal the auto repair law. A similar bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives. Both bills are now awaiting hearings in committees.

The three legislators urged the auto mechanics to write to committee members considering the repeal bill asking them to pass the bill on to the House and Senate for votes.

The law, which went into effect March 1, requires eventual licensing and registration of auto repair firms and written estimates for repairs expected to cost more than $20.

Edward Carpenter, president of the Automotive Services Council of Michigan, said the law and the additional paperwork it entails will cost each of the 40,000 repair shops in the state at least $5,000 per year and that the total cost of more than $200 million will be passed on to customers.

Carpenter said last night that he based this estimate on the extra man-hours required to provide the law-ordered estimates.

State auto mechanics won a temporary injunction against the new law Monday in Ingham County Circuit Court, pending final action on a suit challenging the law's constitutionality.

The injunction followed a mass protest in Lansing by an estimated 2,000 repair shop owners, including many southwestern Michigan auto shop owners.

BUW's Professional Unit Leader Named

Jeffrey S. Butzbach, CPA, has been named chairman of the Professional division of the 1976 Blossomland United Way campaign, according to Dr. Walter Browne, general campaign chairman. Butzbach praised BUW professionals for their support of the 1975 campaign when contributions reached 117 per cent of the division goal.

A total of $42,012 was pledged by doctors, dentists, hospitals, convalescent homes, clergy, accountants, architects and engineers, veterinarians, and other medical professionals.

In the last campaign, the Professional division posted a 28 per cent increase in total pledges over 1974. Butzbach said there are 350 basic contacts to be made in the division. To reach the some 1,250 individual givers in the unit, Butzbach will be assisted by three section chairmen and nine team captains.

Butzbach worked as a solicitor in the 1971, '72, and '73 campaigns. In 1974, he was elected president of the Easter Seal society for Crippled Children and Adults of Berrien county, a BUW member agency, and serves as treasurer of the state Easter Seal organization. Butzbach holds a bachelor's degree in accounting from Michigan State university. He is a member of the American and Michigan associations of CPAs. He is a resident of Stevensville.

In other campaign activities, Browne reported that recruiting of leadership for the 1976 campaign is virtually completed. Browne said all supporting and soliciting division chairmen have been named, with the exception of one unfilled spot, and the campaign organization is on schedule. Division positions added this year are Orientation and Motivation, In-Plant Rally, and Total Community Involvement.

Browne said the next level of recruitment (section chairman, team captains) has begun, and that total campaign structure should be complete by the end of May. This corresponds with the June board meeting, when the fall campaign goal will be set. Browne reported a new method

POLITICAL ETHICS, OTHER ACTS EFFECTIVE THEN

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Beginning next Wednesday, Michigan motorists will make one of the greatest adjustments ever in their driving habits — turning right against a red light.

The right turn law is one of several statutes to take effect March 31. Another — the state's sweeping political ethics law — won't have as much direct impact, but it might be more significant in the long run.

Those and other laws go into effect Wednesday because they were not given "immediate effect" when passed by the legislature last year. Under the Constitution, such laws take effect 90 days after the legislature adjourns at the end of the calendar year.

Under the right turn law, motorists will be able to make right turns on red lights where signs do not prohibit the move. Such signs will sprout up at about one of every five intersections with a traffic signal, according to the state Department of Highways and Transportation.

"In general, turns will be prohibited at intersections where there is poor visibility for drivers, where there is a high volume of pedestrian traffic — such as around schools — and where the turns might interfere with pre-existing traffic flows," said Bill Savage, head of the electronic systems unit of the highway department.

Left turns also will be permitted onto one-way streets from turning lanes. In both cases, however, drivers must stop and yield to oncoming traffic and any pedestrians crossing the street.

Turning on red won't be required, so there's no point in leaning on your horn behind some cautious driver who chooses to wait for the green.

The new law, common in some western states, was approved in an attempt to ease traffic congestion and reduce consumption of gasoline.

A spokesman for the Automobile Club of Michigan urged drivers to "show a little patience and courtesy" while everybody gets used to the new law.

Also going into effect Wednesday — at least officially — is the state's new political ethics law. The measure is the most sweeping effort ever to alter Michigan politics, but it already has been challenged in court.

Two provisions of the law cannot be enforced until sometime in May under an Ingham County Circuit Court judge's injunction. The sections include financial disclosure by office holders and candidates and registration and disclosure by lobbyists.

The first action under the new law will be the governor's appointment of the new Ethics Commission, which is expected shortly after the law becomes official. But it will take weeks for the commission to gear up to administer the law.

The injunction is intended to delay compliance with those portions of the law until public officials and lobbyists have forms to fill out, an agency to provide guidance and somebody to accept the forms.

The other provisions of the law include restrictions on campaign expenditures and contributions and partial public financing of the gubernatorial race.

The late effective date of the new law, however, is expected to mean there will be little changes in the current election year.

A third law taking effect Wednesday is a "job development authority" measure which authorizes the state to make and guarantee loans for private business to expand or locate in Michigan.

The law authorizes the state to establish an authority to issue up to $200 million in industrial development bonds to provide money for loans. The loans are to be repaid by industries with enough interest to retire the bonds.

The interest rate on the loans should be well below commercial borrowing rates. The intent is to provide jobs, attract industry to Michigan and stimulate the economy, and is the latest step in a series of efforts to upgrade the state's industrial attractiveness.

Also taking effect Wednesday are:

—A law forbidding employers from requiring job applicants or employees to waive their rights not to take a lie detector test as a condition of gaining or holding a job.

—A law requiring motorcycle owners to carry liability insurance.

New Law Hikes Registration Fees For Financing Papers

A new law signed in early March by Gov. William Milliken increasing fees on financing statements for personal property could mean an extra $20,000 per year for the Berrien register of deeds office, according to Register of Deeds Judith L. Hecht.

Mrs. Hecht explained the new law makes certain amendments to the Uniform Commercial Code increasing fees on various kinds of financing statements.

The law is in effect now, but Mrs. Hecht said her office will not begin charging the new fees until April 1. The old fees for financing statements had been $1 for each of about 10 different types of instruments, she said, while the new rates are $2 and $3.

She noted that in 1975, the register of deeds office collected about $28,000 in fees from the financing statements, and expects the fee increase will result in another $20,000 in income for her office. The money is kept by her office or returned to the county general fund, Mrs. Hecht noted, and is not returned to the state.

She added the additional fees will provide extra services which previously had not been provided.

The New Michigan "turn-on-red" Law

Michigan's turn-on-red-light law effective March 31 permits motorists always to turn right but left only onto one-way streets, unless prohibited by signing. Before turning either direction, motorists first must make a complete stop, be sure traffic is clear and yield to pedestrians. The first two drawings demonstrate the proper procedure for right and left-hand turns at red lights. Michigan's turn-on-red-light law does not require motorists to do so unless in a designated turn lane. If stopped behind a non-turning motorist at an intersection as demonstrated in the third drawing, be courteous since horn-blowing only results in confusion. The greatest concentration of pedestrians likely to forget about the new law will be found along school routes and at bus stops. The final drawing shows that motorists must employ extra vigilance at intersections used by school children. Automobile Club of Michigan reminds that pedestrians also must be aware of the new law and remember to look in all directions before stepping from the curb.

Here Are The Fine Points Of Michigan's Turn Law

Michigan's new Right - Turn - on - Red law becomes effective Wednesday, March 31.

To help motorists understand the law, the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation has compiled the following questions and answers on what the law means.

Question: Is it now permissible to make a right turn on red at all traffic lights?

Answer: No. Turns on red lights still will be prohibited at about 15 per cent of the signalized intersections.

Q: Do I have to stop before making a right turn on a red light?

A: Yes. You must come to a complete stop and cannot make the turn until you make sure that you will not interfere with pedestrians or vehicles crossing in front of you. You must yield the right-of-way to them.

Q: Why are such turns prohibited at some intersections?

A: These are intersections where traffic turning on red would pose a potential traffic hazard. Examples are those intersections with restricted sight distance, those next to schools or major school crossings and those with signals having special turning

Q: Are left turns also permitted on red lights?

A: Yes, but only if you are turning onto a one-way street and if such turns are not prohibited, again with the notice given by a sign saying "No Turn on Red."

Q: If I am stopped in a right-hand lane at an intersection do I have to make a turn on a red light when traffic clears?

A: You should only turn when, in your opinion it is safe to do so. If you do not intend to turn right, it is perfectly okay to stop in the right-hand lane if you want to drive through the intersection when the light turns green. The driver behind you who leans on his horn because he wants to turn right is in the wrong.

Q: What is the reason for the new law?

One Great Hour Of Sharing

NEW YORK — Protestant and Orthodox churches throughout the nation will observe the 17th annual One Great Hour of Sharing, an appeal of 31 participating denominations for funds for their overseas programs, on Sunday, March 28.

Occurring each year on the fourth Sunday of Lent, the appeal this year seeks to raise $25 million for the overseas relief, rehabilitation and development aid programs of the churches. Some of the funds also will be allocated for domestic relief in depressed areas such as Appalachia or for disaster response in the United States.

Initiated in 1948, the One Great Hour of Sharing appeal since that time has accounted for approximately $390 million used by the churches worldwide to serve the hungry, homeless, sick and disadvantaged.

Quick to respond to disasters, the churches had representatives in the field soon after the recent catastrophic earthquake in Guatemala. Through their ecumenical relief agency, Church World Service, they have airlifted thousands of blankets and water purification tablets and tons of food and clothing for survivors.

Continuity in the overseas efforts of the churches can be seen in the fact that the Central American church disaster teams they sponsored following the Nicaragua earthquake of late 1972 and the subsequent hurricane in Honduras, are at work in Guatemala today.

In 1975 the churches responded to 33 disasters of varying magnitude, both natural and man-made. Among these emergency situations were a hurricane in Western Samoa; civil war in Angola, for which medical supplies were sent for civilian victims; refugees in need in Laos, Cambodia, Timor and the Middle East; needy families of political detainees in Bolivia and Chile and released political prisoners in need in Rhodesia.

Also famine-threatened areas of India received wheat valued at $1 million. Six thousand tons of wheat have been earmarked for Bangladesh, to be expedited as inland transportation is available.

In the southern Sudan, rehabilitation efforts begun earlier continue, including road building and agricultural projects. Also ongoing is agricultural work in marginal semi-desert regions in Africa known as the Sahel.

Church World Service is a program division of Overseas Ministries of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States. It is the inter-denominational agency through which major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox communions carry on cooperative, world-wide programs of service to the hungry, homeless and disaster-stricken.

List Cast For Play

The cast for the Passover/Easter play, "Between Two Thieves," has been announced by David Abbey, director. The play will be presented Thursday, April 15, through Saturday, April 17, at the Unitarian church, 601 Main street, St. Joseph.

The supporting cast includes Jeff Fleishman, Mary Fuller, Kate Fuller, Valerie Myers, Sean Taylor, John Perez, and an unknown member of the audience. Abbey says the play is a re-telling of Jesus of Nazareth, done in modern terminology and dress.

There were originally 450 tickets available for the three performances, but only 254 are still available, according to Robert Nodula, production manager. Tickets are $2.50 for reserved seats and $2 for general admission. A special rate of $1.50 is available for groups of 15 or more.

Proceeds from the Thursday night performance will be donated to the Y-Uncle program of the YMCA, Benton Harbor, according to Abbey, who is also vice president of the Y-Uncles, and president of the Unitarian Fellowship of Berrien County, sponsor of the play.

Those wishing ticket information may contact the church between 7 and 9 p.m., Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, or between 2 and 5 p.m. Saturdays or Sunday, or Abbey or Nodula.

One Great Hour Of Sharing

NEW YORK — Protestant and Orthodox churches throughout the nation will observe the 17th annual One Great Hour of Sharing, an appeal of 31 participating denominations for funds for their overseas programs, on Sunday, March 28.

Occurring each year on the fourth Sunday of Lent, the appeal this year seeks to raise $25 million for the overseas relief, rehabilitation and development aid programs of the churches. Some of the funds also will be allocated for domestic relief in depressed areas such as Appalachia or for disaster response in the United States.

Initiated in 1949, the One Great Hour of Sharing appeal since that time has accounted for approximately $350 million used by the churches worldwide to serve the hungry, homeless, sick and disadvantaged.

Quick to respond to disasters, the churches had representative in the field soon after the recent catastrophic earthquake in Guatemala. Through their ecumenical relief agency, Church World Service, they have airlifted thousands of blankets and water purification tablets and tons of food and clothing, for survivors.

Continuity in the overseas efforts of the churches can be seen in the fact that the Central American church disaster teams they sponsored following the Nicaragua earthquake of late 1972 and the subsequent hurricane in Honduras, are at work in Guatemala today.

In 1975 the churches responded to 33 disasters of varying magnitude, both natural and man-made. Among these emergency situations were a hurricane in Western Samoa; civil war in Angola, for which medical supplies were sent for civilian victims; refugees in need in Laos, Cambodia, Timor and the Middle East; needy families of political detainees in Bolivia and Chile and released political prisoners in need in Rhodesia.

Also famine-threatened areas of India received wheat valued at $1 million. Six thousand tons of wheat have been earmarked for Bangladesh, to be expedited as inland transportation is available.

In the southern Sudan, rehabilitation efforts begun earlier continue, including road building and agricultural projects. Also ongoing is agricultural work in marginal semi-desert regions in Africa known as the Sahel.

Church World Service is a program division of Overseas Ministries of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States. It is the inter-denominational agency through which major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox communions carry on cooperative, world-wide programs of service to the hungry, homeless and disaster-stricken.

"Natural Family Planning" was introduced to the Kalamazoo Diocese at a meeting held Dec. 12, 1974, at St. Bernard parish.

Interest in starting Natural Family Planning in the Kalamazoo Diocese developed from a workshop on Natural Family Planning held at St. John college, Collegeville, Minn., in July of 1974, which was attended by Mrs. William Housel of St. Joseph parish, St. Joseph.

Because of the interest of the three local Catholic pastors at that time, the Rev. Fr. Cletus Rose of St. Joseph parish, St. Joseph, the Rev. Fr. Leroy White of St. John parish, Benton Harbor, and the Rev. Fr. Eugene Sears, St. Bernard parish, Benton Harbor, and with the sanction and encouragement of the most Rev. Paul V. Donovan, Bishop of the Diocese of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Housel planned the December meeting to which all priests of the diocese were invited.

As a result of this initial meeting, a pilot program on Natural Family Planning was held in 1975 at St. Bernard parish, one meeting each month during February, March, April and May, to evoke interest in and develop "teaching couples" for the program.

Subsequently, the Natural Family Planning program became part of the total Diocesan apostolate to the family, and was incorporated into the office of Marriage and Family Ministry under Fr. Crenner's direction.

Fr. Crenner holds a bachelor of arts in education degree from the University of Dayton, a bachelor of arts in theology degree from the University of Fribourg, Fribourg, Switzerland, a master of arts in religious education degree from Fordham university, a master of arts in pastoral theology degree from St. Paul university, Ottawa, a master of theology in pastoral theology degree from Ottawa university, and a doctorate degree in pastoral

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

No. 232. Jerusalem Is Warned

Through the prophet Isaiah, the Lord warned the people of Jerusalem to turn from their sinful ways. After comparing the people with those of Sodom and Gomorrah, the Lord indicated that their burnt offerings, their fasting, and even their most pious religious ceremonies were nothing more than farces because they felt no sorrow for their sins.

The Lord offered the people great encouragement to change their ways: "Come now, and let us reason together, though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land." (Isaiah 1:18-19)

Yet, the Lord sternly reminded the people that swift retribution would follow if they chose not to become loyal, obedient servants of His will. "But if ye refuse and rebel, ye shall be devoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it." (Isaiah 1:20)

Tri-Parish Lecture Wednesday

The Rev. Fr. William A. Crenner, SM, will be the speaker for the seventh lecture in the "Liberty and Justice" lecture series sponsored by the Fr. Crenner, who is director of Marriage and Family Ministry for the Diocese of Kalamazoo, will speak on "Natural Family Planning — The What and the Why" Wednesday, April 7, at St. Bernard Catholic parish, Benton Harbor. The 7:30 p.m. meeting is open to the public.

"Natural Family Planning" was introduced to the Kalamazoo Diocese at a meeting held Dec. 12, 1974, at St. Bernard parish.

Interest in starting Natural Family Planning in the Kalamazoo Diocese developed from a workshop on Natural Family Planning held at St. John college, Collegeville, Minn., in July of 1974, which was attended by Mrs. William Housel of St. Joseph parish, St. Joseph.

Because of the interest of the three local Catholic pastors at that time, the Rev. Fr. Cletus Rose of St. Joseph parish, St. Joseph, the Rev. Fr. Leroy White of St. John parish, Benton Harbor, and the Rev. Fr. Eugene Sears, St. Bernard parish, Benton Harbor, and with the sanction and encouragement of the most Rev. Paul V. Donovan, Bishop of the Diocese of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Housel planned the December meeting to which all priests of the diocese were invited.

As a result of this initial meeting, a pilot program on Natural Family Planning was held in 1975 at St. Bernard parish, one meeting each month during February, March, April and May, to evoke interest in and develop "teaching couples" for the program.

Subsequently, the Natural Family Planning program became part of the total Diocesan apostolate to the family, and was incorporated into the office of Marriage and Family Ministry under Fr. Crenner's direction.

Fr. Crenner holds a bachelor of arts in education degree from the University of Dayton, a bachelor of arts in theology degree from the University of Fribourg, Fribourg, Switzerland, a master of arts in religious education degree from Fordham university, a master of arts in pastoral theology degree from St. Paul university, Ottawa, a master of theology in pastoral theology degree from Ottawa university, and a doctorate degree in pastoral theology from St. Paul university.

He has served as director of the Marianist Retreat House, Dayton, Ohio; as part-time counselor to military personnel and families, Canadian Military Forces; counselor, Roayl Canadian Air Cadets; organized and conducted seminar on counseling for Catholic and Protestant Chaplains of Canadian Military Forces of Ottawa area; and founded Bergamo — John XXIII Center for Christian Renewal, Dayton, Ohio.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Here's Tips For Your Safety

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Here are some life-saving suggestions from WhistleSTOP, a community service to protect citizens against mugging, rape, burglary and murder. We now have thousands of members in the Hyde Park-Kenwood Community in Chicago, and now the Edgewater Community Council has joined us. For information on how to get a chapter going in your city, write to WhistleSTOP, 5609 N. Broadway, Chicago, Illinois 60640.

STREET SAFETY: When walking at night, stay in the center of the sidewalk, or walk in the street. Avoid parked cars and alleys. Listen for footsteps.

Glance around often. While traveling on public transportation sit close to the driver or conductor. Do not have both arms laden with bundles. You have no way to defend yourself. Avoid displaying costly jewelry or a billfold. Keep your WhistleSTOP whistle handy so you can reach it in seconds and BLOW HARD if you are in trouble.

CAUTION IN YOUR CAR: Never hitch-hike. Statistics show that many girls were never seen again after hitch-hiking. Do not offer to pick up strangers. Highway trouble is often a trick to trap the unsuspecting. If you see trouble, go to the nearest phone and report it to the police or highway patrol. Do not stop. Always lock your car while driving or parked. Keep windows rolled up so no one can reach you. Check the back seat before getting into your car. Keep your whistle handy.

HOME SAFETY: Never open the door for an unidentified person. All repair and professional people are required to carry identification. If you don't have a peep-hole in your door, get one installed. It's worth the money. Never leave your home or apartment unlocked even for a few minutes. It takes only one second for someone to enter.

Ring people into your building only after they have identified themselves. Train your children to do the same. Remember, a double bolt on a door gives you twice as much protection.

When entering your building, have your key in your hand. Don't stand outside searching in your purse or pockets. Never allow anyone to follow you into the building. If someone does follow you inside, walk back to the street and allow them to enter first. Keep your whistle handy and use it if you have any suspicion that someone is hanging around.

ELEVATORS AND LAUNDRY ROOMS: If your building has a basement and you are waiting at the street level, do NOT get in an elevator that is going down. Wait for it to come back up. — empty. Muggers and rapists often lurk in basements. Do not ride an elevator with a lone man. If one gets on after you, push the button for the very next floor and get off. Never go to the laundry room alone. Go with a neighbor or another member of your family. Have your whistle handy and blow it like crazy if you run into trouble.

No Change

Dear Ann Landers: As a person whose parents came from Dublin, I was surprised to see your definition of Luce Curtin Irish. They always applied that term to women who were lousy housekeepers and had cobwebs at their windows. Instead of real curtains. Let it like it is, Ann. — No Blamey

Dear N.B.: Thanks for writing, but I'm not looking for a donnybrook with my Irish readers. I like MY definition better.

Invite Artists

SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven Art League will sponsor an indoor art exhibition Saturday and Sunday, May 15 and 16, at Episcopal Epiphany church, South Haven.

Entry blanks are available from Mrs. James Downing, 801 Green Street, South Haven, or at the South Haven Memorial Library.

Applications are to be returned before Monday, April 19. The event is open to all artists 18 years of age and older. No more than three original works of art may be entered. Media may include paintings, drawings, graphics, sculpture, wheel-thrown or hand-built ceramics, wood carvings or other three dimensional designs.

Use Soap As Putty

You don't have to have putty on hand to fill in the nail holes in that wall before you paint. Just rub a cake of wet soap over the holes until they are filled. Let dry, then paint the wall for excellent results.

Pacemakers that regulate the heartbeat have been in use for the past two decades. These electronic devices implanted beneath the skin have made great contributions to the good health and longevity of many people who might otherwise be incapacitated.

One of the problems is that battery-operated pacemakers have had to be replaced at intervals of two to five years. This becomes a burden, expense, time-consuming and a source of emotional distress.

At the Pennsylvania State University, a team of researchers under the direction of Dr. G. Frank O. Tyers has developed a new type of rechargeable battery. He, in conjunction with electronic engineers, developed a procedure for recharging the batteries by holding a small electrical coil over the pacemaker already implanted in the body.

It is believed that this rechargeable device may have a functional capacity of more than 20 years. This would be an enormous contribution to those people who must rely on their pacemakers for sustained good health.

Experimental evidence is coming to light that calcium plaques may be removed from blood vessels, thus reducing the frequency and severity of coronary artery disease. Dr. Robert W. Wissler, director of The Specialized Center of Research in Atherosclerosis at the University of Chicago, has been able "for the first time to reverse advanced atherosclerotic plaques using a drug, cholestyramine."

The drug, in conjunction with low-fat diets, has produced significant changes in the arteries of monkeys.

This early research is being carefully evaluated. It holds great promise for use in humans. It holds greater promise, too, than new horizons will be opened by these early and visionary studies.

Morphine is still one of the great drugs for the control of pain. Unfortunately its addictive qualities have reduced its use.

Now two doctors working at the Aberdeen University in Scotland have created a drug which they name Enkephalin. Dr. John Hughes and Dr. Hans W. FOR SUNDAY
MARCH 28, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't make things more difficult than they need be. Today's frustrations will be mostly of your own doing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be careful if talking with friends today about another who is not present. What's said will be traced back to its source.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Try not to be too self-seeking in pursuing your aims today. It will not sit well with others. Keep your image in mind.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There's a possibility today that you could read more into what others say than is intended. Your feelings could be hurt needlessly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) One who loves you could be rather upset today, if you're overly attentive to someone else, in their presence.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) To placate another today you might agree to something which you'll later regret. Think carefully when striking bargains.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll not have much success today in getting others to perform tasks for you that YOU should be doing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In social situations today just be the real you. Affections or airs will make others feel very uneasy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you're having guests over today, be sure the friends you invite are compatible.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't do things for others today in hopes you may get something in return. They're not likely to reciprocate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You could be a little too loose with your resources today for your own good. Protect what you have.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) If you let yourself become sidetracked too easily, you'll not accomplish what you start out to do today. Be purposeful.

March 28, 1976
Bonds will be further strengthened this coming year with one you're already very fond of. Each party will derive greater benefits from the relationship.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Here's Tips For Your Safety

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Here are some life-saving suggestions from WhistleSTOP, a community service to protect citizens against mugging, rape, burglary and murder. We now have thousands of members in the Hyde Park-Kenwood Community in Chicago, and now the Edgewater Community Council has joined us. For information on how to get a chapter going in your city, write to WhistleSTOP, 5609 N. Broadway, Chicago, Illinois 60660.

STREET SAFETY: When walking at night, stay in the center of the sidewalk, or walk in the street. Avoid parked cars and alleys. Listen for footsteps.

Glance around often. While traveling on public transportation sit close to the driver or conductor. Do not have both arms laden with bundles. You have no way to defend yourself. Avoid displaying costly jewelry or a billfold. Keep your WhistleSTOP whistle handy so you can reach it in seconds and BLOW HARD if you are in trouble.

CAUTION IN YOUR CAR: Never hitch-hike. Statistics show that many girls were never seen again after hitch-hiking. Do not offer to pick up strangers. Highway trouble is often a trick to trap the unsuspecting. If you see trouble, go to the nearest phone and report it to the police or highway patrol. Do not stop. Always lock your car while driving or parked. Keep windows rolled up so no one can reach you. Check the back seat before getting into your car. Keep your whistle handy.

HOME SAFETY: Never open the door for an unidentified person. All repair and professional people are required to carry identification. If you don't have a peep-hole in your door, get one installed. It's worth the money. Never leave your home or apartment unlocked even for a few minutes. It takes only one second for someone to enter.

Ring people into your building only after they have identified themselves. Train your children to do the same. Remember, a double bolt on a door gives you twice as much protection.

When entering your building, have your key in your hand. Don't stand outside searching in your purse or pockets. Never allow anyone to follow you into the building. If someone does follow you inside, walk back to the street and allow them to enter first. Keep your whistle handy and use it if you have any suspicion that someone is hanging around.

ELEVATORS AND LAUNDRY ROOMS: If your building has a basement and you are waiting at the street level, do NOT get in an elevator that is going down. Wait for it to come back up — empty. Muggers and rapists often lurk in basements. Do not ride an elevator with a lone man. If one gets on after you, push the button for the very next floor and get off. Never go to the laundry room alone. Go with a neighbor or another member of your family. Have your whistle handy and blow it like crazy if you run into trouble.

No Change

Dear Ann Landers: As a person whose parents came from Dublin, I was surprised to see your definition of Lace Curtain Irish. They always applied that term to women who were lousy housekeepers and had cobwebs at their windows, instead of real curtains. Tell it like it is, Ann. — No Blarney

Dear N.B.: Thanks for writing, but I'm not looking for a donnybrook with my Irish readers. I like MY definition better.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 50 cents in coin along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Invite Artists

SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven Art League will sponsor an indoor art exhibition Saturday and Sunday, May 15 and 16, at Episcopal Epiphany church, South Haven.

Entry blanks are available from Mrs. James Downing, 801 Green Street, South Haven, or at the South Haven Memorial library.

Applications are to be returned before Monday, April 19. The event is open to all artists 18 years of age and older. No more than three original works of art may be entered. Media may include paintings, drawings, graphics, sculpture, wheel-thrown or hand-built ceramics, wood carvings or other three dimensional designs.

Use Soap As Putty

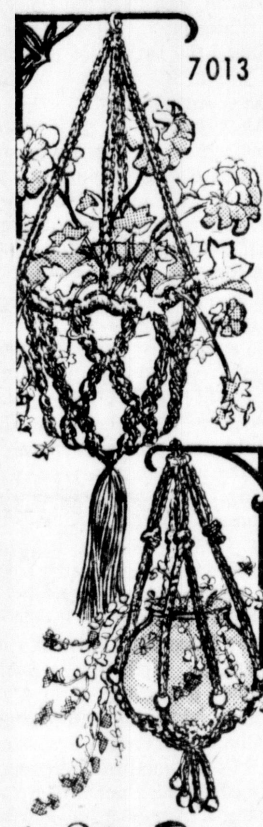

You don't have to have putty on hand to fill in the nail holes in that wall before you paint. Just rub a cake of wet soap over the holes until they are filled. Let dry, then paint the wall for excellent results.

BICENTENNIAL KICK-OFF: "Fabulous Follies of 1976," a variety show planned as the kick-off of the Gobles Bicentennial celebration, will be held April 30 and May 1 at Gobles high school gymnasium. The public is invited. Acts will include men, women and children of the Gobles area. Serving on the variety show committee are, from left, Mrs. Marianne Lee, co-chairman; Leon Price, director, and Mrs. Don (Marilyn) Wedde, chairman. Others include Mrs. Richard (Hazel) Markus, stage manager; Don Wedde, treasurer; Mrs. Sharon Clapp, musical director; Mrs. Timothy (Jackie) Peters, advertising manager; Mrs. Marlin (Sandy) Zantello, make-up director; and Mrs. Jack (Paula) Burchard and Mrs. Jim (Mary) Foster, choreographers. Dr. Lester Coleman

Pacemakers that regulate the heartbeat have been in use for the past two decades. These electronic devices implanted beneath the skin have made great contributions to the good health and longevity of many people who might otherwise be incapacitated.

One of the problems is that battery-operated pacemakers have had to be replaced at intervals of two to five years. This becomes a burden, expense, time-consumer and a source of emotional distress.

At the Pennsylvania State University, a team of researchers under the direction of Dr. G. Frank O. Tyers has developed a new type of rechargeable battery. He, in conjunction with electronic engineers, developed a procedure for recharging the batteries by holding a small electrical coil over the pacemaker already implanted in the body.

It is believed that this rechargeable device may have a functional capacity of more than 20 years. This would be an enormous contribution to those people who must rely on their pacemakers for sustained good health.

Experimental evidence is coming to light that calcium plaques may be removed from blood vessels, thus reducing the frequency and severity of coronary artery disease. Dr. Robert W. Wissler, director of The Specialized Center of Research in Atherosclerosis at the University of Chicago, has been able "for the first time to

The drug, in conjunction with low-fat diets, has produced significant changes in the arteries of monkeys.

This early research is being carefully evaluated. It holds great promise for use in humans. It holds greater promise, too, that new horizons will be opened by these early and visionary studies.

Morphine is still one of the great drugs for the control of pain. Unfortunately its addictive qualities have reduced its use.

Now two doctors working at the Aberdeen University in Scotland have created a drug which they name Enkephalin. Dr. John Hughes and Dr. Hans W. SPRING ANNIVERSARY EVENT!

MICHIGAN SENATE LOAFERS THROUGH DROUGHT OF MAJOR LEGISLATION

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate is becalmed, experiencing a sudden but lengthy drought of major legislation.

Behind it is the furious activity of last year, when crucial tax, political reform and medical malpractice legislation meant lengthy evening sessions. Yet to come is the yearly froth over the budget. In short, nothing much is happening. The result is reflected in the thin Senate journals, which reveal the chamber met for exactly 12 hours in nine session days ending last Monday. During those days, the Senate had sessions of

were an hour and 16 minutes and an hour and 12 minutes — both on Thursdays, the day lawmakers like to clear out of Lansing as early as possible to begin their weekend. While sessions have been shorter than the usual two to three hours, the chamber has not matched its record set early in 1975 of a 15-minute session. Legislative leaders are quick to point out that floor action doesn't reflect all or most of the work going on, and they are right, to a point. It is much like the lawmaker who makes every roll call — it doesn't mean he or she is very effective.

"The criteria is, are the bills getting passed and getting to the governor?" asked Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit. "And I think they are." But what bills? Thus far in March, the Senate has passed only four pieces of major legislation — to ban toxic chemicals called PCBs, to require open meetings by public bodies, to limit parties on the general election ballot and to set up a statewide emergency medical services system.

Senate leaders point out that committees are hard at work. But the significance and number of the measures reaching the floor indicate committees, too, have been relaxed if not moribund. For weeks, the Senate schedule each day has featured a few minor bills up for passage, a few more minor bills up for discussion — and a lot of minor bills delayed for one reason or another. Occasionally a significant measure sneaks through.

The House, meanwhile, began Friday sessions to clean up its calendar, which was swollen with the products of its more numerous and more active committees.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR VFW POST: Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1137, Benton Harbor, is sponsoring a Bicentennial dance Friday, April 2, with proceeds going to help complete this new VFW home under construction off Napier avenue, Benton township. Dance will be at Knights of Columbus hall, beneath Goldblatt's at

Fairplain Plaza. Three bands will provide continuous music starting at 8 p.m. Admission is $3 a person. Al Arnt, chairman of VFW building committee, said post hopes to occupy $125,000 building in June. New post will replace present one at 204 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor. (Staff photo)

Grand Mere Spring Meeting

A photograph and slide contest will be a feature of the spring meeting of the Grand Mere association Monday, April 19, in the Grand Mere room of First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan Lakeshore branch.

All amateur photographers are eligible, but the pictures must be taken in the Grand Mere area of Lincoln township, according to Joe Skwara contest chairman. The entry deadline is Thursday, April 15. Pictures (8 by 10 or larger) and slides should be mailed or delivered to Skwara, 5752 Echo Ridge, Stevensville, 49127. All properly identified and by a self-addressed envelope will be returned, envelope Skwara said.

First prize in the slide contest will be a dinner for two at Tosi's. There also will be a prize of dinner for four at McDonald's for the best slide by a contestant 14 years old or younger.

The spring meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. in the branch bank, 4000 Red Arrow highway between Stevensville and St. Joseph.

The Grand Mere association was founded in 1965 and is dedicated to the preservation of Grand Mere in its natural state. Membership is open to anyone interested in preserving the area.

MICHIGAN SENATE LOAFERS THROUGH DROUGHT OF MAJOR LEGISLATION

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate is becalmed, experiencing a sudden but lengthy drought of major legislation.

Behind it is the furious activity of last year, when crucial tax, political reform and medical malpractice legislation meant lengthy evening sessions. Yet to come is the yearly froth over the budget. In short, nothing much is happening. The result is reflected in the thin Senate journals, which reveal the chamber met for exactly 12 hours in nine session days ending last Monday. During those days, the Senate had sessions of

were an hour and 16 minutes and an hour and 12 minutes — both on Thursdays, the day lawmakers like to clear out of Lansing as early as possible to begin their weekend. While sessions have been shorter than the usual two to three hours, the chamber has not matched its record set early in 1975 of a 15-minute session. Legislative leaders are quick to point out that floor action doesn't reflect all—or most—of the work going on, and they are right, to a point. It is much like the lawmaker who makes every roll call—it doesn't mean he or she is very effective.

"The criteria is, are the bills getting passed and getting to the governor?" asked Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit. "And I think they are." But what bills? Thus far in March, the Senate has passed only four pieces of major legislation — to ban toxic chemicals called PCBs, to require open meetings by public bodies, to limit parties on the general election ballot and to set up a statewide emergency medical services system.

Senate leaders point out that committees are hard at work. But the significance and number of the measures reaching the floor indicate committees, too, have been relaxed if not moribund. For weeks, the Senate schedule each day has featured a few minor bills up for passage, a few more minor bills up for discussion — and a lot of minor bills delayed for one reason or another. Occasionally a significant measure sneaks through.

The House, meanwhile, began Friday sessions to clean up its calendar, which was swollen with the products of its more numerous and more active committees.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR VFW POST: Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1137, Benton Harbor, is sponsoring a Bicentennial dance Friday, April 2, with proceeds going to help complete this new VFW home under construction off Napier avenue, Benton township. Dance will be at Knights of Columbus hall, beneath Goldblatt's at

Fairplain Plaza. Three bands will provide continuous music starting at 8 p.m. Admission is $3 a person. Al Arnt, chairman of VFW building committee, said post hopes to occupy $125,000 building in June. New post will replace present one at 204 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor. (Staff photo)

‘Contingency Plans’ Called A Warning

By HARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger says the Ford administration is not contemplating specific action against Cuba and that drawing up military “contingency plans” is only a warning to Cuba and Russia not to intervene in Rhodesia.

Kissinger assured the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Friday that “there is no crisis that now requires us to contemplate specific action” against Cuba.

But, he added, “We do want the Soviet Union and Cuba to understand that it’s a matter of

VA Probe Testimony Gets Nod

DETROIT (AP) — A federal judge ruled Friday that prosecutors may take sworn testimony from a dying witness in the probe of deadly breathing failures at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The dying man, Richard Neely, 61, of Oshtemo, Ind., was one of more than a score of patients at the VA hospital who suffered suspicious breathing failures last summer. Eleven of the patients who suffered the respiratory arrests between July 1 and Aug. 10 died at the time or later.

Investigators believe the breathing failures were induced by injection of the powerful muscle-paralyzing drug pancuronium. The drug leaves a patient incapable of breathing without artificial aid.

A brief filed recently by federal prosecutors seeking permission to take Neely’s testimony identified two nurses, Filipina Nareln, 29, of Ypsilanti, and Leonora Perez, 31, formerly of Ann Arbor and now living in Evanston, Ill., as suspects in the case.

Both nurses worked last summer in the intensive care unit of the Ann Arbor VA Hospital. Most of the breathing failures occurred in the intensive care unit.

The federal grand jury investigating the case has issued no indictments.

U.S. District Court Judge Philip Pratt ruled on Friday that a recent change in federal rules of court procedure allows the prosecution to take Neely’s testimony.

But Pratt emphasized his decision does not mean the testimony will be allowed into evidence at any future trial.

Pratt ruled that Neely is suffering from bladder cancer and blood clots in his lungs and could die soon.

Thomas O’Brien, attorney for the two nurses, said he probably would appeal Friday’s decision to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

If testimony is taken from Neely, O’Brien would be present and would be allowed to cross-examine the witness.

Federal prosecutors said the entire proceeding might be videotaped.

deep gravity and we want to do this before any irrevocable decisions are taken.”

Cuba sent 12,000 troops into Angola to aid Communist-backed forces there in their successful fight this year for control of that former Portuguese colony.

Both the White House and the Pentagon made a public splash this week by acknowledging that the Joint Chiefs of Staff are considering action against Cuba if it moves troops into other southern African nations. No specifics of the planning were given.

Kissinger responded to questions during an appearance in which he told the committee that the U.S. agreement to sell six military cargo planes to Egypt does not mean the United States intends to become Cairo’s key military supplier.

Quizzed on the Pentagon’s possible action against Cuba, Kissinger told Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, chairman of the African subcommittee, that only “a general precautionary review” was under way. He said the administration did not intend to indicate that a crisis is building up.

He said U.S. policy is not to tolerate military intervention, while doing nothing to help perpetuate Rhodesia’s white minority regime.

“We should not look at this immediate situation in terms of planning a military move in any time frame that is now immediately foreseeable,” Kissinger said. “We are rather trying to call the attention of the Soviet Union and Cuba to the serious consequences of any contemplated action.”

The announcement of the Pentagon review stirred some congressional criticism.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a Democratic presidential candidate, said it was a mistake to threaten Cuba. He said that “no foreign country is going to pay attention to saber-rattling” conducted without congressional or public support.

Discussing the planned $65 million sale of the C-130 cargo planes to Egypt, Kissinger said if Congress approves the transaction it would not commit the United States to any other arms deals with Cairo.

The proposed sale, if not vetoed by Congress in 20 days, will end a 20-year arms embargo against Egypt.

Say Iodine Cause Of Cattle Ills

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Poisoning with iodine — not polychlorinated biphenyl — may be the cause of illness in some Michigan cattle herds, Michigan State University experts say.

Scientists say the symptoms of poisoning with the two chemicals cannot be distinguished without laboratory testing. Lead, arsenic and other metals also could be at fault, they said.

“I would urge any farmer who thinks his animals are sick from PBB also have them checked for excessive levels of iodine,” said Dr. Sam Getty, an MSU veterinarian.

Some 200 angry farmers converged on the state Capitol this week, claiming their animals were suffering lingering effects of low-level PBB poisoning.

The toxic fire-retardant PBB was mistaken for a feed-additive in 1973 and mixed with feed marketed by Michigan Farm Bureau Services.

Frayed Cable Linked To Disaster

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — A frayed cable may have caused the derailment of two aerial gondolas that dropped 100 feet to the mountainside at the Vail Mountain ski area, killing three people, a ski area official says.

“The cars looked like tuna fish cans ... It was mangled. There were ski poles sticking out of the top,” said a skier who arrived at the scene moments after Friday’s crash, which also injured nine persons.

Bob Parker, senior vice president of Vail Associates, operator of the ski area, confirmed witnesses’ reports that a cable carrying the gondolas was frayed and acknowledged that the frayed cable may have caused the accident.

Parker said the cable was last given a thorough inspection in May 1975, but added that it was inspected and greased weekly by Vail Associates.

A six-member U.S. Forest Service team has been assigned to pin down the cause of the crash.

The gondola lift, installed in 1969, has carried 5 million skiers 2,178 feet from the base of Vail Mountain. It has been used by President Ford during his Christmas skiing vacations at the mountain resort.

Witnesses said the enclosed fiberglass-and-steel cars — each carrying six skiers — collided when one broke from the overhead cable or hit a steel support tower about two-thirds of the way to the mountain.

A third car stalled on the cable and slipped backward, slamming into the car behind it, leaving both of those cars dangling precariously from the wire, said Howard Branson of Vail, who was skiing nearby.

Harriet Cooper of Woodbridge, Conn., who was in one of the dangling cars, said the people in her car noticed that a cable ahead of them was frayed. They were planning to advise lift operators at the mountain.

“Shortly after that the cars started to rumble and really shake,” she said. “Then the cable began to really go up and down.”

“We all ducked and held tight. The car careened back and hit the car behind us. When we looked up ahead all the cars were gone.”

“We were hanging very tensely on a string up there,” she said. “We knew if we moved there was a chance the car would smash to the ground.”

She and 23 other skiers in the stranded cars were rescued safely by ski patrolmen using a pulley system with rope and canvas seats to lower each person individually.

Those killed were identified as Janice K. Pasterkamp, 14, of Englewood, Colo.; Darlene Reese, 42, of Custer, S.D.; and Karen Toftman, 19, of Palos Park, Ill.

Eight of the nine injured were airlifted to St. Anthony Hospital in Denver. Hospital officials said the most seriously injured was Carol Pasterkamp, 18, of Englewood, sister of the dead girl.

Buchanan District Cost-Cutting Ideas Due By April 26

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
BUCHANAN — A 42-member citizens' committee is expected to have prepared by April 26 its recommendations about what programs the Buchanan school district will be able to afford next school year. The committee has established eight subcommittees to study all areas of school operations in efforts to try and shave $240,000 from projected school operating costs for the coming school year.

Committee general Chairman Clyde Remmo Sr., in a statement issued Thursday night, said the committee has also appealed to unions now negotiating labor contracts with the school board to complete negotiations by April 26 "so that the final committee report (to the school board) can deal with real costs."

He said future committee meetings are set for next Wednesday and April 7, 14 and 21.

The citizens' committee was appointed by the school board Monday night and met for the first time Wednesday night.

The board said the committee should try and find a way to pare some $240,000 worth of expenditures from the school's budget for next school year.

In a cost-saving measure Monday night, the board voted to give 14 teachers preliminary notification that they will not be rehired for next school year.

The cost reductions became necessary when voters earlier this month rejected a 20-mill property tax levy to finance school operations. The levy included renewal of 17 mills that expired with the last tax collections.

The $240,000 represents the extra revenue that would have been produced by the extra three mills.

The school plans to submit a tax levy proposal to voters in the

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
BUCHANAN — A 42-member citizens' committee is expected to have prepared by April 26 its recommendations about what programs the Buchanan school district will be able to afford next school year.

The committee has established eight subcommittees to study all areas of school operations in efforts to try and shave $240,000 from projected school operating costs for the coming school year.

Committee general Chairman
Clyde Remmo Sr., in a statement issued Thursday night, said the committee has also appealed to unions now negotiating labor contracts with the school board to complete negotiations by April 26 "...so that the final committee report (to the school board) can deal with real costs."

He said future committee meetings are set for next Wednesday and April 7, 14 and 21.

The citizens' committee was appointed by the school board Monday night and met for the first time Wednesday night.

The board said the committee should try and find a way to pare some $240,000 worth of expenditures from the school's budget for next school year.

In a cost-saving measure
Monday night, the board voted to give 14 teachers preliminary notification that they will not be rehired for next school year.

The cost reductions became necessary when voters earlier this month rejected a 20-mill property tax levy to finance school operations. The levy included renewal of 17 mills that expired with the last tax collections.

The $240,000 represents the extra revenue that would have been produced by the extra three mills.

The school plans to submit a tax levy proposal to voters in the WASHINGTON — Plants take carbon dioxide, absolutely essential for their life and growth, from the air in exchange for oxygen.

Some botanists think this relationship between plants and animals explains why house plants are more likely to thrive when someone talks to them regularly, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

Efficient Planning Makes Most Of Living Space

By JOHN D. BLOODGOOD, Architect

HOUSE DESIGN 7613: To make home dollars pay their way, a house must have a pleasing exterior plus a floor plan that functions efficiently. This home does. The attractive exterior combines brick, cedar shingles, and siding. Floor plan offers a living room that focuses on fireplace and front yard view; kitchen-family-dining area designed for informal family togetherness; three bedrooms with generous closets. Main bath is doubly convenient; master suite has private bath. Note compact laundry; storage area in garage; deck for outdoor living; full basement.

SQUARE FEET: 1,468 plus garage and basement.

IMPROVEMENT PLAN: You can tell a workman by his tools—and by the efficiency of his work center. This plan, ideal for garage or basement, has shelf for storing lumber; cabinets for power tools; mini shelf for nails, screws and small aids; hang-up area for small tools. Bench is 10 feet long, 7 feet tall; work top 36 inches high, 28 inches deep.

Home Yard Fixin'

By James Neibauer
Berrien County Extension Agent

PLANT A TREE!

What better way for you or your family to celebrate the Bicentennial than to plant a tree in '76 and make it a Bicentennial event! Berrien county residents can register the planting by picking up a card from one of the many poster around the county (at libraries, nurseries, and garden centers). The planting will become a permanent record with the Berrien County Bicentennial commission.

SOIL TESTING

Samples of lawn and garden soil can be tested at the Berrien County Soil Testing Laboratory for $1. Fertilizer recommendations will be made by an agricultural agent of the Cooperative Extension Service. Samples of about two cups of soil should be brought to the Extension office in the Courthouse, St. Joseph.

ELM LEAF BEETLE

Elm leaf beetle adults (olive-green beetles 1/4 inch long with a dark stripe on the outer side of each wing cover) pass the winter in sheltered places like homes and outbuildings. They are found now gathering on porches, siding, etc. This will continue for several weeks until the leaves of elm come out. The beetles will move to the leaves, feed, and lay eggs.

The larvae will skeletonize the leaves and do considerable damage. Almost any insecticide will control them — seven, malathion, diazinon.

RHUBARB

Rhubarb may be divided and planted now before the leaves expand.

Automatic Timers Gaining Ground As Fuel-Savers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newswriter

To save fuel costs people have been doing everything from trying "to fool their thermostats" — by taping little light bulbs below them — to using automatic timers on their electric hot water heaters.

By mail and telephone, they've been passing their suggestions on to Jim Miller, president of "Intermatic," a maker of timers, lights and heaters, and he is telling everyone about them.

The new ideas have not only sparked some new timers "but one company is making a timer with a built-in cooler especially for thermostats," Miller said.

It seems an automatic timer is used in tandem with a setback mechanism attached by adhesive underneath the thermostat. It works on the principle that air entering the bottom of the mechanism is heated and "fools" the thermostat into thinking the home is warmer than it really is, Miller said. The timer is set to turn on or shut off the mechanism at selected times.

The manufacturer claims its unit can provide a 8 to 16 per cent energy saving, basing its claim on computer studies made by Honeywell.

As for the electric hot water heater, a Florida man who gave that tip claimed "at least 20 other families are doing the same thing," Miller says, adding:

"He has been heating the water only 15 or 20 minutes a day and he has found the tank retains enough heat so that they can continue washing dishes, showering and doing other things while the water is still hot."

In fact, he points out, one South Carolina company that installs automatic timers on heaters is specific about savings. They tell customers they will save an average of $15 a month on their electric bill.

The company advocates setting the timer for 2 hours a day which should provide sufficient hot water and reduce the kilowatt hour usage by 500 kilowatt hours monthly at a rate of about three cents an hour. Air conditioners, which rate after electric water heaters as top energy users, also get a big boost in timer thinking.

"The ideal thing is to turn your air conditioner on for the times it is needed — just before you come home at night, when you go to bed or whatever," Miller says. "And I don't know why most people do not do it."

Timers have had a big rise in popularity in the last eight years.

Projects In BH Worth Over $5,000

The Benton Harbor building inspection department this week issued six permits for varied projects totaling an estimated $5,975.

Permits were issued to:

- Chester J. Jolley, to build a 18 by 24-foot garage at 1355 Jennings avenue, for Edward Rodgers, $2,000.
- Schumacher Construction Co., to replace one canopy and remove soffits from 11 others at an apartment building, owned by Benton Harbor public housing commission at 925 Duss avenue, $1,750.
- King and Smith Roofing Co., to reroof a single-family dwelling, owned by Alvin Wolske, 970 Lavette, $700; and to partially reroof the American Legion Post 105 building at 185 Territorial road, $225.
- Charles Baker, for alterations in a recreation center he owns at 200 East Main street, $200.
- William Ellis, for repairs in one unit of a seven-unit apartment house owned by him at 285 Brinson, $100.

Efficient Planning Makes Most Of Living Space

By JOHN D. BLOODGOOD, Architect

HOUSE DESIGN 7613: To make home dollars pay their way, a house must have a pleasing exterior plus a floor plan that functions efficiently. This home does. The attractive exterior combines brick, cedar shingles, and siding. Floor plan offers a living room that focuses on fireplace and front yard view; kitchen-family-dining area designed for informal family togetherness; three bedrooms with generous closets. Main bath is doubly convenient; master suite has private bath. Note compact laundry; storage area in garage; deck for outdoor living; full basement.

SQUARE FEET: 1,468 plus garage and basement.

FLOOR PLAN

IMPROVEMENT PLAN: You can tell a workman by his tools—and by the efficiency of his work center. This plan, ideal for garage or basement, has shelf for storing lumber; cabinets for power tools; mini shelf for nails, screws and small aids; hang-up area for small tools. Bench is 10 feet long, 7 feet tall; work top 36 inches high, 28 inches deep.

By James Neibauer
Berrien County Extension Agent

PLANT A TREE!

What better way for you or your family to celebrate the Bicentennial than to plant a tree in '76 and make it a Bicentennial event! Berrien county residents can register the planting by picking up a card from one of the many poster around the county (at libraries, nurseries, and garden centers). The planting will become a permanent record with the Berrien County Bicentennial commission.

SOIL TESTING

Samples of lawn and garden soil can be tested at the Berrien County Soil Testing Laboratory for $1. Fertilizer recommendations will be made by an agricultural agent of the Cooperative Extension service. Samples of about two cups of soil should be brought to the Extension office in the Courthouse, St. Joseph.

ELM LEAF BEETLE

Elm leaf beetle adults (olive-green beetles 1/4 inch long with a dark stripe on the outer side of each wing cover) pass the winter in sheltered places like homes and outbuildings. They are found now gathering on porches, siding, etc. This will continue for several weeks until the leaves of elm come out. The beetles will move to the leaves, feed, and lay eggs.

The larvae will skeletonize the leaves and do considerable damage. Almost any insecticide will control them — sevin, malathion, diazinon.

RHUBARB

MARIAN SIMS
"A bit bitter"

Injured Fireman Receives 'Pink Slip'

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit fireman Marian Sims has been hurt twice in the past week, but only once while fighting a fire. The 29-year-old firefighter was injured by falling concrete while battling a blaze March 18 in a downtown office building. A few days later, while recuperating in Detroit General Hospital, the city laid him off.

The "pink slip" was delivered one day while he slept. He says he hasn't seen anyone from the department; he hasn't even gotten a phone call from his employers.

"I guess you can say I'm a bit bitter," says Sims, a Vietnam veteran who earned a Purple Heart in 1968. "Nobody came by to see me about it. I guess they were ashamed."

The action, which the city says is part of some overall economic belt-tightening, means Sims can collect $136 a week — the normal layoff benefit for firemen.

But it also means Sims will be deprived of his full pay, which is more than $200 a week, during his recuperation period.

"The least they could have done is wait until he recovered," said a fellow fireman. "He can't get another job with that broken arm."

The city faces a possible budget deficit of $44.3 million and is paring employees from virtually all departments.

"You'd think they could make an exception in my case," Sims says.

There was, however, one consolation. He received a note and a fruit basket from the law firm whose office he tried to save.

Strike Over, Dice Ready At Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Gambling halls on the Las Vegas Strip, where the dice have been gathering dust for more than two weeks, were ready for action today after the settlement of the longest and most costly strike in Nevada gambling history.

A shout went up along the strip Friday night when word came that a tentative agreement reached Thursday had been signed. Picketers tore up their placards, burned them and began laughing and singing.

Hotel phone operators reported they were deluged with calls for room reservations as soon as the strike settlement was announced. The 22,000 rooms left vacant during the strike were expected to fill up within two days.

Fifteen of the glittering casino-hotels on the Strip were struck March 11 by service workers in a contract dispute. Four remained open, but 11 of them closed their doors. All were ready to open their casinos today as 11,000 kitchen workers, janitors and bartenders prepared to return to their jobs.

There is one hitch that could slow things down. Some 250 stagehands, also striking, were not included in the settlement.

Bones Found In Berrien Dune To Be Analyzed

Two Lake Michigan beach youths yesterday discovered bones that were to be analyzed to determine if they are human or animal remains, state police at the Benton Harbor post said. The bones were found partially buried in a Lake Michigan shoreline sand dune in the Lake Michigan beach area, north of the Twin Cities.

The youths were identified as Steven Dodge, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Dodge, 6081 North US-33, and Edward Snow, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snow, Washington street, Lake Michigan beach.

Sgt. Richard Zimmerman reported that the bones were taken by officers to Memorial hospital and were to be analyzed today by Dr. Charles Boonstra, a pathologist.

Zimmerman said Steven Dodge reported walking on the beach Friday evening with his friend, Edward Snow, when the pair saw some bones in the side of the dune. The youths dug some of the bones out and laid them on the beach.

After returning home, Dodge told his father, who went to the beach and then notified the post.

Carol Dodge told this newspaper today that the bones looked very old. He said some looked like they could be leg, arm or hip bones, but no skull was found. The post was notified at 8:50 p.m.

NEW BOARD MEMBERS: Grace Christian Educational association members last night elected five new school board members at their annual meeting held at Midway Baptist church, Watervliet. Elected were, from left, David Geisler, Hartford; Rex Cassidy, Stevensville; Sam Weidner, Berrien Springs; Norman Crawford, Benton Harbor; and Clayton Wiker, Dowagiac. Board now has nine members. Grace Christian Spells Out K-8 Building Plans WATERVLIET — Grace Christian Educational association members were told last night that ground-breaking ceremonies for its new seven-classroom K-8 school building will be within the next two months. The building is expected to be completed in time for classes in the fall, according to Rev. Harry L. Johnson, Sister Lakes, chairman of the school's board.

Concerning future plans on a junior-senior high school, Brian Mayfield, school administrator, indicated that construction could begin in 1978 at the same site as the K-8 building. He said a ninth grade would be added in the 1977-78 school year, even if classes were held in portable classrooms. The association has two portables which will be moved to the site.

The site for the K-8 building is located on the east side of M-140, about two blocks north of Territorial road in Bainbridge township.

Mayfield said plans call for erecting a 140 by 75 foot building on the 20-acre site, purchased for $20,000 last December, with the possibility of a 30 by 75 foot addition to the building being considered to meet growing enrollment projections.

He said capacity of the K-8 structure would be 210 students, with the alternate plan adding two additional classrooms for 60 more students.

Projected cost of the entire project has been pegged at $250,000, with actual building costs at $170,000 to $180,000, according to Rev. Johnson.

Arrangements are near completion for opening a second preschool in the First Baptist church, St. Joseph, this summer. Estimated enrollment there would be 10 students. The association opened its first preschool last year in the Sister Lakes area, where enrollment is seven students.

The 65 association members attending the meeting also elected five new board members. The new members bring the total board to a maximum of nine. Rev. Johnson said that during the board's April meeting it would adopt a rotation policy whereby three board members would serve one-year terms.

Elected last night were Norman Crawford, Benton Harbor; Sam Weidner, Berrien Springs; David Geisler, Hartford; Rex Cassidy, Stevensville; and Clayton Wiker, Dowagiac. Other board members, besides Rev. Johnson, include Fred Plett, Eau Claire; Harold Redman, Stevensville; and Donald Horter, Dowagiac.

Rev. Johnson said additional donations and pledges are needed to assist the school construction fund drive, and expressed confidence of continued support by area churches and their membership.

During the meeting, members approved a 1976-77 school budget of $87,854, including financing for the new building. Last year's budget was $84,350.

Mayfield was also granted a $1,000 annual pay hike for the upcoming school year, from $8,000 to $9,000.

Projected enrollment figures showed 98 students currently attend pre-school and K-7 programs, compared to a projected enrollment for next year of 138 students.

'Phantom' Aids Ailing Boy

MILFORD, Mich. (AP) — For months, 5-year-old Matt Gaffka has been getting "get well" cards signed by "The Phantom." It's almost certain that Matt won't get well. He has leukemia. But his parents say his last days are being made much happier by The Phantom and the thousands of other cards and letters he has generated. Glen Moore, 32, of Royal Oak, is the man who started the letter-writing campaign after hearing about Matt from a mutual friend. "I heard that he (Matt) likes to get mail," Moore says, "and it didn't seem like anybody was doing anything about getting him some, so..." Moore purchased a classified ad in a newspaper asking for prayers and cards to be sent to Matt Gaffka, 2885 Hillside Drive, Milford, Mich. 48067. "When the cards started coming, we dumped them on Matt's bed," Matt's mother says. "It was the first time I'd seen him smile in weeks."

Abortion Law Challenged

DETROIT (AP) — A federal court suit was filed Friday challenging the constitutionality of the state law regulating abortion clinics. Doctors and clinic operators who filed the lawsuit in U.S. District Court said they want to halt all state regulation of clinics where abortions are performed during the first three months of pregnancy. The Abortion Coalition of Michigan, Inc., asked for an April 5 hearing before U.S. District Court Judge Cornell Kennedy. At issue is a 1974 law regulating all free-standing surgical outpatient facilities. The law was passed following reports of abuses in the state's then-unregulated abortion industry. The coalition argued Friday that the law is oppressive because it requires abortion clinics to have "transfer agreements" with a nearby hospital to provide additional care when there is a problem performing the abortion. They also objected to a provision of the law banning advertising of abortion facilities.

'Chain Bonds' Illegal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An illegal chain letter scheme involving U.S. Savings Bonds has been uncovered by federal treasury authorities in the Detroit suburbs and Flint area, officials said Friday. The scheme has turned up in other parts of the country as well, according to the Savings Bond Division of the U.S. Treasury Department which is continuing to investigate. "Apparently, people are being asked to pay for a list of names, then buy two bonds and sell the list to others," said Hugh Makens, chief of the state Corporation and Securities Bureau. "As with any chain scheme, there's the promise of a big payoff at no cost," he said of the promotion which seems focused in Michigan's southeast region. Penalties for participating in the fraud include up to seven years in jail and a $10,000 fine. Makens warned, with additional penalties if the scheme uses the U. S. Postal Service.

Food Stamp Loss Outlined

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan could lose $242 million in business activity and more than 3,000 jobs if the federal government implements proposed new food stamp regulations, according to a state official. Laura Hess, director of the state Office of Nutrition, said the losses may occur if the U.S. Department of Agriculture adopts regulations designed to drop some five million persons from the food stamp program to save more than $1 billion. There are currently about 680,000 persons in 206,000 Michigan households participating in the program. Gov. William Milliken has called on the USDA to delay implementation of the proposed regulations since Congress is working on reform of the food stamp program.

Tornado Disaster Aid

By ASSOCIATED PRESS President Ford extended disaster aid Friday to include damages left by a tornado that touched down in Oakland and Macomb counties last weekend. The tornado left two dead and 50 injured. Damages were estimated at $4.1 million in private property and about $106,000 in public property. Ford earlier this month agreed to disaster aid for 29 counties, including Oakland and Macomb, as a result of ice storms and high winds which caused more than $50 million in damages in early March.

Winds Halt Lake Search

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP) — High winds Friday forced a temporary halt to a Coast Guard search for a man believed missing in Lake Huron. Officials said movement of ice on the lake near the mouth of the Cheboygan River was making the waters too rough to continue the effort. Thursday, Coast Guard searchers said a body was spotted in the lake. But rescuers in a helicopter were unable to get it out of the water. Officials said they believed the body was that of 61-year-old Lewis Taylor, whose snowmobile was found in the water after he went ice fishing on Wednesday.

South Haven Pair Get Nice Surprise

By TOM RENNER South Haven Correspondent SOUTH HAVEN — City police here arrested a Grand Rapids man after a high-speed chase early today and solved what apparently was an auto theft before the owner of the car knew his auto was missing. Police said Francis Holmes, 28, Grand Rapids, was arrested about 3:15 a.m. and was to be arraigned in Seventh District court here on a charge of unlawfully driving away an auto.

The auto belonged to Edward Evelland, 322 Huron street, South Haven, police said. Evelland said his wife had parked the car in the driveway of their home about 11 p.m. and had left the keys in the ignition.

Police said the Evellands did not know their auto was missing until police told them.

Officers said they observed a car driving in the downtown area at a high rate of speed about 3:15 a.m., but that when they attempted to make a stop in their unmarked patrol car the driver sped off.

Officer James Swisher said the chase reached 85 miles an hour before the car was stopped near the M-140 interchange of I-196.

Swisher said a state police patrol car from the South Haven post had another vehicle stopped for an unrelated traffic violation, and that the squad car's overhead lights apparently caused the driver to think he had been caught.

Holmes was lodged in city jail pending arraignment.

Bones Found In Berrien Dune To Be Analyzed

Two Lake Michigan beach youths yesterday discovered bones that were to be analyzed to determine if they are human or animal remains, state police at the Benton Harbor post said. The bones were found partially buried in a Lake Michigan shoreline sand dune in the Lake Michigan beach area, north of the Twin Cities.

The youths were identified as Steven Dodge, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Dodge, 6081 North US-33, and Edward Snow, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snow, Washington street, Lake Michigan beach.

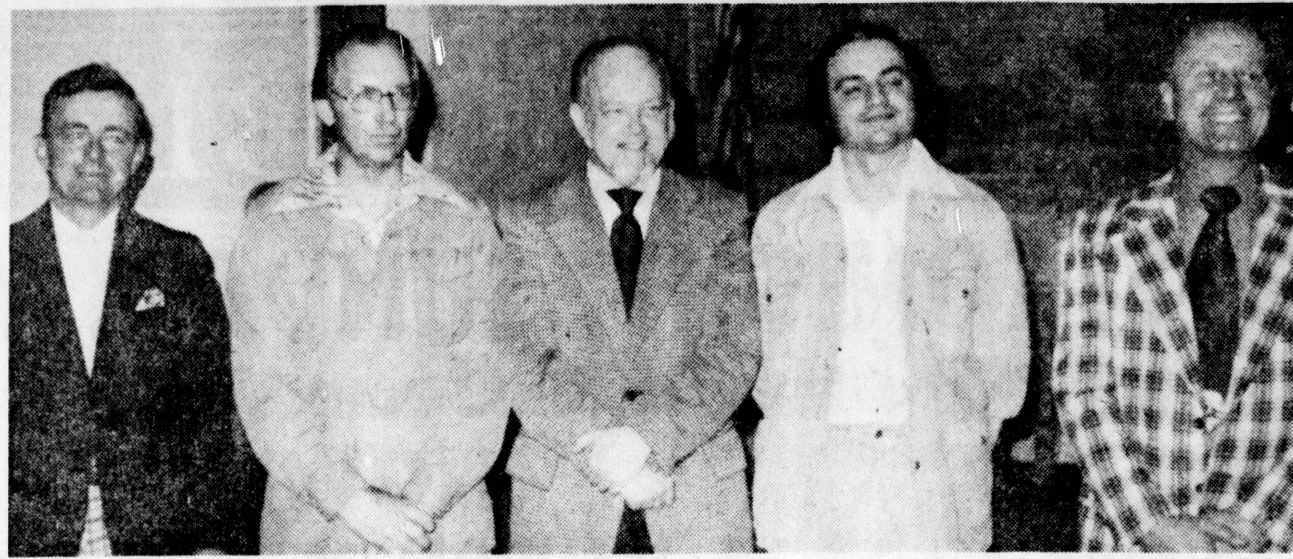

Sgt. Richard Zimmerman reported that the bones were taken by officers to Memorial hospital and were to be analyzed today by Dr. Charles Boonstra, a pathologist.

Zimmerman said Steven Dodge reported walking on the beach Friday evening with his friend, Edward Snow, when the pair saw some bones in the side of the dune. The youths dug some of the bones out and laid them on the beach.

After returning home, Dodge told his father, who went to the beach and then notified the post.

Carol Dodge told this newspaper today that the bones looked very old. He said some looked like they could be leg, arm or hip bones, but no skull was found. The post was notified at 8:50 p.m.

NEW BOARD MEMBERS: Grace Christian Educational association members last night elected five new school board members at their annual meeting held at Midway Baptist church, Watervliet. Elected were, from left, David Geisler, Hartford; Rex Cassidy,

Grace Christian Spells Out K-8 Building Plans

WATERVLIET — Grace Christian Educational association members were told last night that ground-breaking ceremonies for its new seven-classroom K-8 school building will be within the next two months. The building is expected to be completed in time for classes in the fall, according to Rev. Harry L. Johnson, Sister Lakes, chairman of the school's board.

Concerning future plans on a junior-senior high school, Brian Mayfield, school administrator, indicated that construction could begin in 1978 at the same site as the K-8 building. He said a ninth grade would be added in the 1977-78 school year, even if classes were held in portable classrooms. The association has two portables which will be moved to the site.

The site for the K-8 building is located on the east side of M-140, about two blocks north of Territorial road in Bainbridge township.

Mayfield said plans call for erecting a 140 by 75 foot building on the 20-acre site, purchased for $20,000 last December, with the possibility of a 30 by 75 foot addition to the building being considered to meet growing enrollment projections.

He said capacity of the K-8 structure would be 210 students, with the alternate plan adding two additional classrooms for 60 more students.

Projected cost of the entire project has been pegged at $250,000, with actual building costs at $170,000 to $180,000, according to Rev. Johnson.

Arrangements are near completion for opening a second pre-school in the First Baptist church, St. Joseph, this summer. Estimated enrollment there would be 10 students. The association opened its first pre-school last year in the Sister Lakes area, where enrollment is seven students.

The 65 association members attending the meeting also elected five new board members. The new members bring the total board to a maximum of nine. Rev. Johnson said that during the board's April meeting it would adopt a rotation policy whereby three board members would serve one-year terms.

Elected last night were Norman Crawford, Benton Harbor; Sam Weidner, Berrien Springs; David Geisler, Hartford; Rex Cassidy, Stevensville; and Clayton Wiker, Dowagiac. Other board members, besides Rev. Johnson, include Fred Piedt, Eau Claire; Harold Redman, Stevensville; and Donald Herter, Dowagiac.

Rev. Johnson said additional donations and pledges are needed to assist the school construction fund drive, and expressed confidence of continued support by area churches and their membership.

During the meeting, members approved a 1976-77 school budget of $87,654, including financing for the new building. Last year's budget was $64,350.

Mayfield was also granted a $1,000 annual pay hike for the upcoming school year, from $8,000 to $9,000.

Projected enrollment figures showed 98 students currently attend pre-school and K-7 programs, compared to a projected enrollment for next year of 138 students.

LONDON (AP) — Female parts on the English stage were always taken by boys until the Restoration. Charles II, in 1662, issued a license granting women the privilege of acting upon the stage. The first actress to perform in public was Margaret Hughes, playing Desdemona in Othello at a theater in Clare Market, London, on Dec. 8, 1660.

'Phantom' Aids Ailing Boy

MILFORD, Mich. (AP) — For months, 5-year-old Matt Gaffka has been getting "get well" cards signed by "The Phantom." It's almost certain that Matt won't get well. He has leukemia. But his parents say his last days are being made much happier by The Phantom and the thousands of other cards and letters he has generated. Glen Moore, 32, of Royal Oak, is the man who started the letter-writing campaign after hearing about Matt from a mutual friend. "I heard that he (Matt) likes to get mail," Moore says, "and it didn't seem like anybody was doing anything about getting him some, so..." Moore purchased a classified ad in a newspaper asking for prayers and cards to be sent to Matt Gaffka, 2865 Hillsdale Drive, Milford, Mich. 48067. "When the cards started coming, we dumped them on Matt's bed," Matt's mother says. "It was the first time I'd seen him smile in weeks."

Abortion Law Challenged

DETROIT (AP) — A federal court suit was filed Friday challenging the constitutionality of the state law regulating abortion clinics. Doctors and clinic operators who filed the lawsuit in U.S. District Court said they want to halt all state regulation of clinics where abortions are performed during the first three months of pregnancy. The Abortion Coalition of Michigan Inc. asked for an April 5 hearing before U.S. District Court Judge Cornelia Kennedy. At issue is a 1974 law regulating all free-standing surgical outpatient facilities. The law was passed following reports of abuses in the state's then-unregulated abortion industry. The coalition argued Friday that the law is oppressive because it requires abortion clinics to have "transfer agreements" with a nearby hospital to provide additional care when there is a problem performing the abortion. They also objected to a provision of the law banning advertising of abortion facilities.

'Chain Bonds' Illegal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An illegal chain letter scheme involving U.S. Savings Bonds has been uncovered by federal treasury authorities in the Detroit suburbs and Flint area, officials said Friday. The scheme has turned up in other parts of the country as well, according to the Savings Bond Division of the U.S. Treasury Department which is continuing to investigate. "Apparently, people are being asked to pay for a list of names, then buy two bonds and sell the list to others," said Hugh Makens, chief of the state Corporation and Securities Bureau. "As with any chain scheme, there's the promise of a big payoff at no cost," he said of the promotion which seems focused in Michigan's southeast region. Penalties for participating in the fraud include up to seven years in jail and a $10,000 fine, Makens warned, with additional penalties if the scheme uses the U. S. Postal Service.

Food Stamp Loss Outlined

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan could lose $242 million in business activity and more than 3,000 jobs if the federal government implements proposed new food stamp regulations, according to a state official. Laura Hess, director of the state Office of Nutrition, said the losses may occur if the U.S. Department of Agriculture adopts regulations designed to drop some five million persons from the food stamp program to save more than $1 billion. There are currently about 680,300 persons in 200,000 Michigan households participating in the program. Gov. William Milliken has called on the USDA to delay implementation of the proposed regulations since Congress is working on reform of the food stamp program.

Tornado Disaster Aid

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Ford extended disaster aid Friday to include damages left by a tornado that touched down in Oakland and Macomb counties last weekend. The tornado left two dead and 50 injured. Damages were estimated at $4.1 million in private property and about $105,000 in public property. Ford earlier this month agreed to disaster aid for 29 counties, including Oakland and Macomb, as a result of ice storms and high winds which caused more than $50 million in damages in early March.

Winds Halt Lake Search

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP) — High winds Friday forced a temporary halt to a Coast Guard search for a man believed missing in Lake Huron. Officials said movement of ice on the lake near the mouth of the Cheboygan River was making the waters too rough to continue the effort. Thursday, Coast Guard searchers said a body was spotted in the lake. But rescuers in a helicopter were unable to get it out of the water. Officials said they believed the body was that of 61-year-old Lewis Taylor, whose snowmobile was found in the water after he went ice fishing on Wednesday.

Ford Parodies 'Clumsy' Jokesters

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Ford, the target of jokes because of his reputation for clumsiness, has begun to parody his parodysers. The President on Thursday night attended a broadcasters' dinner in Washington which featured humorist Chevy Chase, who often imitates a "clumsy" Ford on the television show, NBC Saturday night. After Chase stumbled through his Ford routine, the President rose to speak. First he "inadvertently" pulled off a table cloth which sent silverware clattering to the floor. Then he bobbled about 40 pieces of paper, supposedly his speech. It was all deliberate, and the crowd loved it. The President then related the incident at a Republican fund-raising dinner here Friday night, and as he did, he suddenly dumped a pile of papers, left by a previous speaker, over the lectern. And the crowd roared. Ford gained the clumsy reputation last year after two well-publicized photographs showed him falling down an airplane ramp in Austria and on the ski slopes in Vail, Colo.

Wilson Class C Coach Of The Year

A state championship for the No. 1 team in the state which boasts an all-state player and is guided by an all-state coach.

It almost sounds too good to be true, but that's the coup the mighty Buchanan Bucks can pull off tonight by defeating Negaunee in the Class C title game at Michigan's Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor.

The undefeated Bucks, who finished as the top Class C team in the final Associated Press poll, reaped two more prestigious awards today when Buchanan's Ken Garrett was named to the Class C All-State basketball team and Buchanan coach Bill Wilson was selected as the Class C Coach of the Year.

Joining the Buck pair in winning Associated Press honors are southwestern Michigan area super stars Marc Moeller of Fennville and Don Kooy of Galien. Moeller was also named to the Class C squad while Kooy was picked to the Class D star unit.

Garrett and Moeller were both unanimous picks. Moeller's scoring average of 31.2 this season was also the best of any all-state player in all four classes.

Garrett, Moeller and Kooy formed a terrific trio this season as they combined for 1,721 points, hit double figures in all but one of the 74 games they played in and led their teams to a classy 62-12 record.

The brawny 6-6, 205-pound Garrett, who hopes to cap a brilliant career by helping the Bucks grab the Class C championship tonight, holds every Buchanan scoring record and is currently third on the list of all-time Blossomland scorers. He's leading the Bucks in scoring this season with a 21.7 average while also tops in rebounding with a 10.2 average.

"He has the stats to go with this all-state sort of thing, plus our team is doing well," states Wilson of Garrett. "I think this speaks highly of our team...you have to look at this accomplishment in the structure of team play."

"Kenny is a very unselfish player...I think he's our third top assist man. He's worked very hard to improve himself and it has paid off. I can't think of anyone more deserving of the honor than Kenny."

Garrett, a three-year starter, has been recruited by many state colleges as well as several outstate schools. Western Michigan reportedly considers Garrett its first or second prime recruit. The senior forward says he would like to play basketball at Michigan.

Wilson, 33, has molded and motivated the Buchanan talent into a state powerhouse this season with 27 straight victories.

Wilson, credited with turning around the Buchanan basketball program, has a three-year record of 55-18 at Buchanan with two consecutive Blossomland championships. Wilson, a native of Arkansas, was 67-49 at Centerville before coming to Buchanan.

"I feel it's nice to win coach of the year honors but it all belongs to the players," says Wilson, who was once cut from the Western Michigan basketball team. "A coach can have great ideas, but if you don't have good players, it doesn't do a lot of good. Any credit belongs to the players."

Ironically, Wilson's only opponent in the coach of the year voting was Dave Hallgren of Negaunee, a former coach at Galien. The two all-state candidates will match wits tonight in an interesting sidelight to the title game.

Moeller will be remembered as one of the most potent point-makers in area history. The 6-3 senior forward poured through a career total of 1,299 points, including 682 this season. The Fennville ace captured the area scoring championship this season with an average of 31.2, a mark which stands fourth on the area list of all-time scoring champions.

Moeller, who also averaged 16.5 rebounds this season, will never forget the night of Feb. 28, 1976. That's when he put on the most prolific point performance in southwestern Michigan history with his 63 against Gobles.

"I had the feeling before the game that this would probably be my night," offers the soft-spoken Moeller, who made twin figures 43 straight games.

"Really, it was all planned by my teammates before the game to feed me the ball as often as they could so I could break Richie Jordan's record."

"He's the best I've coached in four years here," notes retiring Fennville coach Tom Polan. "He's a real team player and moves real well without the ball. He's really worked hard on his defense this year and improved that about 100 percent from the year before."

Moeller will probably continue his basketball career at Hope or Western Michigan.

Kooy, a 6-2 jumping jack, will go down in history as one of the best players in Red Arrow history. He made the all-conference team three consecutive years and his career point output of 1,166 points stands second on the all-time Red Arrow list behind Ray Bowerman's 1,234.

This year Kooy averaged 18.9 points per game and almost 15 rebounds while hitting 50 percent of his shots from the field. The senior forward has sparked Galien to 20-5 and 21-4 records the last two seasons, including two straight trips to the state quarterfinal and a No. 7 spot in the final Class D poll this season.

"With his speed, quickness and jumping ability I don't see how he can't make it at the college level if he continues to work hard and improve," voices Galien coach Mike Heckathorn, who also coached an all-star four years ago in Bob Luther. Kooy, a honor student with a 3.7 grade point average, has had letters from several state schools along with Washington State and Colorado. But he wants to attend a school which has a program in nuclear medicine or physical therapy.

Kooy, who says he needs work mostly on improving his ball handling, would certainly be switched from forward to guard for college ball.

Special Honors

Kurt Wiese of Decatur has been awarded Special Honors by the panel of voters selecting the 1976 Associated Press Class C All-State team.

Wiese, a 6-1 junior guard, averaged 21.6 points per game while leading Decatur to a 22-3 season, including a share of the SAC title and a district championship.

He is the only southwestern Michigan player to receive Special Honors this season.

Special Honors go to players nominated but not elected to the All-State team.

Johnson, House Not Among All-State Finalists

There are eight all-staters in action today in Michigan's high school basketball championships at Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor, but fans won't see players considered the best in the state.

Lansing Everett's Earvin Johnson and Detroit Denby's Stuart House, who have college recruiters drooling, were sidelined in earlier tournament games.

Johnson and House are members of the Associated Press all-state teams picked by sports writers and broadcasters and announced today.

Although only a junior, the 6-8 Johnson is already becoming a legend in prep basketball circles.

He averaged 25.9 points during the regular season and 33.5 in the tournaments, including single-game highs of 54 and 50, while leading No. 1 rated Everett to 25 victories in 27 games. Johnson was a unanimous all-state pick last season when only a sophomore and is now considered as one of the four best juniors in the nation by one recruiting service.

Johnson is also a unanimous pick this season on the Class A team, along with House and Monroe's Rosie Barnes.

House, a 6-10 senior center, is perhaps the most highly-recruited senior in Michigan this season. He averaged 29 points, 20 rebounds and eight blocked shots a game.

Southwestern Michigan fans will remember House from the St. Joseph Holiday Tournament, when he led Denby to the championship.

Barnes led Monroe to a 23-1 record with an average of 26.5 points per game.

Among the other Class A all-staters are Saginaw's Paul

Roby, a state finalist today who also played in the St. Joseph Holiday Tournament; Plymouth Salem's 6-8 Jim Ellinghausen, who averaged 28.9 points; Garden City West's David Niles, who averaged 27.6, and Southfield Lathrup's Bill Phillips, a 6-7 junior, who posted a 24.2 mark.

Joining Roby as all-staters participating in today's state finals are Flint Beecher's Bryan Rison and James Smith and River Rouge's Lionel Reeves in Class B. Buchanan's Ken Garrett and Negaunee's Chuck Vercoe in Class C and Detroit St. Martin DePorres' Tony Fuller and Harbor Springs' Dave Rhine in Class D.

Also in action at the University of Michigan arena will be Buchanan's Bill Wilson, the coach of the year in Class C.

Rison and Smith make unbeaten and top-ranked Beecher the only team with two all-staters.

Garrett is a unanimous Class C selection, along with Fennville's Marc Moeller and Benzon's Benzie Central's B.J. Lathwell.

Garrett has led Buchanan to a perfect season and a No. 1 ranking, and Moeller's 30.1 average is the best among any player in all classes.

A repeat all-stater in Class C is Traverse City St. Francis' Jim Swaney. And Morley-Stanwood's Vince Vogt, a 27.5 scorer, is the lone junior on the team.

In Class D, Crystal Falls Forest Park's Bryan LaChapelle is a repeater. Unanimous picks in 'D' include Fuller and Saginaw St. Stephen's Anthony Stephenson.

Fuller has led DePorres to the No. 1 Class D ranking in a 24-1 season. And Harbor Spring's Rhine has gotten his perfect 27-0 team into the finals while averaging 25.0 points per game.

Defending State Champions Strong Again

All-Americans Lead Roadrunners

A trio of All-Americans will lead the Southwestern Michigan College track squad in its outdoor season opener this weekend at the Florida Relays in Gainesville, Fla.

Joe Ofsansky (Terre Haute, Ind.) is a national champion in both cross country and the indoor two-mile run, while high jumpers Bill Bradford (Chesterton, Ind.) and Carl Sims (Dayton, Ohio) both cleared 6-11 and finished second and third, respectively, in this year's national indoor meet.

The Roadrunners, the defending Michigan Junior College outdoor champions, will also rely heavily on a pair of defending state champions, quartermiler Darroll Gatson (Detroit) and Terry Houseworth (St. Joseph). Gatson won the state junior college 440 last year with a 48.4 while Houseworth copped the shot put title with a near 50-foot effort.

The strongest event for coach Ron Gunn's Roadrunners will be the distance events, where all seven of SMC's national championship team will set the pace,

In addition to Ofsansky, this group includes Steve Bunn (Hartford), Dennis Cordell (Hammond, Ind.), Tom Ellspermann (St. Joseph), Arnie Jackson (Schaumburg, Ill.), Steve Serna (Highland, Ind.) and Dave Brand (Sturgis). Cordell, Ellspermann, Jackson and Serna are all cross country All-Americans, while Bunn recently placed seventh in the national indoor two-mile.

The hurdling trio of Joel Huff (Mishawaka), Mike Roberts (Fl. Wayne, Ind.) and Stan Getha (Lafayette, Ind.) are expected to give the Green 'n Gold their best potential ever in that event.

The sprinting crew will be led by Steve Gray, a speedster from Trinidad, and returning letterman Morris Coats (LaPorte, Ind.). Halp Fearish (Oregon-Davis, Ind.) and John Newman (East Chicago, Ind.)

Other top field events prospects include high jumper John Valiska (Highland, Ind.), a returning letterman who cleared 6-7 last year; Howard Lane (Chesertown, Ind.), the school indoor record holder in the long jump, and a trio of freshmen pole vaulters, Frank Yankovich (Bangor), Don Delf (Niles-Brandywine) and Brian Sapp (Highland, Ind.)

"We have the potential to be a great team," declares Gunn, "but our state gets tougher every year and we will have to be at our best to be contenders."

Mike Price and Joe Gladysz, both of Paw Paw, and Dennis Kugle of St. Joseph are listed on the roster of the Kalamazoo College baseball team while Charles Brynson of Paw Paw and Duane Garner of Niles are listed on the Hornet track roster.

LMC Super In National Pin Tourney

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Lake Michigan College bowlers put on a sparkling effort here Friday in the National Junior College bowling tournament.

Jim Morris of South Haven took first place in singles with a 223-219-213—655 while Brad Peterson of Stevensville was second with 231-202-189—622. Glenn Barnes of Benton Harbor placed fifth with 199-170-212—581. There were a total of 96 bowlers from across the nation competing in the event.

"This was a great accomplishment because it's the first time we've been to the national tournament," commented Don Alsbro, LMC athletic director and bowling coach.

LMC was scheduled to bowl in the team event today.

Knight Wins Battle With Press On Eve Of NCAA Clash

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Indiana basketball Coach Bobby Knight, on the eve of his team's semifinal battle with UCLA in the NCAA Tournament, tuned up with a little one-on-one with the press.

It was no contest.

How has UCLA improved since you beat them in the first game of the season? he was asked. "I haven't seen them since," was the answer.

Do you think your team should be favored?

"I don't care."

Would you prefer to be the underdog?

"What I prefer doesn't make any difference."

How are you going to match up your players with UCLA on defense?

"I haven't decided yet."

Knight's Hoosiers face the Bruins immediately after the Michigan-Rutgers game, which starts at 2 p.m. Both games will be televised on Channels 5, 8 and 16.

Knight, the best man with a one-liner since Groucho Marx, doesn't much care for news conferences. As a matter of fact, he doesn't much care for the press and has been known to lash out at reporters who haven't treated his teams with sufficient reverence.

To say he is contemptuous of the press may be a little strong. Then again, it may not be.

Knight watched his Hoosiers run through a brisk 30-minute workout Friday afternoon and then, grudgingly, answered some questions. And ignored some others.

Knight sat slumped over a microphone at a table off to the side of the basketball court at the Spectrum, held his chin in his hand and took the occasion to lecture reporters in attendance.

When asked the possible psychological effect the Hoosiers' 84-64 victory over the Bruins earlier in the season would have on UCLA, he said, "I don't think it makes a damn bit of difference. You all like to write about psychological factors. Well you can wrap them all up and throw them away. They don't mean anything once the game starts."

Asked about his team's chances of winning the NCAA title, he commented, "I don't make predictions. You people make all the predictions, and I have found that most of those predictions are wrong."

Knight may not sound like a barrel of laughs, and he isn't, but he does have a light side.

When someone inquired about a cold he has been nursing, he said, "I have a doctor who is worthless. The only thing the SOB is good for is he can hit a ball off the tee and make an occasional putt. He's probably taken 30 years off my life but he's helped my golf game."

Then it was back to the old give and take.

What are UCLA's strengths? "You can ask their coach."

Would you care to elaborate on defensive strategy against the Bruins?

"No, not really."

Well, do you think UCLA will be at a disadvantage because you've already beaten them?

"I've already answered that question."

Having thus disposed of the Fourth Estate, Knight stalked off to the Indiana locker room to prepare for UCLA.

Toronto Given AL Franchise

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Toronto is in the major leagues for the second time this year. This time it's likely to stick around a while.

The Canadian metropolis was granted a $7 million American League expansion franchise Friday and became the AL's 14th city for 1977, when Seattle also gets a team. Two months ago, a deal to move the National League's financially troubled San Francisco Giants to Toronto this season fell through when San Francisco interests came up with buyers for the franchise.

"The only thing I'm sure of at this point is that the team won't be called the Toronto Giants," said Don McDougall, president of Labatt's, Canada's largest brewery and principal owner of the new club.

Ironically, the National League, which quickly disclosed a plan to woo Toronto shortly after the AL announcement last week, is scheduled to hold its own expansion meeting Monday in the same Tampa conference room where the American League made its decision.

Friday's action was a blow to the National League, which sought intervention by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn in an attempt to delay the AL vote at least until Monday. But McDougall's group was asked not to go to the National League if granted an AL franchise, and it agreed.

"It would be flattering to the ego to think that we could get two franchises and choose between the two, but I don't think you do business that way," McDougall said. "The professionals can debate the National League versus the American League, but I think if you look at the teams in the American League East you'll find they're pretty attractive cities to play with."

Asked if he thought the National League would go ahead with its Toronto expansion move in light of the American League action, AL President Lee MacPhail said: "I would be surprised. It's a major league agreement that leagues will not go into each other's territories without a certain vote."

MacPhail said Toronto would join the AL East Division and Seattle the West. He said the clubs would be stocked at an expansion draft after the World Series.

Included in the Toronto purchasing group besides Labatt's are Vulcan Assets Dominion Ltd. and the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

Miller Now Eyes Buckeye Recruits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eldon Miller wasted little time in going to work Friday in his new job, rebuilding Ohio State's sagging basketball fortunes.

The 36-year-old Miller, pried away from Mid-American Conference champion Western Michigan, had launched his recruiting two hours after he was announced as the Big Ten school's ninth coach.

"We must move on some talented players. We are way behind. The name of the college game is recruiting," said Miller, scouring the Ohio high school tournament for playing gems.

One he obviously would love to have is 6-foot-5 Butch Carter of Middletown, Ohio's Class AAA Player of the Year. Carter, however, has given Indiana a verbal commitment.

Carter was one of the top performers on display in the annual three-day tournament conducted on Ohio State's home floor at St. John Arena.

"I can see the prime need here," said the native of Gnadenhutten, Ohio. "It's rebounding. Until you can rebound with your opponent, you're in trouble."

With that in mind, Miller huddled with Dick Graeff, the coach of Arcanum, one of Ohio's small schools. Graeff's star this year was a 6-10 gangling senior named Ken Sebring.

"Sebring's young basketball wise. But after all, the kid is 6'10," said Miller before approaching Graeff.

Miller, who led Western Michigan to its first sole Mid-American title and was named the league's Coach of the Year for a 25-3 record, said his top two priorities are finding assistants and recruits.

"I've talked to some people about being assistants already. I'll bring in assistants I know. I plan to move quickly," said Miller.

ND Opens Practice Monday

Devine Holds Guarded Optimism For Irish

SOUTH BEND — Second-year Notre Dame football coach Dan Devine opens the Fighting Irish's 20-day spring practice session Monday with guarded optimism.

"We were an awfully young team last year and the year's experience should pay dividends this season," says Devine, "but I'm cognizant that we have to solve some problems on offense with the graduation of four interior linemen."

Notre Dame, which finished at 8-3 last season, will conclude spring practice with the annual Blue-Gold scrimmage on May 1 at 1:30 p.m. in Notre Dame Stadium.

The loss of 12 monogram winners from last fall included a total of seven regulars, four on offense and three on defense, plus five veteran backup performers on each unit. Forty-two monogram winners return, however.

It will be the offensive line that will require the most attention, as Devine sets about replacing center Steve Quehl, guard Al Wujciak and tackles Ed Bauer and Pat Pohlen.

The youth and inexperience on last year's Irish is reflected in the fact that of the top three ball carriers, two were freshmen and the other a sophomore. Fullbacks Jerome Heavens and Jim Browner combined for 1,150 yards and seven touchdowns while Al Hunter added 558 yards and eight scores.

The quarterbacking chores were handled by Rick Slager and Joe Montana, neither of whom brought any experience to the position.

Divine will have some of the same problems this season. Standout Ernie Hughes is the only regular returning to the interior of the line. But what Divine is blessed with is a talented group of backs returning from a year ago, led by Heavens, Hunter, Browner, co-captain Mark McLane, Terry Euric, Jim Weiler, Steve Orsini and Dan Knott.

At quarterback the fight for top honors will be among returnees Slager, Montana and Gary Forystek. Stiff competition is expected from sophomore Joe Restic, who labored in the defensive backfield and at halfback in the last game of the season. The bright youngster also set a new Notre Dame record for punting average with a 43.5-yard mark. Joe Palazola and Russ Lisch are two other sophomores given a chance to upset their more experienced rivals.

For receivers, Devine will be able to call upon his big tight end, Ken MacAfee, who was a first-team All-American last season. The huge Brockton, Mass., native led all receivers with 26 passes and five touchdowns. Backing up MacAfee will be senior Doug Butth. At split end the Irish used speedster Ted Burgeimer last year but plan to shift him to the defensive secondary again, a post he filled in his freshman year. The two leading contenders vying for the vacancy will be senior Dan Kelleher and sophomore Kris Haines.

Defensively, the situation is much more settled with eight starters returning. Back are Ross Browner and Willie Fry at the ends, Jeff Weston at tackle, Bob Golic and Doug Becker at linebacker, Luther Bradley at cornerback and Randy Harrison and Mike Banks at safety. The Irish will have to replace All-American Steve Niehaus at tackle, co-captain Jim Stock at linebacker and three-year performer Tom Lopienski at cornerback.

Lanier Leads Pistons Past Bulls

Bullets, Cavs Key Losers

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

They were contests that fell under the category of "pressure games." The Cleveland Cavaliers and Washington Bullets were warring for the top spot in the National Basketball Association's Central Division. Each basket is important.

So what happened Friday night, more than 70 games into the pressure-packed season with Washington in front by only a game in the standings? Both teams lost. Both coaches were puzzled by a lack of their players' concentration when so much is at stake.

"We're not playing at our peak yet," said Cavs Coach Bill Fitch after Cleveland had dropped a 95-93 decision to the Boston Celtics. With just 10 games remaining, one might ask: just when are the Cavaliers going to reach that peak?

Fitch couldn't answer that. "We've been under pressure since last year, when we missed the playoffs by a game. This season every game has been a must," he said. "We played spotty. We made some early mistakes that cost us."

After the Bullets dropped a 131-126 double overtime decision to the New Orleans Jazz, Washington Coach K.C. Jones muttered, "We just weren't working hard in the first half. I think our lack of concentration hurt us in the first half. We weren't scrapping."

So they had to scramble back and fight for their lives to take a 111-109 lead with just seven seconds remaining — only to see the Jazz come back on a Ron Behagen shot with two seconds remaining to send the game into overtime.

But the Jazz, with no hopes of making the playoffs, pulled to a four-point lead in the first minute of the second extra session and held on to win — wasting a 44-point pa58nce by Washington's Phil Chenier.

In the other NBA games, Detroit topped Chicago 85-77, Milwaukee crushed Buffalo 123-92, and Los Angeles blasted Atlanta 107-85.

Dave Cowens scored 29 points to pace Boston's sixth straight triumph.

Pete Maravich had 29 points to spark the Jazz to a double-overtime victory.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 23 points to carry Los Angeles past Atlanta and move the Lakers into a second-place tie with the Seattle SuperSonics in the Pacific Division, one-half game ahead of the Phoenix Suns.

Bob Lanier scored seven points in the final period to help Detroit survive a Chicago comeback that had melted a 14-point lead to just three.

Milwaukee behind 24 points by Bob Dandridge and 18 by Brian Winters, opened a 28-point lead after three quarters and cruised past Buffalo.

SJ Running Second In All-Sports Race

St. Joseph is running a close second to Battle Creek Lakeview in the Big Seven Conference all-sports standings.

Through the recently completed winter action, Lakeview leads with 32.0 points. St. Joseph has 31.5, Kalamazoo Loy Norrix 26.0, Holland 24.5, Portage Northern 23.5, Portage Central 17.5 and Niles 13.0.

In winter sports, St. Joe won the basketball championship and placed fourth in wrestling and swimming.

Meanwhile, St. Joseph girls are running next to last in the girls all-sports standings. Kalamazoo Loy Norrix leads with 19.5, followed by Holland 18.0, Portage Northern 18.0, Portage Central 16.0, Battle Creek Lakeview 15.0, St. Joseph 14.5 and Niles 11.0.

Bears' Worthington All-State Swimmer

St. Joseph junior John Worthington has earned all-state swimming honors.

Worthington, who set four individual St. Joe records and a school relay mark, has been named to the Michigan Interscholastic Coaches' Association first team and the Detroit News second team.

Worthington finished third in the recent State Class A state swimming meet with a school record 53.06 clocking in the 100 butterfly.

Other Worthington records

include a 48.8 in the 100 freestyle, a 58.12 in the 100 backstroke and a 2:04.8 in the 200 individual medley. He also teamed with Tom Starks, Fred Danaher and Tim Momany for a record 2:21.9 in the freestyle relay event.

"This is the first time the team has had an all-stater in my five-year tenure at St. Joe," declares swimming coach Bill Womer. "And I don't think I've had a kid work as hard at it as John has. Next year we're looking more at All-American and I think we have a good shot at it."

Two other Big Seven Conference swimmers also made the all-state team in the 100 butterfly — Battle Creek Lakeview's Rick Royal and Holland's Bill Derks.

Other league all-staters include Lakeview's Tom Selles, Trip Gage, Royal and Jeff Zheutlin in the 200 medley relay; Portage Central's Bob Clancy, Craig Brakeman, Dave Diget and Bill Bishop in the 400 freestyle relay, and Digit in the 200 freestyle.

Three SH Cagers All-League Picks

Wolverine champion South Haven has three players on the all-league basketball team announced this week by conference coaches.

Mike Grimes, William Gamble and Nathan Goodwin — all juniors — made the all-star squad after leading the Rams to a 20-2 season and the No. 3 ranking in the final Associated Press Class B poll.

Gamble, a 6-2 forward, averaged 16.7 points per game for coach M.H. White's team.

Goodwin, a 5-10 guard, averaged 16.4, while Grimes, a 6-2 forward, posted a 13.5 mark.

There are two other juniors — Allegan's John Hoffman and Otsego's Joe Stout — on the 10-man squad. Vicksburg's John Hosner is the only repeat pick.

Rounding out the team, picked by conference coaches, are four seniors — Three Rivers' Tim Freeze, Gulf Lake's Steve Sprague, Otsego's Tom Phillips and Plainwell's Keith Kozier.

Included among the honorable mention selections are South Haven's Rick Bus and Paw Paw's Karl Krushinsky.

Minnesota Holding Gym Lead Over U-M

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Minnesota's Dan Jarosch was the top qualifier on the side horse as his team took a narrow lead Friday night over defending champ Michigan in the Big Ten Gymnastics Championships at Jenson Fieldhouse.

With only the optional phase of three of the six events left to be completed Saturday morning, Minnesota had 314.35 points to 312.35 for Michigan.

They were followed by Illinois, 305.3; Wisconsin, 281.4; Michigan State, 275.5; Indiana 272.35; Iowa, 269.45; and Ohio State, 258. Northwestern and Purdue do not compete.

Jarosch posted an 18.85 total out of a possible 20 on the side horse after leading the compulsory exercises on the horse in the afternoon.

In floor exercises, the top qualifier was defending champion Chuck Stillerman of Michigan, who scored 18.1.

On the still rings, Michigan's Scott Ponto scored 18.9 to lead the qualifiers.

With the optional exercises still left to be held Saturday morning, Pierre LeClerc of Michigan held the lead on the vault, with a 9.35 out of 10, and on the parallel bars, with a 9.15. Michigan State's Glenn Hime and Iowa's George Wakerlin were tied at 9.2 to lead on the high bar.

The team winner will be determined after wrapping up the optional exercises Saturday morning. The eight qualifiers in each event will then compete in the afternoon for individual honors.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — "We got this far. I think we can go all the way," said Lusia Harris.

"I really want to win bad," said Cathy Rush.

Something's got to give.

Defending champion, Delta State of Mississippi, coming off a semifinal scare, meets Immaculata of Philadelphia tonight in a rematch of last year's women's college basketball title game.

"One to go," said 4-foot-11, 85-pound Debbie Brock, who made two foul shots with five seconds left to give Delta a 61-60 victory over Wayland Baptist of Texas Friday night. Immaculata, coached by Miss Rush, beat William Penn of Iowa 74-52 in the other semifinal.

The 6-3 Miss Harris had 30 points for Delta Friday night. That's two less than she had a year ago in leading the Lady Statesmen to a 90-81 championship victory over Immaculata.

The Maes, who had won three straight titles before that, split with Delta in two regular season games this year. In Cleveland, Miss., the Maes were treated to a motorcycle and a banquet of venison, catfish and fried chicken. Then they were beaten by 18 points.

At Philadelphia, the Maes stopped Delta's 51-game winning streak and handed the Lady Statesmen, 32-1, their only loss this season.

"We didn't have much room to move. They sure played me tight inside," recalled Harris, one of nine children from a family of tenant cotton farmers.

Friday night, Wayland Baptist contained Harris in the early minutes when she drew three offensive fouls. The Flying Queens, who each carried a long-stemmed rose in the pregame introductions, jumped to a 22-14 lead with the help of 10 points by Pearl "The Earl" Worrell, also guarding Harris defensively.

But the title turned later in the second half after Worrell and two other Wayland starters went to the bench with three fouls each.

Harris finished with 14 half-time points to close the margin to 34-30.

"They were hitting so good at first, we had to go out after them," said the tiny Brock, who made several crucial steals while darting about in her size four high-top sneakers.

Brock, a basketball coach's daughter, finished with 17 points and put the Lady Statesmen ahead to stay with 4:02 left when she stole the ball and drove for a layup. There were five seconds left and Delta was leading 59-58 when Brock drew a two-shot foul.

About 300 Delta fans, waving pom-poms donated by some large Mississippi cotton growers, yelled through Delta megaphones as Brock made both the foul shots, leaping into the air with their clenched fists after each swish.

Leanne Waddell hit a jump shot at the buzzer to no avail for Wayland, which meets William Penn today for third place.

Montgomery Resets Mark

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Jim Montgomery won the latest round in his game of leapfrog with Bruce Furniss and Furniss jumped over an unfortunate memory at the NCAA Swimming and Diving championships, which end tonight with Southern California expected to take its third straight team title.

Montgomery, a senior from Indiana University, forced the record book writers to scratch out "Bruce Furniss" and retype in "Jim Montgomery" in the 200-yard freestyle Friday night.

Furniss had held the American record of 1:36.91 for seven hours before Montgomery regained the page in history with a spectacular front-running victory.

Montgomery's new mark is 1:36.53, which beat Furniss' hours-old mark, which beat Montgomery's ancient mark of 1:37.65.

"That was my strategy," Montgomery said of his blistering early pace. "I wanted to make sure no one caught me."

"The best way for me to swim was to swim my own race. I still had a lot left in the last 50 (yards). I could have gone some more. I didn't struggle at all. I felt really strong."

Furniss, who finished second in the 200-yard freestyle, did have the honor of touching home first in the 800-yard freestyle relay, in which Southern California shattered the old American record of 6:35.61 by nearly 2 1/2 seconds.

The victorious foursome of John Naber, Dick Hannula, Scott Finkoff, and Furniss blazed a new trail with a clocking of 6:33.13. Second place UCLA and third-place Indiana also bettered the old record, set by a different Southern Cal quartet in 1975.

And it was justice that Furniss, an effervescent freshman, brought the victory in. Only last summer at the World Aquatic Championships in Cali, Colombia, Furniss dove into the pool too early, disqualifying an American relay team that had set an apparent world record in the 800-meter freestyle.

Was he thinking about lightning striking twice? "The thought crossed my mind as I was starting," said Furniss, who holds world records in the 200-meter freestyle and 200-meter individual medley. "I hate to admit it, but I made a mistake last summer."

Besides the gold medal performance in the relay, Southern California profited from victories by Rod Strachan in the 400-yard individual medley and Naber in the 100-yard backstroke.

Strachan's victory was unexpected, as he barely beat his favored teammate, Steve Furniss, in 3:55.64. Scott Brown of Southern Cal finished third.

That depth, the best reason for Southern California's aura of invincibility here, was also Strachan's explanation for his triumph.

"Just being on a really good team like this, you've got to get a lot of competition," Strachan said. "You even have to get psyched up for practice."

Going into tonight's finals, Southern Cal led runner-up Tennessee 281-151. Indiana was third with 136 points, UCLA was fourth with 131 and Alabama was fifth with 77.

Gophers In Ice Finals

DENVER (AP) — Minnesota used final-period goals by Tom Vannelli, Mark Lambert and Tom Youngmans Friday night to overcome Boston University 4-2 and advance into tonight's finals of the NCAA Hockey Championships against Michigan Tech.

Tech reached the finals by virtue of Thursday night's 7-6 double-overtime victory over Brown. Boston and Brown were scheduled to meet earlier today for third place.

Power-play goals by Ken Kuzky and Mike Fuller in the second period had given Boston a 2-1 edge after Gopher freshman Don Madson opened the scoring.

Vannelli, a junior center, tied it at 2-2, then sophomore center Lambert rifled home the gamewinner.

Bears' Worthington All-State Swimmer

St. Joseph junior John Worthington has earned all-state swimming honors.

Worthington, who set four individual St. Joe records and a school relay mark, has been named to the Michigan Interscholastic Coaches' Association first team and the Detroit News second team.

Worthington finished third in the recent State Class A state swimming meet with a school record 53.06 clocking in the 100 butterfly.

Other Worthington records

include a 49.8 in the 100 freestyle, a 58.12 in the 100 backstroke and a 2:04.6 in the 200 individual medley. He also teamed with Tom Starks, Fred Danaher and Tim Momany for a record 2:21.9 in the freestyle relay event.

"This is the first time the team has had an all-stater in my five-year tenure at St. Joe," declares swimming coach Bill Womer. "And I don't think I've had a kid work as hard at it as John has. Next year we're looking more at All-American and I think we have a good shot at it."

Two other Big Seven Conference swimmers also made the all-state team in the 100 butterfly — Battle Creek Lakeview's Rick Royal and Holland's Bill Derks.

Other league all-staters include Lakeview's Tom Selles, Trip Gage, Royal and Jeff Zheutlin in the 200 medley relay; Portage Central's Bob Clancey, Craig Brakeman, Dave Diget and Bill Bishop in the 400 freestyle relay, and Digit in the 200 freestyle.

Three SH Cagers All-League Picks

Wolverine champion South Haven has three players on the all-league basketball team announced this week by conference coaches.

Mike Grimes, William Gamble and Nathan Goodwin — all juniors — made the all-star squad after leading the Rams to a 20-2 season and the No. 3 ranking in the final Associated Press Class B poll.

Gamble, a 6-2 forward, averaged 16.7 points per game for coach M.H. White's team. Goodwin, a 5-10 guard, averaged 18.4, while Grimes, a 6-2 forward, posted a 13.5 mark.

There are two other juniors — Allegan's John Hoffman and Otsego's Joe Stout — on the 10-man squad. Vicksburg's John Hosner is the only repeat pick.

Rounding out the team, picked by conference coaches, are four seniors — Three Rivers' Tim Freeze, Gull Lake's Steve Sprague, Otsego's Tom Phillips and Plainwell's Keith Kozier.

Included among the honorable mention selections are South Haven's Rick Bus and Paw Paw's Karl Kroschinsky.

Minnesota Holding Gym Lead Over U-M

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Minnesota's Dan Jarosch was the top qualifier on the side horse as his team took a narrow lead Friday night over defending champ Michigan in the Big Ten Gymnastics Championships at Jensen Fieldhouse.

With only the optional phase of three of the six events left to be completed Saturday morning, Minnesota had 314.35 points to 312.35 for Michigan.

They were followed by Illinois, 305.3; Wisconsin, 281.4; Michigan State, 275.5; Indiana 272.35; Iowa, 269.45; and Ohio State, 258. Northwestern and Purdue did not compete.

Jarosch posted an 18.85 total

out of a possible 20 on the side horse after leading the compulsory exercises on the horse in the afternoon.

In floor exercises, the top qualifier was defending champion Chuck Stillerman of Michigan, who scored 18.1.

On the still rings, Michigan's Scott Ponto scored 18.9 to lead the qualifiers.

With the optional exercises still left to be held Saturday morning, Pierre LeClerc of Michigan held the lead on the vault, with a 9.35 out of 10, and on the parallel bars, with a 9.15. Michigan State's Glenn Hime and Iowa's George Wakerlin were tied at 9.2 to lead on the high bar.

The team winner will be determined after wrapping up the optional exercises Saturday morning. The eight qualifiers in each event will then compete in the afternoon for individual honors.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Jim Montgomery won the latest round in his game of leapfrog with Bruce Furniss and Furniss jumped over an unfortunate memory at the NCAA Swimming and Diving championships, which end tonight with Southern California expected to take its third straight team title.

Montgomery, a senior from Indiana University, forced the record book writers to scratch out "Bruce Furniss" and retype in "Jim Montgomery" in the 200-yard freestyle Friday night. Furniss had held the American record of 1:36.91 for seven hours before Montgomery regained the page in history with a spectacular front-running victory.

Montgomery's new mark is 1:36.53, which beat Furniss' hours-old mark, which beat Montgomery's ancient mark of 1:37.65.

"That was my strategy," Montgomery said of his blistering early pace. "I wanted to make sure no one caught me."

"The best way for me to swim was to swim my own race. I still had a lot left in the last 50 (yards). I could have gone some more. I didn't struggle at all. I felt really strong."

Furniss, who finished second in the 200-yard freestyle, did have the honor of touching home first in the 800-yard freestyle relay, in which Southern California shattered the old American record of 6:35.61 by nearly 2½ seconds.

The victorious foursome of John Naber, Dick Hannula, Scott Findorff, and Furniss blazed a new trail with a clocking of 6:33.13. Second place UCLA and third-place Indiana also bettered the old record, set by a different Southern Cal quartet in 1975.

And it was justice that Furniss, an effervescent freshman, brought the victory in. Only last summer at the World Aquatic Championships in Cali, Colombia, Furniss dove into the pool too early, disqualifying an American relay team that had set an apparent world record in the 800-meter freestyle.

Was he thinking about lightning striking twice? "The thought crossed my mind as I was starting," said Furniss, who holds world records in the 200-meter freestyle and 200-meter individual medley. "I hate to admit it, but I made a mistake last summer."

Besides the gold medal performance in the relay, Southern California profited from victories by Rod Strachan in the 400-yard individual medley and Naber in the 100-yard backstroke.

Strachan's victory was unexpected, as he barely beat his favored teammate, Steve Furniss, in 3:55.64. Scott Brown of Southern Cal finished third.

That depth, the best reason for Southern California's aura of invincibility here, was also Strachan's explanation for his triumph.

"Just being on a really good team like this, you've got to get a lot of competition," Strachan said. "You even have to get psyched up for practice."

Going into tonight's finals, Southern Cal led runnerup Tennessee 281-151. Indiana was third with 136 points, UCLA was fourth with 131 and Alabama was fifth with 77.

Gophers In Ice Finals

DENVER (AP) — Minnesota used final-period goals by Tom Vannelli, Mark Lambert and Tom Youngmans Friday night to overcome Boston University 4-2 and advance into tonight's finals of the NCAA Hockey Championships against Michigan Tech.

Tech reached the finals by virtue of Thursday night's 7-6 double-overtime victory over Brown. Boston and Brown were scheduled to meet earlier today for third place.

Power-play goals by Ken Kuzky and Mike Fidler in the second period had given Boston a 2-1 edge after Gopher freshman Don Madson opened the scoring.

Hillsdale Continues HEW Fight

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

HILLSDALE — Dr. George C. Roche III, president of Hillsdale college here, has informed U.S. department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) officials that Hillsdale college will continue its fight against federal imposed guidelines.

Last week, after nearly four months, HEW responded to the strongly independent stance adopted by the Hillsdale college board of trustees in October. The board decided not to comply with HEW regulations over Title IX, a set of guidelines covering sex discrimination applying to all schools receiving federal funds.

Hillsdale has not received a penny in federal funds in its 129-year history, according to Roche, but the HEW rules said a "recipient" school is one in which any student received federal loans or veterans benefits.

About 200 of the college's 1,000 students receive such assistance, Roche has said.

"It's none of the government's business what we do at Hillsdale as long as we pay our own bills," Roche told reporters in February, prior to a dinner meeting with about 90 Hillsdale friends and alumni at Laughlin Place Stables near Niles.

This week Dr. Roche in a letter to Martin H. Gerry, acting director, Office of Civil Rights, HEW, Washington, D.C., said:

"Thank you for your letter of March 17. It was reassuring to learn that the department of Health, Education and Welfare recognizes Hillsdale's long-standing policy of equal opportunity without discrimination by reason of race, religion or sex."

"Since Hillsdale has achieved this equal opportunity for all while pursuing a policy of complete independence from political funding, the trustees of the college are puzzled by HEW's insistence that our school is now subject to federal control. Frankly, such a claim has neither legal nor practical justification."

"Hillsdale college has always attempted to cooperate with its students in those cases where the individuals concerned found it necessary to associate themselves with federally-funded programs. We have not felt it appropriate for the college to judge the sources of student funding, since those sources should be primarily a concern of the individual involved. However, if the expansions of federal authority under Title IX are now to use such individual funding as a means of assailing the independence of Hillsdale college as a whole, we reserve the right to re-evaluate the programs involved."

"Certainly we welcome further discussions with HEW and look forward to hearing from (HEW) Secretary Mathews on this issue." The letter was signed by Roche.

Test For Cancer Has Risks, Too

By WARREN E. LEARY
AP Science Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A nationwide program for the early detection of breast cancer may actually cause cancer in a few women, says the president of the American Cancer Society, but preliminary results indicate the program is saving the lives of many more.

Dr. Benjamin F. Byrd Jr., cancer society president, said that 245,000 women over the age of 35 have been screened at 27 breast cancer detection demonstration projects throughout the country.

Answering questions Friday at the society's annual science-writers' seminar, Byrd acknowledged criticism that radiation from the breast X rays — called mammography — may cause cancer in a few women. Such X rays are used as part of the screening program. "Mammography has risks because it is an invasive technique," Byrd said. "But the results far outweigh the risks that may be associated with the study."

Byrd, who is also professor of surgery at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., said none of the women going through the project in the past two to three years has died from breast cancer and that three times as many malignant tumors were found than would have been detected by conventional means.

"As we know from years of experience, the survival rate is directly related to the stage at which the tumor is found and treated," Byrd said. "We are seeing them early, just as we had hoped."

Breast cancer is the leading cause of cancer deaths among women. The cancer society estimates that 68,000 new cases will be diagnosed this year in the United States and that 32,800 women will die from the disease.

Dr. Frank J. Rauscher, director of the National Cancer Institute, said the only possible risk was to women under 40, a possibility that came to light after the start of the detection project.

Troopers said when Merritt made his request, one officer said his name sounded familiar. A check of records disclosed a warrant for Merritt charging he failed to pay a $50 speeding fine last month.

Merritt was taken to court and fined $35 for contempt. He had to pay the speeding ticket too, troopers reported.

Detroit Offered $35 Million Aid

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has proposed a five-point plan to provide an additional $35 million a year in state funds for the financially troubled city of Detroit, city officials said Friday.

Milliken outlined the plan earlier in the week to Young at a meeting in Detroit.

City officials said Friday the mayor told Milliken the governor's plan did not provide enough money. The city, projecting a $100 million budget deficit by July 1977, has begun laying off hundreds of employees.

The mayor wants a statewide nuisance tax on beer, liquor and cigarettes to be levied, but Milliken said he has ruled out that possibility because the tax is "inequitable."

Meanwhile Friday, the city abandoned a controversial plan to save $265,000 by turning off streetlights a half-hour earlier and turning them on a half-hour later at night. The two-week effort led to a flood of complaints.

The Public Lighting Department said it may attempt to save money, instead, by unscrewing alternate light bulbs on major thoroughfares and cutting electric use in public buildings. City officials said one part of Milliken's plan is having the state pay $8.1 million in pension benefits for city bus system retirees. The city now makes the annual payments.

Milliken also proposed $8.9 million in state funds to be divided among the Detroit Institute of Arts, the Detroit Public Library and Detroit Historical Museum, city officials said.

The state also would permit the city to levy a three-mill garbage tax which would produce $15.2 million, city officials said.

Another part of Milliken's plan is $1.8 million for the Detroit Police Crime Lab, according to city officials.

The fifth part of the plan is $1.5 million in state aid for the Detroit harbor master operation, city officials said.

Decatur Township Is Bicentennial Community

DECATUR — Decatur township Supervisor Joseph Miller said he has been notified that the township has been designated a Bicentennial community by the national American Revolution Bicentennial commission. The designation is reserved for those communities with a Bicentennial celebration program broad enough to be of interest to the entire community and with at least one project that will be a lasting reminder of the Bicentennial, according to Paul Kaiser, Van Buren county Bicentennial chairman. The designation allows the community to fly the Bicentennial flag and to use the national commission's logo on official printed materials, according to Miss Mary Kaplan, chairman of the township's Bicentennial planning committee.

A child must reach the age of five on or before Dec. 1, 1976, to be eligible for enrollment in kindergarten next fall, the school said. Kindergarten registration will be held May 3 and 4 at the Bloomington elementary school.

Bloomington Twp. Meet

BLOOMINGDALE — The Bloomington township annual meeting will be held Saturday, April 3, at 2 p.m. in the Bloomington township hall, according to Harold Burleson, township clerk. The meeting will include a hearing on the proposed township budget for the upcoming fiscal year, he said.

Decatur Township Is Bicentennial Community

DECATUR — Decatur township Supervisor Joseph Miller said he has been notified that the township has been designated a Bicentennial community by the national American Revolution Bicentennial commission. The designation is reserved for those communities with a Bicentennial celebration program broad enough to be of interest to the entire community and with at least one project that will be a lasting reminder of the Bicentennial, according to Paul Kaizer, Van Buren county Bicentennial chairman. The designation allows the community to fly the Bicentennial flag and to use the national commission's logo on official printed materials, according to Miss May Kaplan, chairman of the township's Bicentennial planning committee.

'76 CLIP: Joe Giddis, 51, Pembroke, N.H., shows off his Bicentennial haircut which he got at a Concord, N.H., barbershop this week. But the '76 will come off in a few days because Giddis says it will be too much trouble to keep trimmed. (AP Wirephoto)

Trip Postponed

DENVER (AP) — Guru Maharaj Ji, spiritual leader of the Denver-based Divine Light Mission, has postponed a North American tour because of insufficient funds. Joe Ancit, press spokesman for the mission, said Friday the tour in April and May would have cost an estimated $75,000.

Nixon Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's chief archivist says the 5,000 hours of Nixon White House tapes and some 42 million Nixon documents must be moved to better quarters or face dangers of deterioration. James B. Rhoads said the tapes and documents accumulated during the administration of President Richard Nixon — currently the subject of ownership litigation — are improperly packed and stored.

Nixon Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's chief archivist says the 5,000 hours of Nixon White House tapes and some 42 million Nixon documents must be moved to better quarters or face dangers of deterioration. James B. Rhoads said the tapes and documents accumulated during the administration of President Richard Nixon — currently the subject of ownership litigation — are improperly packed and stored.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Young Man Should Buy Growth Stocks

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I am a young, single man in a high income tax bracket. I understand municipal bonds pay 7 per cent and are tax-exempt. If I sell stock on which I have a profit must I pay a tax on that profit if I reinvest the proceeds in municipal bonds?

A. To answer your last question first: That stock profit is subject to taxes regardless of how you spend the proceeds.

As to yield on municipals: There is no fixed rate and I would be doing a disservice if I accepted your 7 per cent figure — or any figure — as a basis for discussion. If you want to know what municipals are yielding, discuss the matter with a large brokerage firm or with any municipal bond firm. Yields will cover a wide range — depending (as is the case with all bonds) on the credit rating of the borrower. Don't be misled by high yields. Municipal bonds are subject to the same rules of risk as any other bond.

Finally — if a young man is seeking to lighten his tax burden, he should put the bulk of his investable money into growth stocks which pay little or no dividends.

Municipal bonds are a great "hiding place" for those seeking tax-exempt income but your investment policy must be made of sterner stuff.

Q. How can you judge the performance of a bond fund?

A. A bond fund is designed, primarily, to provide income. Highest quality bonds today are yielding 8½, 8¾, 9 per cent. What is your fund yielding?

Shulsky welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column. For information to check on obsolete securities, please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address your requests to Sam Shulsky, care of this newspaper.

BH Recall Meeting Tuesday

Charles Henderson will be the guest speaker at a recall meeting to be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Benton Harbor library, according to Maurice Bishop, chairman of the recall drive.

Henderson, a Benton Harbor high school teacher, has been mentioned as a potential candidate for mayor in event that Benton Harbor Mayor Charles F. Joseph is recalled as a result of the movement headed by Bishop. Henderson is also considering running as a Democrat for 44th District State legislator. He was an unsuccessful candidate for 44th district state representative in 1974 when he was defeated by Ray Mittan (R-Niles).

According to Bishop, also at Tuesday's meeting certificates of appreciation will be given to city residents and honorary awards will be given to some senior citizens.

Recall petitions have been filed against five members of the Benton Harbor city commission, including Mayor Joseph and Commissioners Charles Shepherd, Winston Minott, Alfred Williams and Barbara Huckaby.

Refreshments will be served and the meeting is open to the public.

Car, Bike Collide; Woman Hurt

Three people, including a woman on a bicycle, received apparently minor injuries in two separate traffic accidents investigated Friday by St. Joseph police and Berrien sheriff's officers.

Treated and released from Memorial hospital was Thelma V. Primley, 56, of 1232 Riverwood terrace, who was riding a bicycle on a sidewalk in the 2000 block of Niles avenue, according to city police.

Police said the bicycle and a car collided about 1:34 p.m. where a parking lot driveway crossed the sidewalk. The car was being driven out of the parking lot by Mark A. Swingler, 22, of 4191 Hicks avenue, Benton township. No tickets were issued, police indicated.

Sheriff's officers said two people were injured in a three-car accident about 11 p.m. on Grand Mere road, near John Beards road, Lincoln township.

Treated and released from Memorial hospital were a driver, Harold Olds, 53, of 1813 Hawthorne avenue, St. Joseph, and his passenger, Roberta Badac, 33, of 284 Elvren drive, Fairplain.

Officers said a car driven by Jeffery L. Cutshaw, 17, of 6020 Willow Creek, Stevensville, collided with the Olds auto and also with an auto driven by Paul W. Jorgensen, 38, of 2654 Trail lane, St. Joseph. Cutshaw and Jorgensen were reported unhurt. Officers said Cutshaw was issued a summons for reckless driving.

Officials Deny Medicaid Probe Election Year Ploy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health Education and Welfare is beginning a new crackdown on Medicaid fraud and abuse that costs taxpayers an estimated $750 million annually, but the department denies the campaign is an election year ploy.

Federal and state examiners will begin the probe in Massachusetts in April and in Ohio in June. Three other big Medicaid spending states will be selected for similar probes in the next year. New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Texas and Wisconsin are being considered.

HEW Secretary David Mathews told a news conference Friday the investigators will focus on doctors, nursing homes, pharmacists and clinical laboratories submitting the highest volume of Medicaid bills seeking government reimbursement for treating poor people.

"We recognize that the overwhelming majority of health care providers are ethical and professional," he said. "Our new campaign seeks to ferret out the comparative few who break the law."

Examples of Medicaid fraud and abuse cited by HEW include billing for services not rendered, inflating bills, double billing for the same service, billing for more expensive drugs than those dispensed and participating in illegal kickbacks and rebates.

Mathews denied the campaign is aimed at blunting criticism by Republican challenger Ronald Reagan, who has said the Ford administration does not aggressively pursue the fraud problem.

"I haven't read any of Mr. Reagan's statements," the secretary said. "I haven't taken them into consideration in developing this program. I'm not prepared to answer any questions about that."

Mathews said HEW had "advised the White House of what we were doing, but there were no other contacts that I am aware of."

The $750 million figure on the cost of Medicaid overcharges is "purely a subjective estimate" prepared by HEW, he said. The estimate amounts to roughly 5 per cent of the $14.7 billion federal and state governments are spending this year for the health care of 23.2 million medically needy persons and welfare recipients under the Medicaid program.

Congress also has criticized HEW for giving inadequate attention to Medicaid fraud. Until last May, only one person at HEW worked part-time on fraud and abuse problems. Five persons are assigned full time now. Congress has authorized 108 positions. A larger criminal investigation unit of 74 investigators is being assembled at HEW.

Reagan's statements, the secretary said, "I haven't taken them into consideration in developing this program. I'm not prepared to answer any questions about that."

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Young Man Should Buy Growth Stocks

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I am a young, single man in a high income tax bracket. I understand municipal bonds pay 7 per cent and are tax-exempt. If I sell stock on which I have a profit must I pay a tax on that profit if I reinvest the proceeds in municipal bonds?

A. To answer your last question first: That stock profit is subject to taxes regardless of how you spend the proceeds.

As to yield on municipals: There is no fixed rate and I would be doing a disservice if I accepted your 7 per cent figure — or any figure — as a basis for discussion. If you want to know what municipals are yielding, discuss the matter with a large brokerage firm or with any municipal bond firm. Yields will cover a wide range — depending (as is the case with all bonds) on the credit rating of the borrower. Don't be misled by high yields. Municipal bonds are subject to the same rules of risk as any other bond.

Finally — if a young man is seeking to lighten his tax burden, he should put the bulk of his investable money into growth stocks which pay little or no dividends.

Municipal bonds are a great "hiding place" for those seeking tax-exempt income but your investment policy must be made of sterner stuff.

Q. How can you judge the performance of a bond fund?

A. A bond fund is designed, primarily, to provide income. Highest quality bonds today are yielding 8½, 8¾, 9 per cent. What is your fund yielding?

BH Recall Meeting Tuesday

Charles Henderson will be the guest speaker at a recall meeting to be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Benton Harbor library, according to Maurice Bishop, chairman of the recall drive.

Henderson, a Benton Harbor high school teacher, has been mentioned as a potential candidate for mayor in event that Benton Harbor Mayor Charles F. Joseph is recalled as a result of the movement headed by Bishop. Henderson is also considering running as a Democrat for 44th District State legislator. He was an unsuccessful candidate for 44th district state representative in 1974 when he was defeated by Ray Mittan (R-Niles).

According to Bishop, also at Tuesday's meeting certificates of appreciation will be given to city residents and honorary awards will be given to some senior citizens.

Recall petitions have been filed against five members of the Benton Harbor city commission, including Mayor Joseph and Commissioners Charles Shepherd, Winston Minott, Alfred Williams and Barbara Huckaby.

Refreshments will be served and the meeting is open to the public.

Joseph salutes EDWARD J. WEISBRUCH who retired as Manager of Twin Cities Airport, January 1, 1976. "Ed" as he is known to his many friends, began his duties as Airport Manager March 15, 1954, largely at the insistence of the late Howard Anthony. An excellent pilot with a thorough background in aviation and flying procedures, he was instrumental in helping the airport expand from a small rural airport to one of the largest and best equipped airports in the state.

When Ed assumed his duties, the airport consisted of 235 acres, and at the time of his retirement the airport contained 446 acres. In 1954, it was valued at $763,000, and current appraisals estimate the value at something in excess of $30,000,000.

During the period of his tenure, airline service in the form of North Central Airlines came to Twin Cities January 1, 1960. On June 17, 1968, a modern, spacious terminal building was dedicated; on December 5, 1967, the latest type of instrument landing system was installed; and on October 19, 1973, a modern control tower was completed. These are but a few of the many improvements to Twin Cities Airport which were in large part the result of Ed's efforts. Other items include extension and improvement of the runways and installation of a modern lighting system.

RESOLVED FURTHER that the City Commission of the City of St. Joseph acknowledges the many contributions of Edward J. Weisbruch to local aviation and our community, and wishes him continued success in his retirement years.

After discussion, roll call resulted as follows: Yeas: Commissioners Gast, Gillespie, Hanley and Smith. Nays: None. Absent: Commissioner Selent. Motion declared carried and resolution adopted.

St. Joe Postal Veteran Retires After 41 Years

Edward T. Gustafson, 62, who rose from substitute clerk to the No. 2 position as Superintendent of Postal operations, has retired from the St. Joseph Post Office. Retirement was Feb. 29. He has nearly 41 years in government service.

Gustafson was the last to retire of the original crew that moved into the present St. Joseph Post Office when it was opened in September of 1937.

Gustafson started working in the post office when it was located on State street in St. Joseph. He started on July 14, 1935.

When he entered the U.S.

Army in April, 1942, he was assigned to postal work. In the 39 months he was in the army he accompanied the Third, Seventh and Ninth armies in the invasion of Normandy, through Northern France, into the Rhineland and Central Europe.

Gustafson returned to the St. Joseph Post Office in October of 1945. He later became superintendent of mails, then assistant postmaster. That title was changed to superintendent of postal operations two years ago although the duties remained the same.

He served under five postmasters, William F. Murphy, Mrs. Fremont Evans, Ervin Kibathi, Thomas Slatery and the present postmaster, Robert McMullen.

A native of St. Joseph, Gustafson and his wife, the former Mary E. Cunningham of Benton Harbor, live at 2307 Mt. Curve, St. Joseph. They have two sons, Daniel F. and Kenneth E. Gustafson, both of St. Joseph.

Population Of World To Hit

4 Billion Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The human population of the world will reach four billion on Sunday, according to the Population Reference Bureau, and more than one of every three persons will be under the age 15.

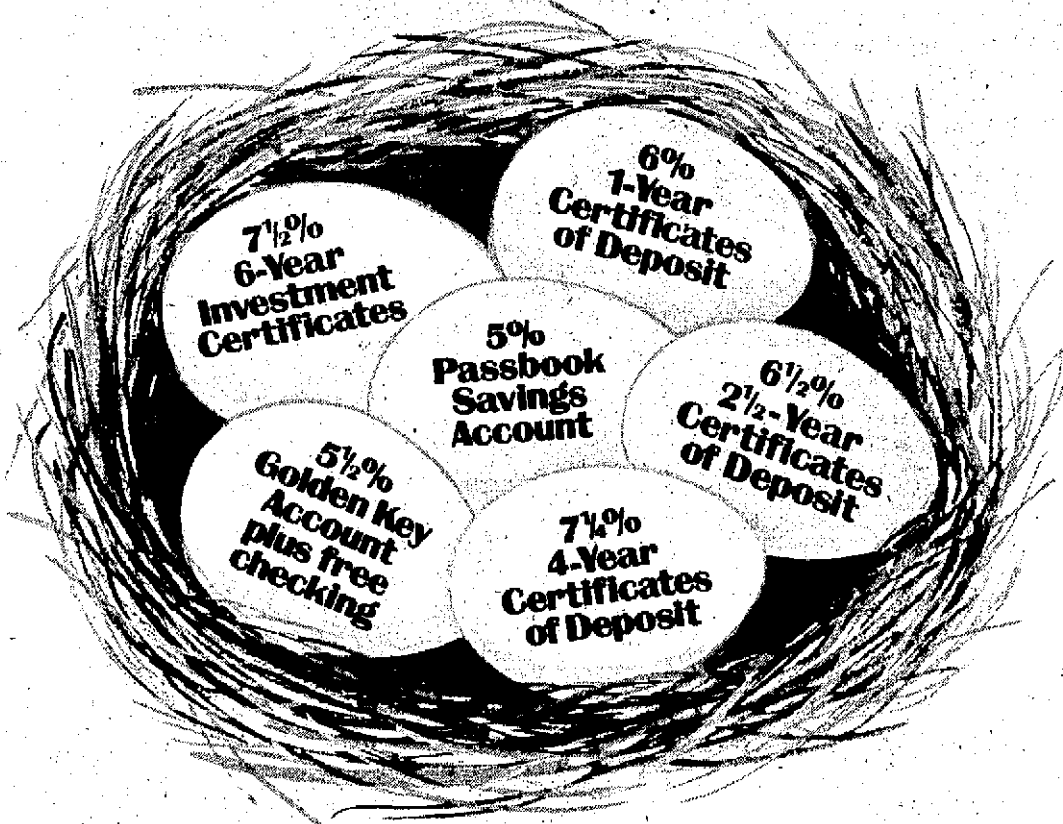

The population is currently growing at a slightly slower rate than experts believed a year ago, but many of those under 15 will soon reach their childbearing years.

It has taken 16 years — since 1950 — for the population to grow from 3 billion to 4 billion, but population experts say it will be only 13 years, until 1980, before the earth will count 5 billion humans.

VISUAL AID PATENTED: Donald Frabe, owner of Don's Mobile Home Moving, South Haven, demonstrates telescoping mirror device he created and recently had patented. Called a Mirror-Matic, the device is intended to allow drivers of trucks with trailers such as mobile homes to have full rear vision without leaving truck cab. Device will extend up to 14 feet from the cab and the mirrors moved from left-to-right through controls in the cab. It took Frabe four years to obtain patent which will last 17 years. He is now seeking manufacturer-distributor for device he estimates will cost about $400. (Tom Renner photo)

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR SONNY BONO

I'm a father who's about to be divorced. Can you tell me how to make things easier on our daughter, who's 4?—H.R., Chattanooga, Tenn.

● I can tell you how we worked it with Chastity. Kids accept the split-up better if their hours with Dad after the divorce match the time spent with him before it. Dads who get kids on weekends are forced to pack a week of play into a few hours, and sometimes they'd rather be home watching the ball game. Kids sense the unreality, and Dad resents it because the weekend is his only time to relax, as it was before. It's important to preserve the pre-divorce atmosphere. When Chastity is with me for weekends or days at a stretch, I don't spend every second with her. I never did that before; if I did now, it would be unnatural. We do what we did when Cher was around—watch TV, go to dinner or out for ice cream, play games, see a movie, sit in the park and go shopping. That's why Chastity is so well-adjusted. Her lifestyle hasn't changed.

FOR F. LEE BAILEY

There have been many rumors about how you got into the Hearst case and how much money you were being paid. What's your story?—Robert Downey, Atlantic City, N.J.

● Mr. Randolph Hearst asked me to defend his daughter. When I agreed to do so, I had no idea what the fee would be because I didn't know how much time it was going to take. Even if we had agreed on a fee, it wouldn't be up to me to say what it was. That would be up to the discretion of the client.

FOR BERNADETTE STANIS, star of "Good Times"

When you first arrived in Hollywood from New York, was it all you thought it would be?—E.H., Asbury Park, N.J.

● The city was—the people weren't. I couldn't believe that most (not all) of the performers were so crude—and as hard as nails. They're envious of everyone who is making it. I don't know why I should have been the cause of anyone's resentment. I'm not jealous; I believe that sooner or later we all have to pay our dues in life. I'm addressing these remarks to no one in particular but everyone in general.

FOR REP. SHIRLEY CHISHOLM (D.-N.Y.)

I hear you recently bought a home in upstate New York some 450 miles from New York City. Are you going to make a dramatic move away from Brooklyn?—Peter Neville, Brookport, N.Y.

● There is no political motive behind my real-estate investment in Amherst, N.Y. I bought the house there for investment purposes. My residence is, as it has been during most of my lifetime, in Brooklyn.

FOR ART LINKLETTER

After what happened to your daughter Diane [who committed suicide in 1969 after taking LSD], are you in favor of legalizing marijuana?—M. Macaione, Escondido, Calif.

● I'm against legalizing it. I hope and pray it never will be legal because it's just another chemical crutch. On the other hand, I don't believe anyone who smokes pot should be sent to prison as a felon, thus ruining his (or her) life and making society guilty of overlook. I believe in the California law: a person with less than an ounce in his possession is fined and cited for a misdemeanor.

FOR LEONARD NIMOY of "Star Trek"

I recently saw you on the "$10,000 Pyramid," and I wonder what makes dramatic actors appear on game shows.—J. Morgan, Grand Rapids, Mich.

● I can't answer for others, unless it's to keep themselves in the public eye. As for me, it happens to be one of the few games that I play well. I always watch it when I'm home, too. I knew it would be fun, and fun isn't that easy to find these days. Some game shows (and I won't mention any names) are an embarrassment, and I often wonder why people get into them.

FOR BARBARA WALTERS

You once said you wanted to change your name to Babs Elliott. Were you serious?—Michael K. Yannetta, Piskackyville, Ill.

● No. I said I disliked my name when I was younger because it sounded so ordinary. I thought "Babs Elliott" seemed so sophisticated and crisp. However, these days I accept myself—and my name—with much more comfort.

FOR KAREN CRASSLE, star of "Little House on the Prairie"

Is your own real-life personality like that of Caroline Ingalls on "Little House on the Prairie"?—D.M., Racine, Wis.

● I believe in many of the same things Caroline believes in, such as the importance of family and friends. But I'm single and have no children, so my way of life is quite different. I'm interested in books, plays, politics, women's rights and dozens of other things that poor Caroline never would have had time or money for.

FOR KEITH JACKSON, sportscaster

Who would you choose as the greatest athlete of the last 10 years?—Mary Solky, Chicago, Ill.

● The most complete athlete I have watched in the past decade is O. J. Simpson. His fame has come primarily as a football player, but at the University of Southern California, he was once a member of a track relay team that set a world record. I believe he could have competed in the Olympics or played baseball successfully or done almost anything he wanted.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

I want to be a writer. Is sex an absolutely essential ingredient of a successful novel?—J.R., Tuscaloosa, Ala.

● We talked to three successful writers, Louis L'Amour, author of 62 Western books and 33 stories, says not one of them contains racy passages or obscenities: "I don't think it's important to explore the sex lives of my characters. It's not the No. 1 thing in our lives, even though it's essential and interesting." But Harold Robbins says: "Sex is as necessary in a book as in real life. Portraying the world without it is avoiding the issue. But, like a good steak, it should not be overdone." Roma Jaffe says: "If the novel is about cannibalism, you don't need sex. If it deals with personal relationships, you do. It all depends on the plot."

The Richard Nixon I Know

By Charles W. Colson

Formerly Special Counsel to the President, 1969-73

Charles Colson was one of the five men closest to President Nixon. After a Watergate conviction and a brief prison term, he turned to religion—and he describes his Nixon years and subsequent conversion in intimate detail in his new book, "Born Again" (Chosen/Revell, $8.95). Here, exclusively for FAMILY WEEKLY, he examines the nature of the man who was for years his guiding light and who, he says, is still his friend.

It was near midnight of May 8, 1972. North Vietnamese divisions were slicing through the heart of South Vietnam. The White House was ablaze with lights, with chattering teletype machines in the Situation Room flashing "eyes-only" reports while waves of American planes sprinkled Haiphong Harbor with mines and rained tons of bombs on North Vietnam.

Richard Nixon had just announced his decision to do these things—live over three networks. The Soviet Summit, three years in the making and a cornerstone of our ingenious grand design for world peace, was in instant jeopardy. Both Nixon and Kissinger believed then the Soviets would cancel.

But what if Nixon were wrong and the Soviets did more than cancel the Summit? What if they retaliated? And what of the Chinese, with whom we had just begun a suspicion-laden dialogue? Would there be World War III? I felt nauseated. And the election in a war-weary nation was but six months away. The President was leading by a shaky six points in the public opinion polls.

"Mr. President, I am afraid this could cost us the election," I said ruefully.

But Richard Nixon's jaw tightened. "So what? It's the right thing to do," he said. "If I didn't do it, the Presidency wouldn't be worth getting re-elected to!"

This gritty stand will go down in history as but one fleeting moment in President Nixon's grisly and futile effort to save South Vietnam. But I will remember it as a time when the Richard Nixon I knew showed selfless courage, the stuff of which great men are made.

The Russians flinched, South Vietnam was for the moment spared, and the Summit came to pass. This and his Marco Polo-like trip to China were two diplomatic triumphs in fast succession, and Nixon's noblest dreams seemed within reach. "Chuck, what I want when we're through, more than anything, is to leave this a little safer world than we found it four years ago so your boys and others like them won't have to fight," he said wistfully as we dined together one summer evening on a stone terrace of his palatial estate at San Clemente, staring at the dazzling blue vastness of the Pacific below and beyond.

But politics could easily figure in even critical foreign policy decisions. One autumn day in 1971, the President, Bob Haldeman and I were reviewing plans for the China and Russia visits. I mentioned a "coincidence": Nixon would be returning from these trips on the eve of the New Hampshire and California primaries. "No coincidence," Haldeman snapped, unsmiling. "So what if New Hampshire advances the date of the primary?" I chided. (Such a proposal was before the New Hampshire legislature.) "We'll move up the China trip," Nixon laughed. We all smiled at the joke—but I was never sure if it was a joke.

That a man seeking greatness could be at times consumed with pettiness is but one of the many paradoxes of Richard Nixon. Once he called me after a TV interview in which Dan Rather of CBS had stung him with a string of snidely worded questions. "Get a hundred people to call Rather and complain," he commanded. Then he proceeded to dictate precise messages which these callers should convey.

He was blowing off steam. I knew it; but I also followed his orders. Soon we had one Republican Committee employee assigned full time to carrying out such assignments, which included carefully orchestrated "letters to the editor" campaigns across the country. (The technique was not invented by Mr. Nixon. I'd seen similar devices employed in the six political campaigns I'd worked in since 1956.) Nixon asked for and received weekly reports on our success.

As a one-time heel-clicking Marine Captain whose spine tingled every time the National Anthem was played, I followed my orders unquestioningly. Even as I came to know Nixon well, I never lost my reverent awe of the President, or the Presidency, which for me were synonymous. "Chuck, I want this on the best-seller list," Nixon told me once, slamming a red-and-black jacketed book on his massive polished desk. I must have looked startled. His order came in the middle of a chain of instructions about a press briefing on strategic arms talks.

I saw at a glance that the book, "The News Twisters," written by a New York TV critic, was destined to preserve the author's obscurity. It was chock-full of charts and graphs showing the anti-Nixon bias of TV coverage of the 1968 campaign. Well done and scholarly—but it was definitely not bedtime reading.

But an order is an order. At my staff meeting that morning, I asked if anyone knew how to get a book on the best-seller list. One enterprising staffer discovered that some best-seller lists were based on weekly phone surveys of several key New York bookstores. Once we knew that, it was only a matter of logistics. I sent $8,000 in campaign funds to a stalwart supporter in New York. He recruited several young volunteers who roamed the streets, buying out one by one the total supply of a dozen stores. The following Monday, I proudly strode into the Oval Office and laid Time magazine on Mr. Nixon's desk. There on the best-seller list was "The News Twisters." The Commander-in-Chief's orders were carried out, and an excited publisher rushed into a second printing (which doubtless resulted in the largest book-remainder sale in history).

I have never encountered a more brilliant mind than Richard Nixon's. I watched him on countless occasions listen to lengthy and complex briefings, staring impatiently and occasionally pulling a single, folded sheet of yellow legal-pad paper from his pocket to jot down notes (usually reminders to himself of things which had nothing to do with the briefing). Invariably when it was over

Nixon would cogently tick off the critical points, distilling an hour's worth of words to their absolute essence.

I always marveled at his capacity and was sometimes embarrassed by it. One day I was outlining my plan for a critical legislative issue. "But wait a minute," he interrupted, "that isn't what you recommended in that memo you sent me..." Then he paused, looked at the ceiling and recalled, "It was about seven or eight months ago, I think." He then summarized what I had written. Flustered, I bluffed my way through the rest of the conversation, scurried back to my office and found my file copy. It was nine months old; Nixon's recollection was uncannily precise. I had to learn to prepare more carefully for my meetings with him.

But such brilliance failed him when it came to the Watergate tapes. "It was all Bob Haldeman's idea—stupid, utterly stupid. I told Bob to take the system out, but he didn't. You know Bob," he lamented to me one day in the midst of the Watergate maelstrom just before Christmas 1973. Yet, of course, as history must conclude, he knew of the tapes before their disclosure, deliberately decided not to destroy them and kept them until the very end of his Presidency. Then ultimately he was forced, as he must have known he would be, to turn over the proof of his own lies. To this day I do not understand it—nor does he.

Nor can I understand how a man who trusted so few could put his life into the hands of a man—John Dean—whom he scarcely knew. Secretive, lonely, often distrustful, Nixon shared his innermost confidences with only a handful of people—secretary Rosemary Woods, daughter Julie, talking companion Bebe Rebozo, Bob Haldeman and often me (though not so often as I thought then, now that I have read many of the Watergate tapes). Hardly anyone could say they knew him—maybe five or six of us believed we did. He told me many things, some so personal I shall never repeat them, but it was only after he trusted and tried me for a year. And yet, from the middle of February to the middle of March 1973, he allowed himself to become a coconspirator in the cover-up of the Watergate break-in with John Dean, a young, untried member of the White House staff he had seen in his office on only three prior occasions. Criminal conspirators, smart ones anyway, do not make mistakes like that, and even his worst detractors credit him with intelligence. Why, then?

The modern-day Presidency is the result of 30 years of steadily inflating public expectations. A President is expected to be guardian of the Nation's morals, commander of the armies, negotiator of treaties, provider of jobs and the one who sees that Social Security checks are delivered on time. Impossible.

Note how each new President vows to maintain a small staff, then hires a larger one than his predecessor. Given the inhuman demands of the office, it is unavoidable. Add to that Mr. Nixon's own penchant for public relations and his insistence on quiet and solitude for his tough decision-making. The result was a system created by computerlike Chief-of-Staff Haldeman in which orderliness was an end in itself.

The White House became one grand theater. "At 3:07, Governor Evans will enter the Oval Office; move to the right; Ollie Atkins will enter from the side door for photos. . . . You may tell the Governor you recall his letter of January 24 . . . at 3:11 call for John Whitaker . . . 3:14, hand out gifts—Presidential cufflinks. . . ." Such detailed instructions were contained in comprehensive briefing papers governing every minute of the President's public day. There was no room for the pesky intrusions of policy dissenters, or of nonconspirators sounding alarms.

Often, in the quiet of his private office, puffing on his meerschaum pipe (never in public), folded into an easy chair, he would read or muse over a tough decision. Then at the appointed time he would change from a baggy sports jacket, wash his face, slap his cheeks to restore their healthy glow and begin his walk to the Oval Office. Shoulders erect, a smile across his face, he stepped to a Presidential rhythm. On stage. Lights.

Nixon had an uncanny ability to rise to his role. I recall one Saturday morning when staff morale was low because of reverses in Vietnam and slumping opinion polls. Nixon had a bad cold; his face was sallow, his eyes watering, his voice cracking. "Let me call the doctor in," I urged. "No, no, no, I'm fine. You know, Chuck, the leader has to be 'up.' He can't afford to be 'down.' I've got to set the tone. Look at Henry's [Kissinger's] face and you know we're getting the tar beaten out of us." An hour later I returned to the Oval Office where Mr. Nixon was meeting with a group of Congressmen. He was buoyant, not a trace of his cold remained except for a slightly husky voice. Later we walked through several offices. He stopped to compliment a secretary on her dress, joked with the police and then returned to the residence; and only then collapsed, gray-faced into an easy chair.

Only occasionally would spontaneity burst through. Like the time the President was greeting a blinded war veteran. He was suddenly embarrassed when he found himself describing the great seal of the United States embroidered into the rug which the man could not see. Nixon took his visitor by the hand, got on his hands and knees and guided the man's fingers over the surface of the seal. That wasn't in the script.

His most heroic dealings were in the field of foreign policy. For four years he masterfully manipulated the strings of world power. He told one thing to the Soviets and another to the Chinese, playing power bloc against power bloc. Such high-powered diplomatic maneuvering simply must be done in secret. Deceit is deliberate among the world leaders who play high-stakes poker. (a game at which Nixon had, by the way, always excelled).

Some say he was plastic, all veneer. True, the public President's mannerisms had a sort of mechanical and deliberate quality; but backstage he was the average middle-class citizen from Whittier who tucked a napkin under his chin when he ate, with all the human foibles most of us have, and maybe a few more.

The private Nixon could wriggle and squirm ("save the plan, stonewall it") in private conversations with Haldeman and Ehrlichman. But at the same time he could march into the Press Room, a smiling and confident President, to tell the nation he knew nothing of a Watergate cover-up. This was, in fact, gross deceit. But for those of us who walked on and off the stage with him, it was not as bewildering as it might seem; there had been four years of dangerous conditioning.

Then, too, he was at his weakest point when his greatest crisis came. In late 1972, when Vietnam negotiations broke down, massive bombing was resumed, relationships with Kissinger were strained near their breaking point, and vicious press abuse was heaped upon him. The private Nixon showed signs of serious stress. Fatigue caused his voice to slur on occasions. His face aged markedly.

"Nixon shared his innermost confidences with only a handful of people—secretary Rosemary Woods, daughter Julie, talking companion Bebe Rebozo, Bob Haldeman and often me (though not so often as I thought then.)"

Richard Nixon was a man of many, often irreconcilable, parts: so gentle he could never bring himself to fire a subordinate (even when Nixon summoned Interior Secretary Walter Hickel to his office to dismiss him, it was John Ehrlichman who had to swing the axe) or correct a secretary's misspelling; yet Nixon was so cold that he relished calling then-Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to congratulate him on his decisiveness in ordering state troopers to assault rioting prisoners at Attica prison where 42 men died. He was also so loving of his Quaker mother that he held her up as a saint. He cared fervently about future generations being spared war, and yet, knowing many men would die, he unhesitatingly ordered B-52's to do their bombing. He was unable to be charitable to his enemies, even in the moments of his own triumphs.

In this brief space, I can give but a glimpse of the man. I can't offer justifications for his moral failures; I was too much a part of them myself. Nor could I catalog his accomplishments; future historians will tend to that more charitably, I believe, than any contemporaries.

Mr. Nixon's greatest contribution still may be unrealized. For perhaps the significance of his fall was that it proved the bankruptcy of our nearly sanctified notion that man can do anything. Some day the country may understand that.

The fact is that all men and women—Richard Nixon and all 200 million of us—are fallible, possessors of a nature both good and evil. It is only the Power beyond ourselves that can rescue us from our darker sides. Richard Nixon might well have listened to the plaintive words of a President named Lincoln: "Without God, I must fail." From Lincoln's humility came strength, and from his prayer came the firm hand of the Almighty to lead a people from darkness. Maybe it will be Richard Nixon's failure which will cause a nation to remind itself anew that without God we too must fail.

Some say he was plastic, all veneer. True, the public President's mannerisms had a sort of mechanical and deliberate quality; but backstage he was the average middle-class citizen from Whittier who tucked a napkin under his chin when he ate, with all the human foibles most of us have, and maybe a few more.

The private Nixon could wriggle and squirm ("save the plan, stonewall it") in private conversations with Haldeman and Ehrlichman. But at the same time he could march into the Press Room, a smiling and confident President, to tell the nation he knew nothing of a Watergate cover-up. This was, in fact, gross deceit. But for those of us who walked on and off the stage with him, it was not as bewildering as it might seem; there had been four years of dangerous conditioning.

Then, too, he was at his weakest point when his greatest crisis came. In late 1972, when Vietnam negotiations broke down, massive bombing was resumed, relationships with Kissinger were strained near their breaking point, and vicious press abuse was heaped upon him. The private Nixon showed signs of serious stress. Fatigue caused his voice to slur on occasions. His face aged markedly.

Julie Bebe Rosemary

"Nixon shared his innermost confidences with only a handful of people—secretary Rosemary Woods, daughter Julie, talking companion Bebe Rebozo, Bob Haldeman and often me (though not so often as I thought then.)"

Richard Nixon was a man of many, often irreconcilable, parts: so gentle he could never bring himself to fire a subordinate (even when Nixon summoned Interior Secretary Walter Hickel to his office to dismiss him, it was John Ehrlichman who had to swing the axe) or correct a secretary's misspelling; yet Nixon was so cold that he relished calling then-Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to congratulate him on his decisiveness in ordering state troopers to assault rioting prisoners at Attica prison where 42 men died. He was also so loving of his Quaker mother that he held her up as a saint. He cared fervently about future generations being spared war, and yet, knowing many men would die, he unhesitatingly ordered B-52's to do their bombing. He was unable to be charitable to his enemies, even in the moments of his own triumphs.

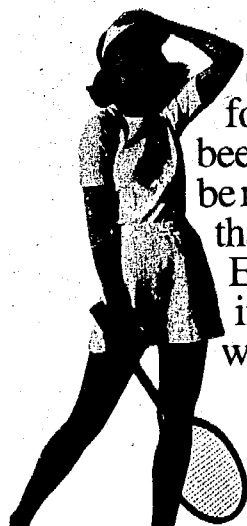

In this brief space, I can give but a glimpse of the man. I can't offer justifications for his moral failures; I was too much a part of them myself. Nor could I catalog his accomplishments; future historians will tend to that more charitably, I believe, than any contemporaries.

Mr. Nixon's greatest contribution still may be unrealized. For perhaps the significance of his fall was that it proved the bankruptcy of our nearly sanctified notion that man can do anything. Some day the country may understand that.

The fact is that all men and women—Richard Nixon and all 200 million of us—are fallible, possessors of a nature both good and evil. It is only the Power beyond ourselves that can rescue us from our darker sides. Richard Nixon might well have listened to the plaintive words of a President named Lincoln: "Without God, I must fail." From Lincoln's humility came strength, and from his prayer came the firm hand of the Almighty to lead a people from darkness. Maybe it will be Richard Nixon's failure which will cause a nation to remind itself anew that without God we too must fail.

Health Watcher® USA Announces Its Sensational Plan for...

WEIGHT LOSS BY THE HOUR

■ 8 AM...126 POUNDS!

■ 8 PM...124 POUNDS!

■ 8 AM TOMORROW
...122 POUNDS!

"There's no more healthful way to lose so much weight so fast!"

Dr. Louis F. Castaldo, M.D.

There's no easier way to lose — no calories to count, no carbohydrates to watch, no special recipes to prepare, no expensive special foods to buy!

Yet, incredibly, on this fantastic new Health Watcher Weight-Loss Plan your hunger — often the problem with these 1,000-500 calorie starvation diets — actually disappears in as little as 24 hours. You feel great — and in an incredibly few days — you start to look great!

Imagine losing a full pound in the first 6 hours! 2 pounds between morning and night! Up to 5 pounds of fluid and fat in the first 24 hours! If that sounds unbelievable, get the entire program now and read what an eminent doctor says about it. Read what people who have tried it say happened to them! Read why it may very well be the fastest, most effective, safest way to lose weight that has ever been discovered.

What's the secret? It's as simple as 1-2-3! 1) You take a single high-powered diet supplement tablet containing natural bran, for bulk, plus natural vitamins for health. 2) You take it with your choice of any of a number of healthful, nutritious natural fruit juices! 3) You don't tease your body with low-calorie starvation diets that only stimulate your appetite and leave you constantly hungry. Instead you shut down your food intake and slow down your whole digestive process for a brief period — the duration is up to you! Anytime you want to stop you can. The Complete Health Watcher Weight Loss Plan tells you exactly how — precisely when. When you follow it, the weight loss results are so fast, so fantastic you'll be amazed!

How much can I lose? The most amazing part is that you lose the most weight in the first few days — from 2 to 5 pounds in the first 24 hours — up to 10 pounds in just one weekend. So if you're just 5 or 10 pounds heavier than your ideal, you can probably achieve in 100 hours or less what might take you 2 to 3 weeks or more on conventional "low calorie" or "low carbohydrate" diets that may leave you hungry, nervous and constantly famished! So on the Health Watcher Plan, you can lose as much as you need to — fast! It's up to you!

Suppose I want to lose a great deal, say 20 pounds? You could do it in as little as 7 days, depending on how overweight you are when you start. You could easily lose more — a 240 pounder might lose 10% to 15% of his body weight!

Will the Weight-Loss-by-the-Hour Plan interfere with my social life, or tennis, or golf? It needn't make the slightest difference. You could go on it for 5 week days, stop on the weekend, and resume the following week if you want — and keep the weight loss you've already achieved. The plan tells you exactly how! Or you can do it only on weekends if that suits you better. There's no need to give up any activity you enjoy — golf, tennis, swimming — whatever you normally like, you can do.

Will it affect my sex life? You bet it will — for the better! As you begin to shed all that extra weight, your energy level starts to increase. Not to mention the fact that you'll feel more desirable, and look it too!

Is the Weight-Loss-by-the-Hour Plan medically approved? Before beginning any weight loss program, says Dr. Louis F. Castaldo, M.D., you should consult your physician. But he continues "I do not hesitate to recommend Health Watcher's Weight-Loss-by-the-Hour Plan as the safest, healthiest way to lose pounds in the shortest period of time. Especially this is true for those frustrated people who have had little or no success with other methods of dieting. This amazing regimen, properly followed, may well be the beginning of a whole new life style!"

Send now for the plan, complete with everything you need on this no-risk guarantee. When you return the coupon, you've taken the first step toward being the trim, slim, attractive person you've always wanted to be! You will receive the complete plan, including precise instructions as to how to start, what you can expect to happen, how you'll feel, when to stop, and how to maintain the ideal weight you've achieved. You'll receive a 30-day supply of Health Watcher Diet Supplement Tablets containing healthful natural ingredients and no dangerous drugs — these provide vitamins and fiber while you're losing weight on the plan. And you receive instructions for a healthful exercise and weight maintenance program you can use to help maintain weight and feel great.

After you've received all this, you may follow and use this Plan for 14 days without obligation. If then you're not pleased, tickled, proud and delighted in every way, if you wish, you may return just the unused Health Watcher tablets and get a full refund of the purchase price. You may keep all the rest of the material in any case, as a gift!

But don't delay — mail the coupon at once! The sooner you start to follow and benefit from this amazing program, the sooner you'll have the trimmer, slimmer figure you've always wanted. Mail your order today!

Dr. Castaldo has been a practicing physician for over 30 years. A graduate of the University of Maryland, he received his medical degree at Tufts University, then interned and was a resident at Stamford and Bridgeport Hospitals in Connecticut and Bellevue Hospital in New York.

Eddy Arnold:

Your Average, Simple, Private Millionaire

"I get all kinds of people who come to me with deals. Many of them think I'm stupid. They forget that I'm a businessman and that I understand the bottom line."

We were in his dressing room at the Palace Theater in New York. Eddy Arnold was casually dressed in a brown turtle neck sweater and matching brown slacks. His face was weather-beaten, his hair graying. Immediately, you could see that the key to him was his modesty, reflected in his approach to his work and his philosophy of life. FAMILY WEEKLY: Do you ever get stage fright?

ARNOLD: I get a little bugged, especially on opening night. I think without that, you're hopeless—there wouldn't be a challenge. But it doesn't take me but a few seconds to calm down. That's because I think I know my craft pretty well. I don't mean as a musician but as a showman.

FW: Well, you certainly had a long apprenticeship. . . .

ARNOLD: Yes, I've learned a lot, but do you know something? I've possibly learned more from amateurs than I have from professionals.

FW: Why?

ARNOLD: Because I can go and watch an amateur and if he does something that makes me uncomfortable, I know right away. I tuck it into my little chest of things-not-to-do. For example, does he move awkwardly, or talk too long between songs and lose the audience, or not look at the audience, or not take the audience into his confidence? You know, there are a lot of things that a performer does psychologically to an audience when he's performing. I just tuck this information away in the back of my mind and say, "That's not good," or, "That's in bad taste—I shouldn't do that."

FW: You've always kept your act very simple with no gimmicks. Do you think that's a reflection of your personality?

ARNOLD: That's right! I'm a very simple man, really. I live a very simple life. I'm like the average guy you meet on the street. On Saturday night I like to have a little shot of Scotch. I'll cook a steak, have a couple of friends in. I have a little station wagon for hauling my dogs around. I have two bull mastiffs, which is an unusual breed down in Nashville. I got one in New Jersey and the other in Maryland. Then I've got one dog that's just a mutt. We call her Isabelle.

FW: Do you think most people tend to clutter up their lives too much?

ARNOLD: It's much easier if you keep it simple. Sure, I get "down" just like everybody does. But, you know, there's always a good side to everything. I've said many times that people have it in their heads that they have to run to head shrinkers and all of that. But if they'd just open up the "Good Book" and read a little bit every day, it would help. You don't have to go off the deep end on religion, either. Just read a little bit.

FW: Let's talk about your family. . . .

ARNOLD: Well, I have a married daughter Jo Ann and a 25-year-old son,

Star Chat

Eddy Arnold:

Your Average, Simple, Private Millionaire

"I get all kinds of people who come to me with deals. Many of them think I'm stupid. They forget that I'm a businessman and that I understand the bottom line."

We were in his dressing room at the Palace Theater in New York. Eddy Arnold was casually dressed in a brown turtle neck sweater and matching brown slacks. His face was weather-beaten, his hair graying. Immediately, you could see that the key to him was his modesty, reflected in his approach to his work and his philosophy of life.

FAMILY WEEKLY: Do you ever get stage fright?

ARNOLD: I get a little bugged, especially on opening night. I think without that, you're hopeless—there wouldn't be a challenge. But it doesn't take me but a few seconds to calm down. That's because I think I know my craft pretty well. I don't mean as a musician but as a showman.

FW: Well, you certainly had a long apprenticeship. . . .

ARNOLD: Yes, I've learned a lot, but do you know something? I've possibly learned more from amateurs than I have from professionals.

FW: Why?

ARNOLD: Because I can go and watch an amateur and if he does something that makes me uncomfortable, I know right away. I tuck it into my little chest of things-not-to-do. For example, does he move awkwardly, or talk too long between songs and lose the audience, or not look at the audience, or not take the audience into his confidence? You know, there are a lot of things that a performer does psychologically to an audience when he's performing. I just tuck this information away in the back of my mind and say, "That's not good," or, "That's in bad taste—I shouldn't do that."

FW: You've always kept your act very simple with no gimmicks. Do you think that's a reflection of your personality?

ARNOLD: That's right! I'm a very simple man, really. I live a very simple life. I'm like the average guy you meet on the street. On Saturday night I like to have a little shot of Scotch. I'll cook a steak, have a couple of friends in. I have a little station wagon for hauling my dogs around. I have two bull mastiffs, which is an unusual breed down in Nashville. I got one in New Jersey and the other in Maryland. Then I've got one dog that's just a mutt. We call her Isabelle.

FW: Do you think most people tend to clutter up their lives too much?

ARNOLD: It's much easier if you keep it simple. Sure, I get "down" just like everybody does. But, you know, there's always a good side to everything. I've said many times that people have it in their heads that they have to run to head shrinkers and all of that. But if they'd just open up the "Good Book" and read a little bit every day, it would help. You don't have to go off the deep end on religion, either. Just read a little bit.

FW: Let's talk about your family. . . .
ARNOLD: Well, I have a married daughter Jo Ann and a 25-year-old son,

Dick. He's been with me all week. He had a serious automobile accident about three years ago. I couldn't tell you all he's been going through. He was hurt very badly and was in a coma for nine and a half weeks. He travels with me from time to time, and we have a lot of fun together. We have a great relationship. My daughter is older and has two children; she lives seven minutes away from our house.

We have about 90 acres outside of Nashville. FW: Do you find you need quiet time away from your performing?

ARNOLD: I do. I'm a very private person. I don't like to go to night clubs. I don't relish big parties. I like to have small groups of good friends in. We have some good conversations and giggle a little and tell a few stories. If you invite me to a party and tell me you're going to have 200 or 300 people, I will say, "Thank you very much, but I won't be there." People pull on me and drag on me all the time. That's why I avoid big Hollywood-type promotion parties. I'm no movie star or anything like that. I'm just a performer!

FW: What did your mother instill in you?

ARNOLD: Truth, honesty, simplicity. She was a very ordinary kind of rural woman—very honest, a Methodist, very simple. People like my mother don't expect too much out of life. They just work and take care of the family. I learned a lot from her. I learned from my father, too, but he was in bad health and died when I was 11, so I didn't get too much from him. . . . I used to want to get so close to my children, particularly my son. When he came home from school or college, I'd say, "Save your old man a day. Spend a day with me." Well, seldom would he ever save me a day. He was always busy with his buddies or girlfriend, and that really hurt. I never said anything to him about it, but I wanted to go fishing and hunting with him. Now, his situation has changed. Since he got hurt, we're very close. There's an unbelievable bond between us. I talk to him every day.

FW: You cherish privacy so. Do you have an unlisted telephone?

ARNOLD: Yes, and I'm careful who I give it to. A fella called me the other day who was just an acquaintance. I didn't know he had my home telephone number. I said, "Before you say anything, I'd like to know who gave you my home number." He told me a lady gave it to him, but wouldn't say who she was. I told him, "I'll call you back from my office." I refused to talk to him!

FW: When did you start learning to separate your business and personal life?

ARNOLD: I've always done that. I can't stand people sneaking around and getting other people's unlisted numbers just to call them. I had a fella come to me recently with a fly-by-night deal. You see, I get all kinds of people who come to me with deals. Many of them think I'm stupid. They forget that I'm a businessman and that I understand the bottom line.

FW: What has been your wife's role through the years. How did she help you?

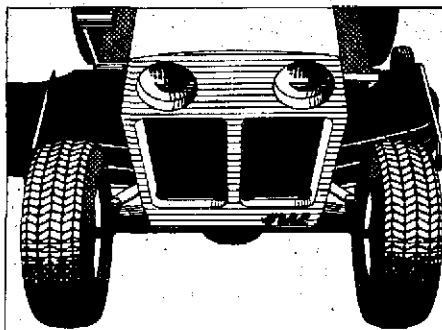

ARNOLD: She's been very supportive and understanding. Through the years, I've had to travel a great deal. Often she had to be both mother and father to our children, and she did it. We have something, you know. As you get older, companionship with your mate is so important.

FW: Johnny Cash once described his relationship with his wife, June, as "a sea anchor."

ARNOLD: I'd like to say he's right. You see, he had a problem I didn't have. June was, and is, like a sea anchor to him because she helped to bring him up out of the bottom. I've never had that problem.

FW: Is music an important part of your family life at home?

ARNOLD: I really don't do much of that. Sure, we play music, but I don't come up to my family and say, "Hey, I'm going to sing you a song." I say, "Sit down. Let's talk." There have been times, of course, at an open house when someone might sing. But it's whatever hits the mind, and it's always done spontaneously. That's the way I live—an uncluttered life.

Bolens tractors have more going for them.

More value.

We think we offer you the most tractor for your money. And the most value.

Here's why.

Every Bolens tractor is extremely well built. If anything, our tractors are over-built. You can see it in the frame, brakes, bearings and gears. They're tougher than they have to be. They're built to last longer, take more abuse and tackle bigger jobs.

That's value.

And that holds true for the eight models we make, from the hefty 19.5 hp right down to the 8 hp.

For example, the 19.5 hp tractor has a massive rear axle, differential and heavy duty front axle, all custom-designed and built to match the tractor's work power.

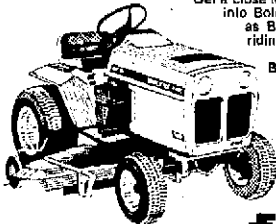

The 8 hp tractor has a unique body design, with wrap-around fenders and frame shaped out of a single piece of formed steel.

And every Bolens tractor has as much brain as brawn. We've made changing jobs easy by making the changing of attachments easy. You can switch from the center-mounted mower to dozens of attachments in just minutes.

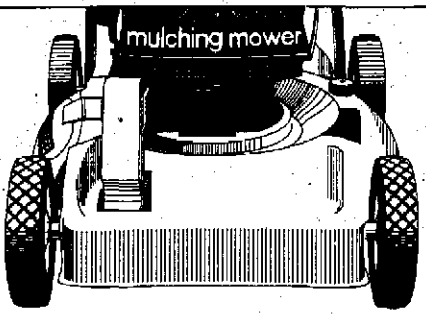

Attachments like the Bolens rear-mounted rotary tiller. Blades to move top soil and snow. Lawn sweepers to groom your lawn. Snowthrowers to blast through the worst of winter. And dozens more.

You also have your choice of one-pedal automatic or manual shift. Hydraulic or manual attachment lift control. And accessories that include everything from vinyl cabs to wheel weights.

Get a close look at the value built into Bolens tractors, as well as Bolens garden tillers, riding mowers and snowthrowers, at your Bolens dealer. For his name and address, call 800-447-4700 toll-free anytime (in Illinois call 800-322-4400). FMC Corporation, Port Washington, Wisconsin 53074.

Bolens Mulching Mowers have less going for them.

Less work.

Because this is the mower that eliminates the grass clippings as it mows.

That phenomenon is accomplished in the unique fully-enclosed mower housing. It sets up the grass with suction. Then, the exclusive multi-pitch blade cuts and recuts the clippings into a fine mulch that's blown down into your lawn.

So you end up with less.

Less work, because you never have to bag, rake or haul grass clippings.

Less expense, because you'll save on fertilizer costs. The tiny mulch particles decompose quickly, returning nitrogen to the soil.

Less thatch, because the particles decompose instead of contributing to thatch build-up.

Less awkward mowing, because there's no discharge chute. So you can trim along borders and around obstacles with both sides of the mower.

Other features include sure-footed front wheel drive, Grip 'n Go™ safety drive control, Squeeze it and you're going. Release it, you stop.

Bolens Mulching Mowers come in your choice of manual or electric start, 22" and 18" cutting widths, and in self-propelled and hand-propelled models.

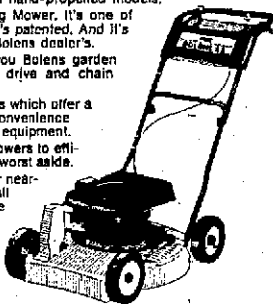

The Bolens Mulching Mower, it's one of a kind. So unique, it's patented. And it's only found at your Bolens dealer's.

He can also show you Bolens garden tillers in both gear drive and chain drive models.

Bolens riding mowers which offer a host of safety and convenience features as standard equipment.

And Bolens snowthrowers to efficiently toss winter's worst aside.

The Doctor Lets You In

Amazing New Surgery for Cataracts

The eye is like a camera—it sees through a lens. But as a person grows older, sometimes the lens becomes cloudy or opaque. If the condition progresses, it is like looking through frosted glass. This is a cataract. To regain clear sight, the cloudy lens of the eye is surgically removed. While this is not a complex operation, it does immobilize the patient and usually means a week or two in the hospital plus a month or more of rest. The patient is then fitted with thick eyeglasses which substitute for the removed lens. A recent improvement in the removal of cataracts has been developed by Dr. Charles D. Keiman, chief of ophthalmology at Lydia Hall Hospital in Freeport, N.Y. A tiny incision is made in the eye and a fine instrument is inserted, which emulsifies or liquefies the cloudy lens, then draws it out. The emulsification is accomplished by extremely high frequency vibrations that break up the lens into minute pieces. The operation takes less time than the conventional one, and the patient is out of the hospital the same day or the next day. In many cases, the procedure can be done in the doctor's office. As in most operations, complications can occur, so it is important that the doctor has extensive training in the technique.

RICHARD PETTY:

"I Depend on the Fan
From Main Street, U.S.A."

"At one time, all a successful driver had to do was get into a car and drive. But now the crowd wants more, and you've got to go along with them. You've got to be a half-way movie star and a reporter who's up on all things. You've got to be a versatile person. Your job isn't over until everyone has left the track."

The speaker is race driver Richard Petty, winner of an unprecedented four Grand National driving titles and the first NASCAR driver to reach the millionaire bracket. Petty knows whereof he speaks. When his dad, Lee, first began driving in 1949, races were held on dusty Southern tracks before a scattering of spectators. The prize money amounted to a few hundred dollars. But now the sport attracts millions of fans and races are held on modern, high-banked tracks. In addition to being the No. 1 driver, Richard Petty is No. 1 in fan popularity. Unlike several other top drivers who brush off screaming fans after the race is over, Petty, 37, is gracious and courteous to all. "I wouldn't have a career if it weren't for these fans," Petty explains. "They're the kind who work hard all week, then buy tickets to the races because they love the sport. We depend on the average guy from Main Street, U.S.A." Top racing drivers are called "daredevils," but Petty feels this is a misnomer. "I don't consider myself reckless," he says. "I drive on confidence and ability. The fact that my family is involved in getting my car ready for the race [his brother, Maurice, is his chief mechanic] and that I have such an expert crew makes me feel I can put a little extra into my driving and not worry about the wheels falling off." Richard Petty grew up in a trailer in Level Cross, N.C., and still lives in the same general area with his wife and two children. The trailer, however, has been succeeded by a luxurious real-estate spread.

The Diet Watch

Can Help You Diet

Behavioral scientists are discovering new ways to help us in dieting. In one study, behavioral researcher Dr. Richard B. Stuart found that changing the size of the plate from which you eat helps. In a group of women dieters, 70 percent felt they'd had a more satisfactory meal when they ate their lunch from saled plates rather than dinner plates, even though they knew they were eating the same-sized portions. (The portions simply look larger on smaller plates.) Behavioral scientists also suggest that, when starting a diet, the dieter can give himself an extra boost by changing his daily routine: If you eat lunch out, change your eating place so you won't fall into the trap of ordering the same old fattening dish. New surroundings, a new menu, help break your old habits. So do new interests, say the scientists. Displace your interest in food by other activities. Visit or telephone friends, find a hobby. None of these activities is fattening.

People and You

Do You Give Yourself Enough Credit?

Many people are smarter than they give themselves credit for. Psychological experiments have shown that when things turn out well, they declare, "I must be getting lucky." They can't believe they have succeeded because of their own efforts or brains. These same people are often very severe with themselves when things go wrong: "I'm so clumsy," or "I never can do anything right." They set up a situation where they can never win. If they do well, it's luck; if they do badly, it's their own fault. To make matters worse, they give other people all the credit in the world. They see the other person's success as a reflection of the person's ability and failure as a reflection of "bad" luck. If you allow yourself credit for things you do correctly, you'll have a truer, more balanced, and higher opinion of yourself. Since a confidence in your own capabilities is necessary for mental health and happiness, permitting yourself credit when you deserve it is a good attitude to cultivate.

Jobmanship

Secret Reasons Why People Get Promoted

Most people have the wrong idea about promotions. They think there has to be an "opening" that needs to be filled. The truth is, many women and men are elevated to jobs and titles that are invented for them. Maybe in your own career you can use the secret reasons why people are promoted: Some are given a lift upward to prevent them from moving elsewhere. This happens when a company is worried about qualified replacements in a tight labor market or about raiding from other businesses. It even happens within an organization. When a competing department within the company shows an interest in someone, the department head may give that person a better title to prevent a lateral transfer. How can a person be promoted when there's no real opening? Sometimes the position created is genuine, sometimes it's only token—but the new job brings a new title and higher salary. Another possibility, of course, is to make yourself essential to an executive above you in the hope that you may be pulled along as the executive moves ahead. But remember, in order to ride someone's coat-tail to promotion, you have to choose the right coat-tail.

Is the Voice of Your Parent Ruling Your Bank Account?

A young wife tells a marriage counselor that her husband will not give her a household allowance but insists on buying everything for the house himself. Her husband says, "That's the way my father handled the money, and that's the way it ought to be!" And another husband worries that his wife gives their children too much allowance. Many of us are unaware that our attitudes toward money—how we feel about spending and saving, paying in cash or buying on credit, which spouse pays the bills—reflect the ways our parents dealt with finances. We can either use this piece of information to free us to make our own decisions, or we can let our ideas about money stay where they are—blocked at childhood levels. Instead of managing money realistically, say counselors, persons who react with, "My father always..." or "My mother never..." are handling money on the basis of how they feel about their parents. They insist on either following or opposing the parental examples. When partners in a marriage come from different backgrounds, this attitude can lead to considerable financial conflict.

HOW'S THIS FOR A FISTFUL OF MOUTH WATERING GOODNESS? SAY NO MORE — JUST PASS THE CREAM!

ACTUAL SIZE

AS BIG AS PEACHES (JUST LIKE THIS)
—just 60 days from now!

Yes, now enjoy true "restaurant-type strawberries" . . . each one TWICE AS BIG, TWICE AS TASTY as regular garden strawberries.

Incredible super-bearing giant developed by Michigan Plant Scientists, climbs like a rose — smothers itself in a solid column of fruit as tall as a man — gives you a whole orchard of berries from just a 2-foot-wide section of wall, fence, or trellis — and all starting in less than 2 month's time!

- SO BIG and juicy, you eat them like hand-fruit — just like peaches or plums!
- SO HUGE and meaty, just 3 sliced-up berries fills a bowl!
- SO FAST-growing you'll see it surge into a man-high "berry factory" this very season, starting in Just 60 Days!
- SO DESPERATE to produce that for every giant berry you reach up and pick, 2 more grow forth to take its place!

AND THEY MULTIPLY — SO YOU GET TWICE AS MANY CLIMBERS EACH AND EVERY YEAR

— AND REMEMBER — because this SUPER CLIMBER is a self-multiplying perennial, for every berry-laden climbing vine you get this year, you'll get twice as many GIANT CLIMBERS next year — and every year to follow. Meaning: HUNDREDS UPON HUNDREDS OF BERRIES year-after-year-after!

GROWS SO FAST — SO BIG IT MAKES EVERY OTHER CLIMBER LOOK LIKE A "JOKE"

Here it is! The garden sensation of 1976! The Champ himself, KING OF ALL BERRIES . . . the ALL-TIME biggest, easiest-to-train, climbing strawberry you or your neighbors have ever seen in your lives. Yes sweet, juicy 'big-as-peaches' CLIMBERS that actually rush skyward in cluster-packed pillars of fruit . . . berries by the hundreds from top to bottom . . . in just a matter of weeks!

THINK OF IT! YOU PLANT THIS SPRING — PICK BERRIES BY THE BUSHEL STARTING IN JUST 55 TO 60 DAYS!

And remember — because they're winter-hardy, (even in Northern Canada) — because they're disease and virus resistant — they're one of the sturdiest, easy-to-grow strawberries imaginable. Just drop them in the ground next to any fence, trellis, wall or even a pole . . . and see them march themselves right to the top in an incredible parade of fruit, flowers, and foliage. There's just nothing else as spectacular in all of nature.

SORRY, ALL ORDERS FILLED ON A FIRST-COME, FIRST-SERVED BASIS — AND SINCE THERE WILL NOT BE ANOTHER CROP UNTIL 1977 — ACT NOW!

Here's the best news of all — the amazingly low price of these wondrous "KING SUGAR" Climbing Strawberries. Not the $1.00 per plant you might expect for such a remarkable super-bearing climber . . . but less than 50¢ apiece for thick-rooted firmly established plants . . . and each one all set to climb high as a man and bear fruit by the basketful starting in just 60 days.

But supplies of this "KING-OF-ALL-BERRIES" are going fast . . . and of course, with performance like this, demand is overwhelming. Since we may not be able to repeat this offer until 1977, to avoid disappointment, act now!

White House Press Aide

Margita White:

The Truth Behind Her "Lucky" Success

"It was my earliest ambition to be a U.S. Senator. It is still my ambition, but the longer I work, the farther away it seems. But one never knows."

By Frances Spatz Leighton
FAMILY WEEKLY Contributing Editor

Many people know that each morning a 20-page condensation of the news is ready for the eyes of the President. What they don't know is that the person in charge of that report is a 38-year-old woman named Margita White. She does not write the report personally—four persons on her staff of 14 do that—but as director of the White House Office of Communications, Margita is responsible for the news summary.

Many also know that every morning there are two top staff meetings at the White House. But what they don't know is that there is one woman present at each of these meetings—and Margita is that woman. The first one, at 7:30, is a meeting that Presidential Press Secretary Ron Nessen holds to review the hot news of the day and the questions the press will be apt to ask. She is there. Then she hurries to the 8:00 senior staff meeting of the President's top aides. She is the only woman there.

Margita began the climb to her lofty $36,000-a-year position by working for Herb Klein, Nixon's campaign press secretary and for a time Press Secretary at the White House, and Presidential aide James Keogh. She was assistant director of the U.S. Information Agency before going to work for Ford.

Klein gave Margita her first job in 1959 when she was a college girl looking for a summer job and Nixon was Vice President. It was a lucky accident that she wandered in at the moment they needed someone to fill in for girl staffers going on vacation.

It was also a lucky accident—in fact, a lucky error—which that same day in 1959 brought her Mr. White. She had applied first for a job at what she thought was the office of the Congressman representing the district of her college, Rutgers. She had the wrong office, but she met the right man, Stewart C. White, a law student and summer intern. White offered to let her know if he heard of anything and took her address. That night when she got home, White was on her doorstep. They later married, and Stewart is now a lawyer with the Washington firm of Hamel, Park, McCabe and Saunders.

Margita and Stewart have two children—Suzanne, 9, and Stewart Jr., 4. "I'll show you how lucky I am," she says. "Stewart says the best Christmas present I ever got was a cookbook, because he's the one who uses it. But he doesn't have to unless he wants to, of course." At their lovely McLean, Va., home, they have a live-in housekeeper who has a 9-year-old child of her own. It's a nice arrangement.

This year Margita expects to be exceptionally busy, trying to get Ford elected. "I'm convinced President Ford will be elected," she says, "because he really has proved to be a strong and effective leader. I think he has come up with common-sense solutions to our economic problems, and the solutions are working. Besides, I think the American people trust and admire him as an individual."

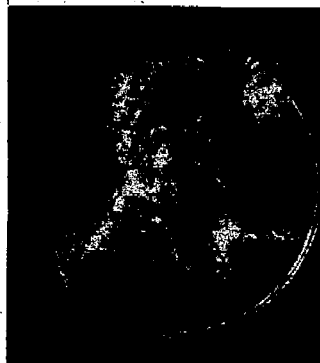

Does Margita have political ambitions of her own? "Eventually, yes," she confesses with a laugh. "It was my earliest ambition to be a U.S. Senator. It is still my ambition, but the longer I work, the farther away it seems. But one never knows."

Margita has advice for college youngsters who would emulate her. "Get out there and try, don't be afraid to apply, to be turned down, to ask questions. But if you get your chance, just be sure you have some basic knowledge to help your luck along."

THE RICE DIET

IT'S A HEALING DIET AS WELL AS A REDUCING DIET

The famous Rice Diet wasn't even designed for taking off fat. It was created as a healing diet. And heal it does. IT CONTAINS NO CHOLESTEROL

Medical Research has acclaimed a no-fat diet as being of paramount aid in the treatment of certain heart and kidney conditions. Scientists also advocate this program as the basis of a general reducing diet.

The health value of this diet is founded upon the fact that it contains no cholesterol—which many doctors believe dangerous to the heart, kidneys, and blood circulation.

THE DIET REVERSES MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY HEART DISORDERS

Twenty-five years ago our medical establishment was extremely skeptical of the startling discovery that the Rice Diet reverses much of the damage done by blood vessel, eye, heart, and kidney disorders. Without any medication other than a prolonged diet largely composed of unsalted rice, some enlarged hearts grew smaller, blood pressures and blood sugar dropped.

CLAIMS FOR THE RICE DIET VERIFIED BY TEAMS OF DOCTORS

Teams of doctors from leading institutions around the world investigated the diet. They thought that they would scoff at the claims, but they applauded instead. "The question now," concluded a report in one eminent medical journal, "is not 'Does the diet work?' The question is 'How does it work?'"

FAMOUS PEOPLE HAVE ENDORSED THE RESULTS OF RICE DIETING

"I truly would have died if I hadn't gone" on a program of rice dieting, says the wife of a former state governor. "I was seriously ill and weighed 230 pounds." She dropped 80 pounds in 19 weeks, and her blood sugar plummeted as well. (Since the diet is largely carbohydrate, this is one of the mysteries of it.)

A famous singer and movie actor, on the other hand, got hooked on the taste of the diet and lost 80 pounds, too. He still follows the diet every day. Before the Rice Diet, he had been on a high-protein diet for ten years or so: "I used to have to put down a pound of steak before a recording," he says. "Now, I can eat a little rice and sing like a bird."

The complete program brings you essential information and dozens of delicious menus and easy recipes for breakfast, lunch, and dinner.

Margita White:

The Truth Behind Her "Lucky" Success

"It was my earliest ambition to be a U.S. Senator. It is still my ambition, but the longer I work, the farther away it seems. But one never knows."

By Frances Spatz Leighton
FAMILY WEEKLY Contributing Editor

Many people know that each morning a 20-page condensation of the news is ready for the eyes of the President. What they don't know is that the person in charge of that report is a 38-year-old woman named Margita White. She does not write the report personally—four persons on her staff of 14 do that—but as director of the White House Office of Communications, Margita is responsible for the news summary.

Many also know that every morning there are two top staff meetings at the White House. But what they don't know is that there is one woman present at each of these meetings—and Margita is that woman. The first one, at 7:30, is a meeting that Presidential Press Secretary Ron Nessen holds to review the hot news of the day and the questions the press will be apt to ask. She is there. Then she hurries to the 8:00 senior staff meeting of the President's top aides. She is the only woman there.

Margita began the climb to her lofty $36,000-a-year position by working for Herb Klein, Nixon's campaign press secretary and for a time Press Secretary at the White House, and Presidential aide James Keogh. She was assistant director of the U.S. Information Agency before going to work for Ford.

Klein gave Margita her first job in 1959 when she was a college girl looking for a summer job and Nixon was Vice President. It was a lucky accident that she wandered in at the moment they needed someone to fill in for girl staffers going on vacation.

It was also a lucky accident—in fact, a lucky error—which that same day in 1959 brought her Mr. White. She had applied first for a job at what she thought was the office of the Congressman representing the district of her college, Rutgers. She had the wrong office, but she met the right man, Stewart C. White, a law student and summer intern. White offered to let her know if he heard of anything and took her address. That night when she got home, White was on her doorstep. They later married, and Stewart is now a lawyer with the Washington firm of Hamel, Park, McCabe and Saunders.

Margita and Stewart have two children—Suzanne, 9, and Stewart Jr., 4. "I'll show you how lucky I am," she says. "Stewart says the best Christmas present I ever got was a cookbook, because he's the one who uses it. But he doesn't have to unless he wants to, of course." At their lovely McLean, Va., home, they have a live-in housekeeper who has a 9-year-old child of her own. It's a nice arrangement.

This year Margita expects to be exceptionally busy, trying to get Ford elected. "I'm convinced President Ford will be elected," she says, "because he really has proved to be a strong and effective leader. I think he has come up with common-sense solutions to our economic problems, and the solutions are working. Besides, I think the American people trust and admire him as an individual."

Does Margita have political ambitions of her own? "Eventually, yes," she confesses with a laugh. "It was my earliest ambition to be a U.S. Senator. It is still my ambition, but the longer I work, the farther away it seems. But one never knows."

Margita has advice for college youngsters who would emulate her. "Get out there and try, don't be afraid to apply, to be turned down, to ask questions. But if you get your chance, just be sure you have some basic knowledge to help your luck along."

Is the Date of a Person's Death "Programmed"?

By Justin M. Fishbein

A mother of two young girls reaches the age of 40. Though she had seemed to be in good health, she suddenly develops an asthma-like illness. Doctors are unable to identify its cause, and the patient's condition declines rapidly. When the end comes, relatives observe that the woman's mother also died of an almost identical ailment. Her age at the time of death: 40. A coincidence?

A 56-year-old woman suffers a severe heart attack, but she recovers. At 65, however, she becomes so worried about dying that she sees a psychiatrist. She tells him that both her brother and her mother were 65 when they died. Perhaps 65 is her magic number, too, she suggests. No, she recalls tearfully: her father, whom she loved very much, died when he was 56—of a heart attack. She gasps as she realizes the significance. Both she and her father had heart attacks when they were 56. "Why, it sounds like astrology," she says.

Actually, neither woman's illness was due to "coincidence" or "astrology." In reality, each is an example of how the body sometimes responds to an illness of the mind that is triggered by the anniversary of a personal loss or disappointment. This "anniversary reaction" often underlies various illnesses, explains psychoanalyst George H. Pollock of Chicago, so unless a physician is aware of the underlying condition, it may go undetected and treatment could be less effective. People have had ulcerative colitis, heart attacks, severe rheumatoid arthritis, glaucoma, migraine headaches, and urticaria and other skin disorders, all attributed to anniversary reactions, Dr. Pollock reports.

His research at the Institute of Psychoanalysis, where he is director, and in the department of psychiatry of Northwestern University also reveals that the relationships underlying the reaction are as varied as the ailments. Sometimes, for instance, a child may feel responsible in some way for the death of a brother or sister and may suffer an anniversary reaction, ultimately committing suicide on a critical anniversary.

Still another example of an anniversary reaction is when an adult expects to die at the same age—and in the same way—as one of his parents did. The cases of the first two women are typical, and there are others. The author Thomas Mann had expected to die at

H. Amstrong Roberts

A woman's mother dies at age 40. When the woman reaches 40, she too suddenly becomes ill and dies. A coincidence—or something deeper?

80—his mother's age at death—and he did. Again, Nikolai Gogol's father became fatally ill at 43. Gogol, a Russian writer, committed suicide at 43.

It may seem that all anniversary reactions are triggered by an age, however, a date can also be a trigger. Dr. Pollock cites the Dutch artist, Vincent Van Gogh. He had a brother with the same name, born on the 29th, exactly one year before the second Vincent was born. By then, the first Vincent was dead. At the age of 37, the second Vincent Van Gogh, hopelessly insane, committed suicide. The date: the 29th of the month.

Why do anniversary reactions occur? Dr. Pollock believes that they are due to incomplete or abnormal mourning over a personal loss or severe disappointment. Instead of venting feelings over the loss, a person may deny it or block it from memory. But only the awareness vanishes deep into the unconscious recesses of the memory. An anniversary such as an age, a date or a time triggers the body's reactions to these deep and hidden feelings.

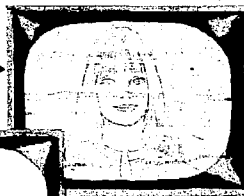

Of course, not everybody who mourns has an anniversary reaction. "All human cultures have evolved ways and means of dealing with death," the psychoanalyst asserts. Therefore, if you have a personal loss, be yourself, he suggests. Express your feelings. And if you think you don't have any feelings, ask yourself why. The question may help you avoid the possibly serious consequences of an anniversary reaction.

HOW THE CLUB OPERATES

Simply mail the application, together with check or money order for $1.86 as payment for your first 11 selections.

Every four weeks (13 times a year) you'll receive the Club's music magazine, which describes the Selection of the Month for each musical interest... plus hundreds of afterthoughts from every field of music. In addition, up to six times a year you may receive offers of Special Selections, usually at a discount off regular Club prices.

If you wish to receive the Selection of the Month or the Special Selection, you need do nothing... it will be shipped automatically. If you prefer an alternate selection, or none at all, simply fill in the response card always provided and mail it by the date specified.

You will always have at least 10 days in which to make your decision. If you ever receive any Selection without having had at least 10 days in which to decide, you may return it at our expense, for full credit.

Your own charge account will be opened... the selections you order will be mailed and billed at regular Club prices, which currently are: 8-track tapes and cassettes, $6.98 or $7.98; reel tapes, $7.98; records, $5.98 or $6.98... plus shipping and handling. (Multiple unit sets and Double Selections may be somewhat higher.)

After completing your enrollment agreement (by buying 8 selections within 3 years), you may cancel membership at any time. If you decide to continue, you'll be eligible for our generous money-saving bonus plan.

NOTE: all applications are subject to review and Columbia House reserves the right to reject any application.

People Quiz

How You Can Be A Bigger "Social Asset"

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. There is no better social asset than establishing a reputation as a brilliant conversationalist—and nothing is easier if you handle it right.
2. A person can't expect to be popular with others if he doesn't like himself.
3. You should refuse to listen to gossip.
4. When an overage dowager asks you coyly, "Guess how old I am?"—never do it.
5. It's usually impossible to find out what other people really think of you.

ANSWERS

1. True. Stanford University studies show that you don't need to be a brilliant conversationalist to gain a reputation for being one. You will seem to be a good conversationalist to most people if, no matter how dull the other's remarks, you contrive to nod your head agreeably now and then, interjecting an occasional "So?" "H-mmm" or "Indeed!" at appropriate intervals. Since what most people are looking for is a good listener—and are overjoyed when they find someone who will shut up and let them talk—virtually all you have to do is hold still and go through the motions of acting interested while they bend your ear.
2. True. A team of University of Oregon investigators conducted psychological studies which revealed that a person's opinion of himself—and his own worth—markedly affects the way others feel about him. Some people are so low in self-esteem that they practically hate themselves. If you get acquainted with them, you may find that you can't blame them! For more often than not, a person's view of himself is pretty well justified.
3. False. You'll miss out on a lot of fascinating happenings if you do. Besides, there is no surer way to affront—and often completely alienate—an acquaintance than to turn a deaf ear to the chatty, informal talk concerning the various activities of others. Vicious gossip, of course, is to be deplored. But studies have shown that gossip which is not vindictive can serve as a safety valve for the emotions and provide release for psychic tensions. "As an analyst," says one leading specialist, "I have learned to listen to gossip for the simple reason that it often contains a great deal of truth. Much that people will not say directly, they say through the channels of gossip."

4. True. The fugitives from senility who put you on the spot with a question like this usually suffer the delusion that they look 20 years younger than they are. So if you "guess" only 10 under, you've alienated her. Instead of committing yourself, parry the question with something like, "I just couldn't guess because you're the type who simply doesn't show her age." Then when she breaks down and tells you she's 71, all you have to do is register amazement.

5. False. According to psychological studies, one of the most effective ways to determine how various people honestly feel about you is to find out what they say about you when you're not present. This is not at all difficult if you employ the following technique: Make a pact with someone you can count on who shares your interest in finding out what the various others really think and say about him. Then take turns being the one who leaves before anyone else at various gatherings and group affairs. It's axiomatic that the person who leaves early is most likely to become the subject of extremely candid comments. Subsequently, you and your associate have merely to compare notes about who said what about each other. The only drawback to this game of social sleuthing is that although you will find out who your friends are, you may also find out other things that will leave your ego feeling like a flat tire.

TRUMAN CAPOTE
Innocence is better

Making his movie acting debut at 51 in "Murder by Death," author Truman Capote appraised his acting skills: "What Dom Perignon is to champagne, I am to acting—$26.95 a bottle. I don't mean to imply that I'm going to switch careers, though. One swallow does not a summer make, as they say down South. I have written a couple of screenplays over the years, and I wanted to see what was on the other side of the fence, and it is the other side of the fence. But actors and authors do have a special quality in common if they're good at their craft. Both are able to retain a certain childlike quality that makes them seem to be less than adult and not particularly intelligent. It's very difficult to retain that mystical, charming quality if you are an intelligent being because over the years you get increasingly self-critical and lose touch with that marvelous innocence. I can do any kind of writing. But I'm only good for four hours of work a day now. For two hours I pretend. I fool around. If I wasn't directed by some sort of compulsion to do so, I wouldn't write any more." Capote has finished his memoirs and a nonfiction work or prison reform which will be published this year.

SHARPSHOOTER DAPHNE HUDSON
The dogs of war?

Sixty-year-old Daphne Hudson has been everything from a wartime counter-spy in France and England to a dog breeder, and now she's engaged in open warfare it seems. When a Cessna pilot, in the process of spraying crops, flew over her land recently, she grabbed her hunting rifle and fired six shots. She claims that she wasn't aiming at the plane, but the pilot found six pellet marks on the plane's fuselage. Daphne said: "I was furious when I saw this plane flying at high speed and very low. That pilot frightened my prize wolf-hounds. Anyway, I fired into a tree, not at the plane, to release my fury." When the case came to trial, the judge found Daphne guilty, but she was allowed to keep her firearm.

Are we a baseball nation or a football nation? "Baseball is a 19th-century pastoral form, which involves country boys running around on grass and having a good time for themselves. The inexorable march of the clock is not critical in baseball because time is not precious. The players are not specialists as in football. Baseball represents America before the frontier ended. It developed when we thought nature was a limitless reservoir and we would always live in abundance. Today, football approximates the cultural dynamics of contemporary American society more closely than baseball does. Football reflects a different world view—everything has to be fought for, resources are precious, hostile people (guards, monster men) are everywhere, and in such a world you have to grab what you can." From "The TV-Guided American," by Arthur Asa Berger (Walker, $8.95).

JAMES DALY
Back from death

James Daly, "Medical Center's" Dr. Lochner, talks about his recent brush with death: "More than a year ago, I contracted hepatitis. It brought me as close to death's door as you can get without turning the knob. The funny thing is you never quite admit you're going to die, only that you might. But at that time, there's little comfort in counting the odds. The thing I remember most is regretting all the time I had wasted in life." Now, restored to good health, Daly doesn't waste a minute. "I ride every morning, play tennis, work harder and manage to see more of the people whom I now realize are important to me. It's too bad that my story doesn't hold a lesson for everyone, but no one can really be affected by someone else's experience. It's too bad; it could be so easy to learn."

IN DEFENSE OF PLUMBERS

Our sink's stopped up, and with some urgency we call a plumber. "An emergency, Come right away!" We are quite frantic. It shows in every word and antic. The plumber comes, he never fails, While we are chewing fingernails, And soon, with tools and skill and knowing, He's got the stopped-up sink to flowing. I wish I could get help as quickly When I am feeling sad and sickly With stopped-up nose or am complaining. Of stopped-up sinuses not draining. Unlike a doctor, when my spouse calls, A plumber will, and must, make house calls.

Every Rose Guaranteed To Bloom This Season

A strong, dependable grower, the rose is perfectly at home in any garden. These varieties have been selected by our experts as being suitable for most parts of the U.S.A. In severely cold climates, check for hardiness. Blooms illustrated are reasonably accurate but may vary because nature often turns out shapes and color found nowhere else.

The champion varieties offered here are already 2 years old, branched with 2 or more canes, strong, vigorous and healthy. Each is tagged with name of variety and well packed for arrival in good condition. Easy planting instructions included, too. If not satisfied on arrival, you may return within 15 days for full refund, including any postage you sent. Any rose that doesn't grow and develop, we will replace it free (3 year limit).
